Separate Schools in the North West.
The Government of Canada intends to establish a Separate School System in the North-West Territory for ever. This is an important concession to the Roman Catholic hierarchy, and will receive the support of the majority of the Government's Protestant supporters in Parliament. The Government has to violate its principles to concede this, but it has violated them so often that the barrier is easily leaped. The leaders of the Opposition will not be sorry, we expect, but its voice is not a power at present. It is a mere echo of the Government's policy. The Carlist Cause.
The maintenance of the Carlist forces, in one of the poorest and most mountainous portions of poverty-stricken Spain, has been an interesting problem for those who know the conditions of modern warfare. Don Carlos had little money for his own, his Spanish adherents could not have contributed much to the cause, and the credulity of foreign sympathizers must be about exhausted by this time. The Carlist chief is clamorous for supplies, and the Provisionals that are occupied by his bands refuse to furnish any more. They are hard up, as people are in St. John and elsewhere, and object to sharing their bread and butter with the forces of the Catholic like Alfonso at the head of affairs has deprived Don Carlos of the active aid of the church, and his forces must be starved out of the country if they fail to capture supplies by raids on the districts that adhere to Alfonso.

The Board of Agriculture, familiarly known as the Buckwheat Parliament, is to be abolished and its duties assumed by the Government. An executive officer for the transaction of the business that has been done by the Board officials will be appointed, but it is not known yet whether such officer will be a member of the Government or an attaché of the Government. A Murderer Quickly Caught.
It is a week ago today since Mrs. Laura Bingham, a beautiful young widow, residing on Washington street, South Boston, was found murdered in the cellar of the house in which she had lived. It is supposed that a tramp called at the front door about 3 o'clock in the afternoon and entered Mrs. Bingham's room to go to the cellar under pretence of examining the water pipes, and there brutally murdered her for the sake of her jewelry. When her mother went into the cellar about 8 o'clock in the evening she found her lying dead, much bruised and disfigured, and her mouth filled with coal and gravel packed so closely that it was difficult to remove it. A large stone was lodged in the windpipe. It was evident that a violent struggle had taken place. Intense excitement prevailed in East Boston, and with little hope the police started on the track of a man who, it was found, had offered some rings for sale that afternoon and next day. On Thursday they had apprehended him, and there is no reasonable doubt that he is the murderer. His name is George Pemberton, and he has been in prison several times for theft. On Friday he was arraigned and fully committed for murder. An immense crowd was in attendance and the prisoner was escorted to and from the Court room by a guard of the police. Intense excitement exists in East Boston. A strong inclination to appeal to lynch law seemed to pervade the masses. The success of the police in the search was remarkable, and it is a case of rare occurrence that where no human eye has seen the murderer that he should be in custody, with sufficient evidence to hang him, before his victim has been laid in her grave.

The Rebels at Work.

It is understood that at the last meeting of the Laborer's Society the members were instructed to refrain from interference with the Rebels at work on the Australia, and matters have therefore progressed very peacefully. The Rebels do good work and give every satisfaction. A curious crowd of Club men hang around the wharf watching the progress of affairs, and they freely express the opinion that though the Rebels may suit the present demand for labor, yet Messrs. Scammell and others who defy the Club will be placed in an awkward position when the season advances and labor is less plentiful. The firm do not anticipate any difficulty in this respect, and are confident they can get along despite of Club legislation.

The March number of Blackwood's Magazine (the Leonard Scott Publishing Co., New York), contains "Lord Lytton's Speeches," "Andromache—the Daughters of Priam," "A Dog without a Tail," "The Abode of Snow," "Zanzibar," "The Lorraine"—part XII; and "The Prospects of the Session." The first article is the initial paper of a series on the political life of Lord Lytton. "A Dog without a Tail" is a series of fugitive sketches for which Blackwood has always been renowned. In the "Abode of Snow" we continue to follow the traveler into little known regions of the Himalayas. It may be assumed, with little fear of contradiction, that hardly one of our readers has ever heard of the "Abode of Snow" before. So long as the present paper, The descriptions delight the reader with their novelty and vividness. In the "Zanzibar" we have the assurance that the interests of the nation will be properly cared for under the new Administration.

Last winter a gang saw mill on the LaHave River, owned by Mr. John S. McKinn, was destroyed by fire. It was insured in English offices for $6,000, and a few days ago the amount was paid over to parties in Halifax to whom the policy had been assigned. On Tuesday last Mr. McKinn, who has been going through the insolvent Court, was to have applied for a discharge. But he did not apply. On that day he was arrested under a warrant issued upon an affidavit made by Capt. B. Westover, who charged him with having set fire to the saw mill. He is now in jail at Lunenburg, Nova Scotia.

FRANCISCO, March 27.
In reply to Mr. Elder, Hon. Mr. Willis, for the Government, said the petition of W. H. Hatheway, in relation to Reed's Point Pier, was submitted to the Government and would be considered in a few days.
Hon. Mr. King committed the bill to enable the Trustees of the several Wesleyan Methodist congregations in New Brunswick in connection with the Methodist Church of Canada, to place the lands held by them respectively under the same trusts, directions and provisions, and to provide for a short term of conveyance, Mr. Jones in the Chair. Agreed to.
Hon. Mr. Kelly tabled papers relating to Jacques River Bridge.
Mr. Blanchard presented a petition of Patrick Whelan and two hundred and ten others against the Carleton lock up bill.
Mr. Keane, from a select committee, reported in favor of St. John Slaughter House bill, with certain amendments.
Hon. Mr. Stevenson committed the Government bill relating to agriculture, Phillips in the Chair.
Mr. Stevenson said the manner in which the Board of Agriculture had been able to perform its functions had not been satisfactory to the Province, as was desirable, and recognizing the fact, the Government had determined to bring this measure which practically abolishes the Board, and vests the management and responsibilities of that important interest in the Executive. A false impression respecting this bill has gone abroad in the country, and people had been led to believe that it is intended to take away too many grants from the local societies, but such is not the fact, as there is to be no change in that respect and the local societies can be organized and incorporated by law as at present.
Mr. Humphrey believed the agricultural interests of the Province would not be as well served, or as economically administered under this measure as at present, for the Government does not contain practical agriculturists who are an absolute necessity to practical and effective management of the farming interests of the country.
Mr. Covert felt that this Government lacked the practical knowledge requisite to enable them to administer agricultural affairs intelligently. There is one practical farmer (Mr. Percy) in the Executive, while there are four lawyers, and the country will not long continue to suffer the claims of its agriculturists to be ignored in this way. There is no Minister of Agriculture provided for in the bill and it cannot be expected that either the Surveyor General, the Provincial Secretary or the Attorney General (three lawyers) will say they are capable of taking charge of so important an interest, about which they must know so very little themselves.
The Provincial Secretary said it might be possible that in any creation of new offices his friend, Mr. Covert, would be looking for that of Commissioner of Mines. It might, however, be justly claimed in view of his vast success in the management of mining affairs in Quebec and Sunbury that he was not
