seum in Tunis has just been enriched by a collection of antique marbles rescued from the deep. Sponge fishers operating between Sfax and Susa about two and a half miles off shore, returned to port with the news that their divers had found on the bottom of the sea a strange ship, through the burst sides of which they caught sight of men of giant stature reclining inside the vessel. The French authorities immediately took

It turned out to be an old Grecian sailing ship, 130 feet long by 30 wide, laden with large Corinthian and Doric marble columns and statuary, evidently intended for a temple or a palace. Among the statues are an exceedingly fine Eros, eight feet high, a Bacchus, a Hermes and a number of fauns.

BIG GATHERING TODAY

Best Man and Bridesmaid of Fifty Years Ago to be on Hand

En-Postmaster and Mrs. T. B. Hanington will today celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary at their summer home, Ketepec, on the C. P. R.
Just fifty years ago today in the quaint little Episcopal church at Gagetown Miss Frances Phoebe Augusta.
Tilley was united in marriage to her cousin, Thomas Benjamin Hanington, son of the Honorable Daniel Hanington, of Shedlac. Rev. Thomas Neales son of the Honorable Daniel Hanington, of Shediac. Rev. Thomas Neales performed the ceremony.

An interesting feature of the anniversary is the fact that Edwin J. Everitt, of C. & E. Everitt, and Miss Georgiana Hanington, sister of the groom—who acted as best man and bridesmaid respectively at the wedding—will both be present at today's gathering.

Hou, Thomas Tilley was a general storekeeper at Gagetown, of Loyalist stock and considered by the community in which he lived as a man of much ability and strength of characwhen white settlements were few and far between and St. John was little more than an encampment. In 1779 Wm. Hanington was given a royal, warrant by the King of England for a large tract of land supposedly near Halifax, but finally located, with the help of Indian guides, near the present site of Shediac. His son, Daniel Hanington, represented his constituency for upwards of forty years in parliament and for several years as Speaker of the House. Hon. Daniel Hanington, who was for several years customs officer at Shediac, left a family of five sons and three daughters, viz: T. B. Hanington, William Hanington, Rev. Canon Hanington, of this city, Dr. J. P. Hanington, of Montreal, C. F.

Canon Hanington, of this city, Dr. J. P. Hanington, of Montreal, C. F. Hanington C.E., Mrs. E. V. Godfrey, Mrs. (Rev.) W. S. Covert. Georgiana C. Hannington and Dr. Ernest Hanington of Victoria, B. C.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Hanington have been residents of St. John for many years and are held in high esteem by all who know them. Eight children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Hanington, of whom six are living, namely: Fred E. of this city, Dr. Blois Hanington of Philadelphia, Mrs. Dr. Jas. Manning and Mrs. H. Wetmore of this city, Miss Gertrude of Boston and Mrs. Geo. Harper of Winnipeg.

Mr. Hanington learned the drug business and was in business in this city for many years.

business and was in business in this city for many years.

In 1890 he was appointed postmaster, which position he held until April last when he was superannuated.

This afternoon friends and relatives including Dr. Blois Hanington and Mrs. Harper, will take the 1.10 train for Ketepec and will spend the afternoon in a family reunion befitting the occasion. About sixty relatives and friends will be present and will join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Hanington many more years of health and happiness.

FORFEIT BEQUEST

Toronto Woman Leaves Property to Nephews on That Condition — Had Horror

TORONTO, June 22—By the will of Matilda Bernard, who died at 31 1-2 Grove Avenue in June, two of the beneficiaries are precluded from ever engaging in gambling or encouraging others to gamble on pain or forfeiting their share of the estate.

*Mrs. Bernard left property, real and personal, worth $28,580. Her first care was to safeguard the future of her only child. John Francis Bernard, who if deaf and dumb. If he dies unmarried the property is to be divided into two equal parts, one of which is to be shared equally by the nephews and nieces of her husband, the other by her own. Should the son desire to attend the deaf and dumb school at Montreal, the trustees are to pay the expenses, and in every other way provide for his comfort. In case he has not visited Montreal, prior to his mother's death, she directs that the trustees, after consulting his guardians, are to provide the expenses of the journey there and for a stay of a month in that city in company with his cousin Lillian Gray.

The deceased appears to have had a harror of gambling, and in a codicil to the will makes the bequest of a store and lot in the village of Brechin, Ont. to her nephews, Frederick, Forest and Richard Frawley, dependent on their abstaining from that practice. In case it is found out that either or both nephews are addicted to gambling or cause others to gamble, then that porit is found out that either or both nephews are addicted to gambling or cause others to gamble, then that portion of my property which would have gone to my nephew or nephews is to revert to the estate," reads the codocil.

"In case it is found that only one of my nephews gambles, then a half interest is to be conveyed to the other nephew, the other half to be given to my sister, Elizabeth Forest.

LONDON, June 19—The misseau church at Moorswater, near Liskeard, has been transported on timber wag-ons to a more suitable site on the main road. The church was placed on the wagons by means of powerful jacks, and slid into its new position on reteel talls, the work of hauling being accomplished by six powerful horses. The structure was of wood, with an inon roof, and weighed several tons.

"The new corporation," said Mr. Siegel, "is a holding company, and each separate store remains as at present, but is to be controlled by the new corporation. The formation of this corporation may result later in the purporation. The formation of this corporation may result later in the purchase of other departmental stores.

"The $500,000 capital additional to the $1,500,000 of 7 per cent, preferred stock to be exchanged for Simpson-Crawford collateral bonds, will be used in the business. More than 70 per cent, of this $500,000 has been subscribed for by our help in Chicago and New York. We have sold this stock at par to our employes. The remaining stock cannot be sold at less than $105 a share."

CATCH BLACK HAND

PITTSBURG, Pa. June 21—The urrest here of Orazio Runfola, alias Raimondo Cardinale, who is alleged to be a member of the Black Hand, is another step which the government has taken in its rigorous and systematic campaign against Black Hand out-campaign against Black Hand outrages.

Another alleged member of the band was arrested at Meadville, Pa., as the result of information obtained from Runfola, He gave his mame as Pettino Galvo, Post Office Inspectors J. F. Oldfield, E. F. Hutches and George Pate took him by surprise early in the morning, and when Galvo learned that he would be brought to Pittsburg he said that he would rather go directly to Cleveland, where he is now in jall. Inspector Oldfield yesterday made a partial revelation of the circumstances leading to the arrest of Runfola. The Pitsburg man is said to be one of Salvatore Lima's lleutenants who looked out for this region and watched the growth of prosperity of Italians so that when the time was right a victim could be selected.

Oldfield said that when Lima was arrested his safe was searched and in it was found several letters, among which were some from Runfola, signed by his right name as well as by the alias he is said to have assumed. Runfola's effects were examined yesterday, but beyond a revolver nothing incriminating was found. Oldfield explains this by saying that since the Ohio arrest the various members of the band have been active in ridding themselves of anything incriminating.

HORSE TOO PROUD TO BECOME A PAUPER

New York Fire Horse Ran Away From Poor

NEW YORK, June 22.—Jim is only a Paterson Fire Department horse, but he is too proud to remain on the Almshouse farm, to which he was committed on Wednesday, when the fire authorities decided he was no longer fit for author service.

For five years he was the pet of En-gine Company No. 7 in the New Jersey city, and when he was started on his oity, and when he was started on his journey to the Almshouse farm the boys gathered about, stroked his mane, patted him from head to tail and said "Good-bye, old Jim."

On Wednesday night he was placed in a box stall at the farm. That was no place for a real horse with red blood. in his veins, thought Jim, and while the employes were abed Jim took French leave by leaping through a window in the rear of the stall, carrying the entire window sash with him. He sped across the farm, leaped a barbe wire sence and was rapidly disappear wire sence and was rapidly disappearing cityward when it was found he was missing and the alarm was given.

Chief Stagg, of the Fire Department, decided that Jim would find his way to some engine house. All the engine companies were notified to be on the lookout, and an hour later Jim was found standing in front of engine house No. 4. out, and an hour later Jim was found standing in front of engine house No. 4. Chief Stagg was called, and after looking Jim over, concluded that the old horse was entiled to a place in the active ranks, so it was decided to assign him for the present to the job of hauling coal to the engine houses.

CLERK BREAKS LEG

ST. STPHEN, June 23.—At about one o'clock this morning guests of the Windsor Hotel smelled escaping gas, and Dell Belyea, a clerk, started out on a round of inspection. Holding a lighted match he explored the several rooms of the hostelry. All went well until the sample room at the rear of the first floor was reached, when a deafening explosion was heard. In a moment the room was in flames understeining explosion was heard. In a moment the room was in flames understeining explosion was heard. In a moment the room was in flames understeining explosion abroken leg was only recovered with difficulty. An alarm of fire brought the department in quick response and the blaze was extinguished with little damage. Upon investigating the damage it was found that the glass of the sample room had been badly shattered as a result of the explosion. Belyea received his broken leg as the result of being hit by a table which was hurled across the room. There was no panic among the guests of the hotel.
