11 TEAMS IN INTERMEDIATE BASKETBALL LEAGUE THIS YEAR

GRAND OPENING
NOW ARRANGED FOR WEDNESDAY

Prospects Are Bright
For Game This Coming Season

TWO new teams, St. Vincent's High School and Y. M. H. A., were added to the Intermediate Basketball League at a meeting of the executive of the City Basketball League last evening, with the president, Ronald Shaw, in the chair. This brings the total for the intermediates up to 11 this year, and it was reported at last night's meeting that there was a possibility of a fourth senior team coming in to balance things. The new teams, St. Vincent's and Y. M. H. A., were already entered, namely, Trojans, Nationals and Y. M. C. I. The intermediates team now in the league are as follows:

St. Vincent's High School.
Y. M. C. I.
East End I. L.
High School.
Central Baptist.
St. Peter's.
Victoria street Baptist.
Y. M. C. I.
St. Vincent's High.
Y. M. H. A.

The opening of the league was decided, would take place on Wednesday night of this week at 7.30 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. with three games carded, as follows:

St. Peter's vs. Victorias.
Y. M. C. I. vs. Central Baptist.
Nationals vs. Y. M. C. I. senior.

Walter Goulet will referee the two intermediate games, while the referee for the senior game will be selected shortly. The Wednesday night games will be played on the Y. M. C. A. floor, while the Saturday night games are carded for the Y. M. C. I. gym.

The matter of a schedule was brought up at the meeting, and the drawing of the teams was left to a committee composed of the president and Messrs. Goulet and Kirk. Every team in the league was represented at last night's meeting and considerable enthusiasm was manifested in the discussion for the coming season. The fact that 11 intermediate teams are all level up waiting for the opening game indicates that the game has got back to a sound basis and that it will be only a question of a few years before basketball will flourish as it has done in the past. There is a strong possibility that the old Alerts, led by "Ned" Ketchum, may help out things by getting a team together for the senior section, and if this is done, the senior game will receive a big boost. While no definite plans have been made for the opening, it is probable some prominent citizen will be present to toss the first ball.

TWO IMPORTANT MEETINGS TONIGHT

Further Arrangements For Big World's Meet Considered at Annual

Two important skating meetings will be held in the Board of Trade rooms tonight, the New Brunswick Amateur Skating Association will meet at 7.30 o'clock sharp, and this will be followed by the Saint John Amateur Skating Association and every member of the two bodies are requested to be present. It is an important business to be transacted.

After reports are read and officers elected, the Saint John Association will then discuss the coming world's amateur skating meet from every angle and will hear a report on the progress made towards this end including the bringing of a Class Thumberg, of Finland, who is the present champion.

The holding of such an important skating meet in the city is well worthy of the attention of every citizen, and every lover of true sport should make it a point to be present at the meeting tonight.

It is the intention that Thumberg will arrive in Saint John the latter part of December and will train here for the big event which will be staged early in January. Some of the greatest skating meets in North America have been successfully handled here, and as the world's event will be the most important the committee in charge needs the earnest co-operation of every citizen to put it over with success.

MINISTER MAKES FOOTBALL TEAM

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 16.—In Charles J. Urban, tackle on the Pennsylvania freshman football eleven, which has just finished an undefeated season, the Red and Blue gridiron squad has a real minister. This was discovered yesterday when the husky 6 foot 2 giant appeared in the hazy, yearling coach, to let him report late for practice, as it was necessary for him to officiate at the burial of one of his parishioners.

It appears that Urban, nicknamed "Charley My Boy" by his teammates, has a church under his care.

Outside of the university he is known as Rev. Urban, pastor of the Grace Anglican church, and has all the duties of any other preacher to attend to besides going to classes and playing football.

According to the freshman coaches he has a great future. Coupled with a genuine desire to play the game, even though a little ignorant of the fundamentals, he is big and learning fast. It is even said he possesses greater possibilities than Thurman, Penn's All-American tackle of 1922.

Urban originally hailed from Mickleton, N. J., but went to Schuylkill Seminary at Reading and had a Methodist church in that town for about 10 years.

U. N. B.'s Decision on Halifax Wanderers' Defi Expected Soon

Along The Sport Trail

By JOHN A. DUNLOP.

NOT CONTENT with incurring the wrath of many baseball fans quite recently by his uncalculated remarks respecting the sending of Walter Johnson to the mound in the final game of the recent rainy series, Mr. Ban Johnson now proceeds to step on the financial corns of the magnates—or "maggots" as the boys sometimes playfully refer to them. Mr. B. B. J. steps up to the limelight, makes his little bow and says: "I'm against installing circus seats for world series' play. It's not fair to the teams and fans. I will recommend that the playing field be left as it was during the season." In this statement, you have the makings of a little war but what's a few more columns of publicity among friends. Can you picture the magnates falling over themselves and the chairs in their desire to vote "aye" on this question when it means giving up a slice of the dear old gate receipts? If you can, brother, you'd better go home earlier at night. If there is one thing a magnate detests it is the surplus at the box office and now that Byron Bancroft has shown the way by which it can be kept down to a few hundred thousand, they will no doubt hail him as an inspired leader. All this would make better copy for the comic supplements than a sport comment.

MR. "RED" HERRING beat Sid Barabian the other night in Detroit. The office boy suggests it would not be a hard job weighing this guy in. The office humorist suggests here was one berring that a Barabian did not drag over the trail. We can only add that doubtless, he is a Finn.

IN THE matter of developing hockey talent for a city of its size, Saint John is lamentably behind the times. We can get a fairly good senior team together but right at that point we stop. The City League is a failure and we are no better off here with respect to the future than we were when hockey was started here about three years ago. How long is this to continue? This grand old winter game is fast developing into the leading sport in Canada and the United States if it is not that already and we are to lag behind? Our juniors hardly know the essentials of the game and it's a safe bet the veterans on the senior team can't last forever. In every other branch of sport, this city is strongly-organized among the juniors—in baseball, track and field, basketball, speed-skating and football. Must a real Canadian game lag behind? In our humble opinion, we shall remain in this blind alley until we start developing our juniors. It takes a long time—many years—but we feel it is worth it in the rich dividends such a sport provides. What we need is a City Junior League with a coach—a paid one, if necessary—and we should try to start it this winter. Ice surface is one problem but we also feel sure that Fred Finley of the Arena management will be willing to help out. "Bert" Stirling, who has made quite a success in organizing the schools and junior basketballers, has some idea along this line in his mind but one man cannot do the entire job.

ALFRED GOULET will receive $10,000 for competing in the six-day bicycle race, says a news item. There are lots of us who would cycle a whole month for half this sum.

IT WILL be many, many moons before Paul Fraser forgets the year 1925. It would surprise us greatly if he ever did get along with his grandchildren and great-grandchildren. In his final year at the University of New Brunswick, he led the football team to dizzy heights seldom reached by a college team. In the Maritime Provinces. A scant fourteen points has been scored against his team this year while he and his mates have been rolling up a count of over the 135 mark. The worst game they played was an 8-all affair with Dal and then Dal was lucky because two drives at the goal from Fraser's boot carried off the posts on the wrong side. This is the kind of glory the schoolboys dream about on how to wind up a college career but it so seldom happens that it is worthy of special note. 1925 will be remembered by Fraser also for his prowess at stealing bases, he having won the magnificent Chesley Cup for proficiency in this art this summer. He is a fine type of young Canadian manhood and we only hope he will play for Saint John next year.

GAZE THE LAUDS PLAY OF TEAM FROM PROVINCE

Comments on Montreal Coach's Statement re Changes in Game

THE CHALLENGE of Halifax Wanderers, winners of the Halifax City League, to U. N. B. for the MacTier Cup is under consideration by the Fredericton collegians and it is possible that the game may be staged on Saturday at the capital. The team members have spent a great deal of time away from classes already now and it will take a lot of extra work to catch up. For this reason, there is a disposition to call a halt to the season now and hang up the football tops for the year. U. N. B. under no circumstances, it is believed, would play the Wanderers on any other ground than their own, arguing that they themselves were forced to go all the way to Montreal for the cup. A decision on the matter is expected in the course of a few days.

MONTEAL, Nov. 17.—The Montreal Gazette this morning, in its sporting section, devotes an entire column of comment, laudatory of the University of New Brunswick football players, and declares that the visit of the Fredericton collegians will give a big flip to the English code in Montreal, and Upper Canada generally.

The Gazette's sporting editor draws attention to the present controversy surrounding the desire for another change in rules, in the present rugby game played in Upper Canada, and characterizes it as "a little bit of English rugby, American football, and soccer, and has little that is distinctive to itself." The comment is based on a statement regarding the necessity for a change in the rules by Coach Nicholson, of the M. A. A. Club, and says in part:

"Nicholson's statement regarding his belief in the necessity for a change in the Canadian game, either towards the English code as practiced in the United States, or the adoption of the English style of rugby, comes as an interesting point many who witnessed the MacTier cup game at the McGill campus Saturday afternoon, when the University of New Brunswick defeated the Fredericton collegians, 10-0, in the English code. The collegians from Fredericton, gave a display of the English game, in the first half of the contest, which showed the English type of rugby at its best. The brilliant passing bouts of the three quarters of the Maritime team, their clockwork precision in snapping the ball from one to another, the individual brilliance of the players, and the initiative they showed, both in their lone efforts, and team work, gave the 2,000 spectators more open rugby in the first 20 minutes, than they have witnessed in many games, under the Canadian code. There was not the same hand to hand type of football which makes Canadian rugby a stirring type of sport, but the plan of the scrums opening up the game by getting the ball to the backfield players, provided a dashing type of football which the crowd could appreciate. Scrums, with the gamble they provide as to which side gets the ball, are not always popular to followers of Canadian rugby, but Saturday's contest brought to light play by forwards of both sides, which was a perfect exhibition of pack work and which tended to correct many who previously had seen ill-treated scrums floundering about the field.

"Undoubtedly English rugby here and benefit from the visit of the U. N. B. team last Saturday. With McGill, University of Toronto, and city teams in Montreal and Toronto in competition, the nucleus for smart scrums, is there, and a serious effort by the different teams to field well coached fifteens, will go a long way to add an impetus to the mission work already done on behalf of English rugby in Eastern Canada.

"Whether the English game will outdo Canadian rugby as at present played, is a question, but certainly this season has shown that it is increasing rapidly in popularity."

NORTH END'S OFFER.

SAINT JOHN, N. B., Nov. 16, 1925.

To the Sporting Editor, The Evening Times-Star:

Sir,—Permit me through your columns, on the eve of the meeting of the New Brunswick Amateur Skating Association, to call the attention of those interested in the coming World's Skating Meet, and to offer to them the North End Improvement League Grounds, which I understand will give them the required space.

The grounds, situated as they are, would be very handy from the spectators' point of view, being within three minutes' walk of the city lines, and being handy for the people of the West Side and other points.

The committee handling the other meets have had the expense of having to erect bleachers each time.

Now the object of this letter is to offer the use of the North End Grounds to the committee handling the coming

How Kremer Fooled 'Em

ONE of the stars of the recent world series was Ray Kremer, stellar hurler of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Intensely interested in the outcome of the games was little Betty Kremer, Ray's daughter, who, though not in attendance kept close tab on the doings from her parents' home in Oakland, Calif. Kremer is here shown with Betty illustrating how he gripped the ball in throwing baffling curves to the Senatorial batters. And Betty seems to understand all about it, too.

GAME LAWS AUTHOR IS DEAD AT SEVENTY

G. O. Shields Lover of Animals—Was in Sherman's March to Sea

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—G. O. Shields of the Bronx, former editor and publisher of Recreation Magazine, a founder and president for 25 years of the League of American Sportsmen, is dead at the age of 70. He had devoted a large part of his life and fortune to the cause of game protection, working with Dr. William T. Hornaday, Ernest Thompson Seton and T. Gilbert Pearson, President of the Audubon Society.

Nearly every state in the union has statutes for game protection that are partly due to the efforts of Mr. Shields. It was he who first undertook to combat the use of automatic guns. New Jersey's prohibition of such guns in hunting was the result of talks he had with the then Governor Woodrow Wilson.

Mr. Shields was born in Batavia, Ohio, and fought in the Civil War, taking part in Sherman's march to the sea.

The Frederick Gleason says that Rev. G. F. Bolster has returned from Saint John to the Hartland Baptist church, of which he was formerly pastor, and has taken over the post as pastor to the congregation. Rev. Mr. Bolster is a native of Devon. The subject of his initial address on his return as pastor of the Hartland Baptist congregation on Sunday was "Every Man in His Place."

Pacific Coast Team Scored Three Goals in Final Period

MONTEAL, Nov. 16.—Victoria Cougars, Stanley cup holders and Dominion pro-champions, unloaded a dazzling offensive against the Montreal Maroons in the third and final period of their exhibition game here tonight and, while 5,000 spectators looked on aghast at the scintillating attack, ran up a 3 to 1 victory over the locals.

After battling through two periods to a scoreless draw, the Westerners unleashed their offensive early in the final session, which was being contested under western rules. Two relays of forwards were kept in action for short shifts by Lester Patrick, the Cougars' hockey leader, and the speed and organized combinations play of his championship scoring division stood the local defence on its head. Three goals were counted in quick order by Earl Loughlin and Halderson, and all came after combination attacks in which the visitors' famous cross-cross passing bouts were featured. Benedict was not given a chance in the Montreal net to halt the deluge as the green-shirted champions bored in to the goal mouth and let fly with the puck. Montreal fought back gamely and managed to score equally as smart a goal as any counted by Victoria, Sammy Rathchells beating Holmes in the Victoria net with a sniped drive on a pass out from behind the net by Nelson Stewart, Montreal's centre player recruited from the Cleveland amateur team.

Motor-Paced Race in Madison Garden

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—A motor-paced race will be one of the attractions in the sprint cycling carnival to be held in the New Madison Square Garden on Nov. 28, as a preliminary to the opening of the six-day bicycle race on midnight on Nov. 29. Announcement was made yesterday by John M. Chapman, race manager, that George Chapman, American motor-paced champion, and Vincent Madonna, Italian star, have been signed for the motor-paced match. The first to be held indoors.

The capacity of the new Garden will be just twice as large as that of the old Garden. Where 7,000 seats were available in the old arena for cycling races, the new Garden will have a seating capacity of 14,000. However, standees in the old Garden often brought the attendance to 12,000.

A conference between Alf Goulet and Chapman was held yesterday, but without result so far as Goulet's entry for the six-day race is concerned. The Newark veteran is said to have demanded a price never before paid a six-day rider.
