

6. The said Committees are likewise empowered from time to time to add to their lists the names of such proper persons described in Rule No. 2, as may come to reside within their respective divisions; and further, that in all cases the customary place where each person shall sleep shall be considered to be his place of residence; but whenever such new names shall have been added to any Committee list, the same shall be transmitted to the Magistrates monthly, on the first day thereof, for their approval.

7. The Committees shall each give notice to the persons on the several lists individually to attend the Patrol, by means of printed papers, which shall specify the night, the hour and place of attendance; and which shall be left at each persons residence in the forenoon of the day of the time of meeting: And the several persons being so warned, the Committees shall each send a list of such persons to the Office of the Police on the morning of such day when the persons so warned are required to attend; and the acting Committee-man shall endorse his name upon the same.

8. Any person may be allowed to send
