GOOD GAME

A very interesting game of Hockey was played at the rink last evening between the Christ Church choir boys and a team of larger boys captained by Edwin McDonald. The choir boys having defeated a team of boys their own size, decided to tackle a team of larger boys, and while they made an excellent showing, the score was against them 4-0. They are not discouraged, however, and another game may be tooked for in the near

The Swearing In.

The Swearing In.

Premier Whitney's cabinet was sworn in by J. Lonsdale Capreol, clerk of the executive council, at government house at 4.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. They will take charge of their departments this morning. Mr. Whitney has given it out that this cabinet is subject to modification. Mr. Foy' will be attorney-general in a couple of months with the view to considering the question of law reform. This means that there will be practically a reconstruction with Mr. Whitney probably minister of education, Mr. Hanna minister of crown lands and Dr. Pyne provincial secretary.

The Farmer-teeneral.

All the new cabinet ministers were

The Farmer-treneral.

All the new cabinet ministers were on hand early, except Mr. Monteith, the minister of agriculture. He did not arrive until nearly 12 o'clock, and was greeted on his entrance by Mr. Whitney, who had grown rather rest-less waiting for the last one to come. "Oh, we are waiting for you, Monteith," the premier said as he grasped the hand of the new farmer-general and led him up the staircase. In three minutes Mr. Whitney came down and announced to the waiting newspaperment that his cabinet was complete, and that he would be back from government house in ten minutes after submitting the names to the lieutenant-governor. The waiting ones were rewarded within the time specified, and were taken upstairs, where the new cabinet were having an informal, session.

After naming the cabinet Mr. Whitney said he expected Mr. St. John to be the speaker of the next legislature.

Asked when the house would meet he said he had no idea—that will probably be settled at an early meeting of the new cabinet.

A department of mines is to be created, and it is expected that this will be one of the early acts of the new administration. The general public will have some time yet to guess who will be the head of this department.

Supped With His Honor. Of Course He Will.

The new premier secured an appointment with the lieutenant-governor for 4.30, and at that hour the cabiner proceeded to government house to be sworn in. After the ceremony the cabinet ministers had supper with his henor and returned to the Queen's about 5.30. Major Hendrie had to leave early to eatch a train for home and was consequently not in the city to attend the celebration ceremonies.

The first meeting of the haby admin-celebration ceremonies.

The first meeting of the baby administration will be held this afternoon. Probably the first act will be to call upon the clerk to issue the writs for the by-elections. All the members of the cabinet except the ministers without portfolio will have to go back their constituencies for re-election. It is not likely that any of the ministers will be opposed.

To call the Legislature.

The calinet will also at the earliest opportunity fix the date for the opening of the legislature. It seems to be the idea that the house will meet within a month-

Despite the Bad Weather Toronto Outdoos Itself Honoring Whitney.

The elements were not kind last night. The air was of the "eager and nipping" sort, and the southeaster that blew had in it more than the gentle caress of a summer's zephyr. It was, in truth, a prieumonia-laden breeze, that even the healthlest circulation might not lightly defy, and that caused shoulders to involuntarily huddle, as it dealt forth its blasts. It was an alght of a sort to cause the fireside to hold forth exaggerated charms, and to place unusual premiums on domestfeity, but for all that many's the Tory head of a family who last night buttoned up his great coat after a hasty supper and betook himself to the firing line, which, in this particular instance, was the Queen's Hotel and its immediate environs. As Emerson puts it, "In truth the heart if stout within can arm impenetrably the skin."

The Best Ever.

As a feast for the eyes last night's pariede was par a constitute to the string the string the strings and the parieded.

The Best Ever.

As a feast for the eyes last night's parade was not a conspicuous success; as a party demonstration, it overtopped anything Toronto had hitherto seen, and will set a mark for years to come. The triumphal procession, whose head had formed on York-street, about half way between Front and King, got moving about 8 o'clock, with strains of music, exuberant skyrockets and cheers. The premier, as he descended the hotel steps and took his place in the waiting cutter, was greeted with applause by those who were in his nomediate neighborhood and aware of his identity. First came the usual platoon of mounted police. The students were to the fore with the Second (headed by I.O.F. Trumpet Band under Major Emery), First and Third Wards (headed by First and First Wards (headed by First Wards (headed by ed by two pipers, following in the erner named. In a carriage heading the Second Ward delegation were E. B. Ryckman, E. Strachaa Cox, Thomas Gearing and W. Purvis. The Queen's Own Band was sandwiched in between processjonists. The band of the 48th had the honor of immediately preceding the carriage drawn by four horses containing the premier, Hon, J. J. Foy and Ald, McGhie and Geary, representing the Central Conservative Association as president and secretary. A guard of honor from the Young Conservative Club, bearing torches, escorted the carriages. Behind came the East York contingent then the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Ward associations, while the Cadets' Band headed the long line of a couple of hundred or more carriages that tailed away at the end.

Who is Who?

Cadets Band headed the long interest that tailed away at the end.

Who is Whe?

The impression left upon the average beholder was a confused one, in which the terchilight effects stood out most prominently. Who were the natables and who were the semi-notables thousands of anxious citizens strained their eyes in vain to discover. Where's Whitney?" was a question heard on all sides, even the premier's distinctive whiskers faffing to befray him in the uncertain light and the generally happy-go-lucky manher of conducting the affair.

The procession, as it moved along king and Yongestreets, was viewed by several thousand people. There were about 2000 in line.

At Massey Hall.

Now while there was not that frenzied hip, hip, hurrahing at Massey Hall that has characterized some political gatherings, it does not necessarily follow that the heart was not sound. Far be it from so! But somehow Conservative audiences, even in the moment of their greatest exhilistration, in joyous anticipation or in triumphant realization, are not altogether renowned for sheer noise. It is the sincerity that counts and encourages, and momore loyal offering of homage could be made than that which the vast auditorium, packed to standing room, tended Premier J. P. Whitney as he came upon the platform. Long before the processionists arrived the balcony and gallery were full. Ladles were there in force, a fact which was noticed by several graceful references from the platform to the power of the gentler sex in local politics.

There was no lavish decoration struns. Across the platform was the balner firscription, "WELCOME TO OUR LEAD-ER." From it was suspended a large oil painting of Mr. Whitney, with the words, "Our new Premier." Large British flags draped around the platform and around the balcony rais completed the garnishings. The real decoration to the hall was furnished by the solidly filled rows of seats on the lower floor as the occupants, with red cheeks and full of cheer, jumble in fresh from their street show of allegiance and respect cessionists got no further than the doors.

While the platform began to fill up the orchestra resumed its medley of oppular airs and seemed to strike a half reminiscent mood when it drifted into the melody. "It was not like this in the olden days." When Alex. McCowan, M.L.A., for East York, strode across the stage in his big coon skin coat, he was bidden to "Stand up," and howed his acknowledgements. Herb. Lennox, who redeemed the north riding, was also promptly recognized and applauded.

The Time to Cheer.

And then the orchestra broke into

And then the orchestra broke into "The Maple Leaf," and the audience, knowing what it signaled, burst into a roar of applause as Arthur Vankoughnet, led a distinguished, if mintature, procession to the forefront. There came Ald. McGhie, chairman of the evening, and with him the premier, then Ald. Geary, Dr. Beattle Nesbitt, Hon. Mr. Foy, Hon. Dr. Reaume, Hon. Dr. Willoughby, Hon. Mr. Matheson, Hon. Dr. Pyne, Hon. Mr. St. John, Hon. Mr. Beck, Hon. Mr. Hanna, Hon. Mr. Moniteltit, Edmund Bristol, A. C. Pratt, M.L.A., who defeated Charlton in Norfolk, and then a number of members of the committees of arrangement. Owing to illness Thomas Crawford was unable to be present.

It was almost 9 o'clock by this time and the oratory was limited. There was cordiality for each speaker, but a significant indication of feeling, after Mr. Whitney had spoken, were the immediate cries for "Gamey." Several times thereafter the same demand was voiced until at last Chairman McChie said that the member for Manitoulin was not present, otherwise he would be glad to call upon him.

The new premier spoke for little more than a quatere of an hour, and all the time he held in his hand the beautiful bouquet of crimson carnations presented to him when he arose. He was in splendid voice, and his remarks indicated a sincere appreciation of the responsibility which he and his cabinet have now to bear. He spoke of the past lessons learned as to the manifest desires of Toronto in the matter of government, from his attendance at political reliables here; of the example of British government that one party be not too long sustained in a position of power; and of the honest upheaval among true Liberais. He said that, while we should never forget the excellent record of the Conservative party in the past, neither should it be forgotten that the Reform party also had some good things to its credit. An autocratic government meant stagnation in politics, or combinations fraught with untold avils. The surplus of cabiners and containers and containers and duties of the premiership under the most favorable circumstances, because your course as a public man has not only been endorsed by an unprecedent edly large majority of the constituencies, but also by a decisive majority of the popular vote. It is clear that your advent to power is halled with satisfaction not only by your own political party, but by people of different political opinions in every part of Ontario. This general confidence in your rectitude and sincerity is based upon your record in the legislature during 17 years, when your devotion to the public business, your concern for the general welfare, and your zeal in maintaining the honor of public life have earned for you a high reputation in this and other provinces of the Dominion. The fact that you have promoted progressive legislation on every fitting occasion, and that you initiated such important lines of policy as thereform of abuses in the educational system and the upbuilding of native industry in the domestic manufacture of sawlogs, are accepted as evidence of the enterprising spirit which shall govern your administration. Your past work and history satisfy us that you will uphold the interests of Ontario, administer public affairs without fear or favor, and as prime minister, establish a record that you and we shall have occasion to be proud of. In the great and important task that you now have to perform, and the high duties and trust you have assumed, at the command of the people, you can coindently count, as in the past, on the loyalty and devotion of this association, and upon the assistance of its members. We wish you and the members of your family every happiness and prosperity, and express the belief that success will attend your efforts to re-establish ionest and efficient government in Ontario.

J. H. McChie, President
G. R. Geary, Secretary
Mr. Whitney was followed by Hon. J. J. Foy, Hon. W. J. Hanna, Hon. The Reaume, Rev. Dr. Chambers, Hon. Adam Beck, Hon. Col. Matheson, and Hon. Nelson Monteith, each of whom delivered eloquent or whom derivered eloquent speeches suitable to the occasion. They all eulogized the new Premier for his many private and public virtues. With cheers for the King and Pre-mier the meeting was brought to a close a few minutes past ten.

"Where a prisoner is brought before a competent tribunal charged with an extradition offence and is remanded for the express purpose of affording the prosecution an opportunity of bringing forward evidence whereby the accusation is to be supported, if in such a case upon a writ of habeas corpus a learned judge treats a remand warrant as a nullity and proceeds to adjudicate the case as though the whole evidence was before him, it would paralyze the administration of justice and render it impossible for proceedings in extradition to be effective."

John R. Carter, second secretary of the United States Enhassy, was present to hear the decision, and also to watch the appeal against the decision of the Supreme Court of Canada in the case of the fishing steamer Kitty Dee, captured by Canadian cruiser on Lake Erie.

Washington, Feb. 9.—The United States Attorney-General, speaking yesterday of the decision of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, in the Greene-Gaynor case, said that for various and obvious reasons, and especially before the receipt of the full text of the opinion, it was impossible to speak of its effect, and the precise result upon the future program of the Government toward the accused. "The Government toward the accused. "The Government is, of course, greatly gratified at the result." he said.

Active proceedings to secure removal will now be resumed, as soon as the King's order is received in Canada. This is the real judgment and mandate in the case, the judgment of the Privy Council being simply a report of the Judicial Committee to the King-in-Council, upon which the King-in-Council makes order and decree.
