

LOST FOR 60 HOURS IN THE WOODS.

In Simpson of Westfield, Without Food or Shelter, Found His Way Out Just as His Strength Was Failing—He Went After Axe-handles.

Wanderer, for 60 hours in the deep solitude of the woods; to know you are lost, and without sustenance of any kind; to realize that each minute your strength is gradually but surely decreasing, and to become fully conscious of the fact that exhausted and famished you have to lie down and await death. All this has been the experience of John Simpson of Westfield.

From Saturday morning until Monday night he spent in frenzied efforts to find his way from the woods, and when at last he did regain civilization it was with his clothing in shreds, boots worn through and flesh lacerated, while his hunger was the kind that but few men in this community are ever unfortunate enough to experience.

Saturday forenoon he left home for the woods to procure axe handles, and after several hours' work in cutting the same, started to return, something he quickly found to be very difficult.

He roamed about all day and spent the night pacing beneath several large trees, which afforded some protection from the rain that had commenced early in the evening. When daylight came the storm ceased and again Simpson strove to find a road or settlement.

He tried all day in vain and spent another night as he had the previous one. From dawn to dusk on Monday he again pushed on over fallen timber, through swamps and thickets, and at last, almost falling from exhaustion, reached the outskirts of Westfield and a little later staggered into his home, where he is slowly recovering from the effects of his experience.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Clark, of Charlottetown, were given a surprise by a number of friends Tuesday night. The event was intended as a house warming, as Mr. and Mrs. Clark have lately taken possession of a new home. They were presented with an address, an ornate table and two pieces of statuary.

The city council on Monday will be recommended to approve of the proposed site for the abattoirs. The recommendation will come from the board of works and appended will be a report from Recorder Skinner as to whether the city will be liable for damages should the residents of the locality suffer inconvenience or discomfort from it, the city having approved of the site.

A correspondent at Grey's Mills, Kings county, sends the following: The steamer Hampshire was unloading freight at Dunham's Landing and, contrary to Mr. Dunham's orders, the deckhands put 12 sacks of heavy feed in the small boat used to convey the freight to the shore. Nine men were also in the boat and the immense load caused the boat to fill. Eight sacks were thrown overboard and the shore was then easily made.

One of the St. John stockholders of the Gold King mine, Colorado, is in receipt of a letter from Cyrus W. Davis stating that the total receipts for concentrates from the Gold King for the first 15 days of November amount to $87,108 and that this with the bullion will amount to nearly $70,000 with 12 days in the month yet to hear from, so that he expects $100,000 or more for the entire month's receipts. This will be good news to the many shareholders in St. John.

The annual meeting of the New Brunswick Historical Society was held in the Market building Tuesday with a representative attendance. The election of officers resulted in Jonas Howe being retained as president, while Rev. Father Gaynor and Colonel Cunard were elected vice-presidents. Clarence Ward, recording secretary, D. R. Jack, corresponding secretary, and H. H. Pickett, treasurer. The council members are Rev. W. O. Raymond, W. P. Dale and S. D. Scott. George A. Henderson was elected librarian. During the evening Mr. Howe read a paper on Lieutenant Hare, of the Royal Navy.

The S. P. C. A. is moving in another reform along the lines of the humane treatment of animals. Up to the present time the course has been to put out the cage, now it is necessary to put out the way. Now the S. P. C. A. has conceived the idea of using the painless method of asphyxiation and to this end they have applied to the civil authorities to provide an execution chamber where gas may be applied by the latest and most approved methods. The application is in the form of a letter from Secretary Wetmore. The probability is that the city will provide a small room in the public works warehouse, King street east.

The first annual meeting of the Ladies' Association of the Natural History Society was held in the society's rooms in the Market building, Tuesday afternoon, with a large attendance. Mrs. Matthew presided. The officers of the past year were re-elected and the following delegates attended: Mrs. R. Morton Smith, A. Addy, Mrs. Sheffield, and Mr. H. H. Pickett. The following committee was appointed to prepare a schedule of lectures for the winter: Mrs. Thew, Mrs. G. U. Hay, Mrs. F. J. and Mrs. M. S. Hall. During a vote was taken in favor of one of the course of evening lectures.

Moore and he will also get out a large quantity. Other operators in that section expect to have a larger output than in previous years.

SURPLUS NEARLY $1,000, SAY SOME SHORTHAND NOTES OF THE DEAF AND DUMB INQUIRY ARE LOST

Statement Made as to Financial Results of Exhibition Borne Out by Report at Meeting Yesterday

A meeting of the Exhibition Association executive was held Tuesday afternoon.

Secretary Hubbard's report was submitted and the cash surplus was shown to be $893.25.

Shortly after the exhibition closed the Telegraph stated the balance would be about $1,000 and other newspapers hysterically declined to agree with this assertion. The facts speak for themselves.

Yesterday's meeting was presided over by W. W. Hubbard, President R. B. Emerson, Colonel Markham, Richard O'Brien, R. R. Macaulay, D. J. McLaughlin and Messrs. McAvity, Thorne and Strabrooke.

The report of the secretary and manager, W. W. Hubbard, was read. He said:

"I beg herewith to submit for your consideration a short report upon the exhibition held by your association from the 30th August to 6th September last.

"In previous years our dates have been later in the month, and it was only because of these dates had been taken by other exhibitions that we were able to hold our exhibition from August to September.

"The fruit exhibit suffered both in quantity and quality, and it is rather questionable whether, at such an early date, anything but the early fruits should be placed on the prize list.

"The display of live stock was the largest and choicest aggregation of maritime province stock ever got together here. No Quebec or Ontario live stock was shown as in previous years, and our sheds and pens were filled to overflowing with the exhibits of our maritime provinces.

"The only exhibits coming from outside were the French coach and standard bred and Cleveland bay horses from Lewiston and Calais, and some poultry from the latter place.

"The growth in exhibits of pure bred horses, cattle, sheep, swine and poultry from the stockmen of the maritime province has been most marked, and the probability is that the live stock accommodation we now have will be quite inadequate for future exhibitions."

As to the financial report showed:

The prize list for 1902 totalled $5,436.55; the cost of the judges $576.75, a total for the year of $5,913.30. The total for 1901 was $7,141.10 when the judges cost $425.25. New prizes were this year distributed as follows:

SAYS GERMANY'S AIM IS TO WREST THE SUPREMACY OF THE SEA FROM BRITAIN.

Mr. H. F. Wyatt of British Navy League Here, and Will Address Board of Trade Meeting Friday—He Tells How England is Threatened, and Explains the Object of His Tour of the Colonies.

Mr. H. F. Wyatt, envoy of the Navy League of the United Kingdom, is in the city and will address a meeting of the St. John board of trade on Friday afternoon on the subject of Naval Defence.

The Navy League is one of those organizations, so numerous in Great Britain, having for their aim and object the betterment of conditions and institutions. This particular organization is devoted to the adequate navy as a guarantee of peace. It seeks to educate public opinion and to direct public attention towards the vital question of the command of the sea, and of its importance to every part of the empire. It is a non-party organization and in Great Britain its mission has principally been to urge upon the government and the electorate the paramount importance of the maintenance of a navy of sufficient strength to create a sentiment of sufficient strength to force the British government to take more interest in the navy.

Of this organization Mr. Wyatt is honorary secretary, a member of the executive and, on this occasion, a special envoy to the colonies.

Speaking to a Telegraph reporter of his mission to Canada and of naval matters generally, Mr. Wyatt said, in part:

"My primary object in visiting Canada and the other factors in the British Empire is to make known the league and promote its objects, and my mode of doing this will be by attempting to organize branches of the league in the different countries I will tour. I will also visit the branches already formed and endeavor to stimulate enthusiasm in its objects.

"My secondary object is to form in Canada a naval reserve which will bear the same relation to the navy as the militia system does to the regular army.

"The Canadian branches of the league have formed the plan for the creation of a naval militia. The ships of a division of the Royal fleet reserve, which are modern up-to-date cruisers are at present kept lying in ports of Great Britain except for a term each year when they go out for training purposes. It is proposed that some of them shall be brought to Canada and lie here all the year round. When they do, the members of the naval militia will go on them and be trained. These bodies of trained men will then be held in reserve to be called upon for service in any war in which the empire may be engaged. Of course, in entering service abroad, the concurrence of the dominion government would be necessary."

"What about the suggestion that the colonies should contribute to the navy?"

Mr. Wyatt was asked, and in answer he said:

"The British admiralty is actuated by a recognition of the strategic necessity of the solidarity of the navy of the empire should not be impaired.

"The dominion government feel that they cannot make any very large contribution to the cost of that navy until they have a voice in its disposal. The perfect co-operation of the different parts of the empire in its own defence has to await the coming of federation. The most useful preliminary is to get a comprehension of this difficulty, and to this end the Navy League is working.

"In Canada, I have organized branches of the league in Montreal, Kingston and Ottawa. Previously, there were branches in Toronto and British Columbia.

"The league apprehends the need of naval growth. The German navy has immensely grown and the league considers that Germany's special and particular intention is to wrest from Great Britain the supremacy of the sea. This is attracting attention through England though there is more apathy towards it. Russia, we consider to be equally dangerous with Germany, although Germany has the advantage of concentrated forces, while the Russian fleet is kept scattered between the Baltic, the Black Sea and Vladivostok.

"My reception in Canada has been most gratifying and the kindness and encouragement I have met with here have been amply sufficient to remove any fear that in coming to Canada, in a spirit of once there is more apathy towards it. Russia, we consider to be equally dangerous with Germany, although Germany has the advantage of concentrated forces, while the Russian fleet is kept scattered between the Baltic, the Black Sea and Vladivostok.

"From St. John, Mr. Wyatt will go to Halifax and will then visit Quebec, Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal, Hamilton, London, Winnipeg and Vancouver. From Vancouver he will sail for Japan, New Zealand, then to Australia and New Zealand, and through South Africa. He will be in Canada until the end of January, and altogether, the tour will occupy about a year in making.

The Canadian Pacific Railway have made such arrangements at Sand Point that in future the Shore Line Railway trucks will branch off the main line, near the Blue Rock beach, and continue to the Union street station on the C. P. R. tracks, while the latter company will use the Shore Line back from Sand Point to the above point making the Blue Rock come very much easier. To make this arrangement, Track Master Burpee, with a gang of men, has been busy making preparations. The work is all completed, and the new and easier line is ready for the traffic of heavy trains. Although the freight is arriving slowly from the west, it is being rapidly handled. The business is expected to start in with a rush soon.

A number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roberts, of Main street, surprised them Wednesday evening, by calling to offer congratulations on the 10th anniversary of their marriage. The presentation of a wardrobe was the tangible proof of the guests' esteem for Mr. and Mrs. Roberts.

Oak Point Farmer Weds Woman He Never Saw Before—Ceremony Performed Here Tuesday.

Edward Flewelling, a prominent farmer of Oak Point, was married in St. John Tuesday under romantic circumstances. The bride is a young lady, whom he never saw till she stepped off the Boston train two hours before the ceremony. About a year ago Mr. Flewelling, who is upwards of 60 years of age, advertised through the matrimonial columns of an American newspaper, for a wife. He had for some time been a widower. His advertisement brought several answers, among them being one from Miss Jessie Sutton, of Kentucky. Correspondence followed, and has since continued.

On Tuesday Mr. Flewelling came to the city by steamer and spent the forenoon in procuring a ring and the necessary license for his marriage. Upon the arrival of the Boston express he appeared at the depot and met his bride who, according to previous arrangements, was due to arrive.

At 2 o'clock, in the presence of a number of witnesses, they were married by Rev. Dr. G. O. Gates, and shortly afterwards drove to Indianapolis, where they took the steamer Hampshire for Oak Point. The bride is said to be somewhat older than the groom, judging from appearance. The couple, who had never met before, were the happiest people on the coast.

Wedding at St. George.

St. George, N. B., Nov. 27.—The marriage of C. Hazen McGee, councillor of St. George, and Miss Bessie, youngest daughter of Mrs. Jane Parke, was solemnized last evening at St. Mary's Episcopal church, Rev. Mr. Lynds officiating.

A number of the bride was a charming gown of white with bridal veil fastened with an ostrich feather and oyster, and carried a bouquet of white carnations and asparagus. After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the happy couple, where 50 guests were present. Luncheon was served, after which music and the usual happy congratulations were indulged in. Many presents were received.
