INTERESTED IN CANADA.

Long List of British Nobles Buying Property Here.

Real estate is said to be very active in Canada, but the turn-over surely cannot compare with the recent movement in Britain. During the last six or seven months one firm alone has disposed of landed estates to the value of $16,000,000, principally the properties of peers and country squires. At the end of the year it is timely to examine the extent of this movement. A casual enquiry reveals the fact that all classes in British life are responding to the appeal of the Dominion of Canada. Each week throughout the sailing season proper, the steamers of the Canadian Pacific Railway and other lines sailing to Canadian ports have conveyed members of both Houses of Parliament, bankers, heads of investment houses, directors of industrial and insurance companies to an extent that is surprising.

As illustrating the appeal Canada makes to the society woman, the cases of Lady Irene Campbell, who is personally running a farm in Alberta, and Lady Evelyn Ward, who is the proprietor of a millinery shop in Toronto, may be noted. Lords there are in plenty who are owners of farms. Lord Roberts has shown a keen interest in Canadian investments and few issues are made in London which do not have his consideration. A recital of the localities of their interests would be tedious, but it may be said that a big percentage of the peers—probably 75 per cent.—are interested in the Prairie Provinces and British Columbia. Comparatively few invest in Ontario lands and the Maritime Provinces, though there is a growing interest in Nova Scotia.

Among the peers who, in one form or another, are interested in the Dominion, are:

Generally speaking, the knights and members of Parliament are interested principally in mortgages, industrial, and mines; though, of course, some of the own lands. Sir Kenneth Anderson, for instance, is said to own half the town site of Alberta. Sir William O'Donoghue, Sir Clement Kinloch-Cooke, and Sir Reginald Macleod have recently become interested in tracts of several thousands acres in British Columbia. An advertisement appearing recently in a London paper makes an appropriate conclusion to this list. A sixteenth century residence and estate which have been in the present owner's family since the reign of Henry VI, are in the market. There may be other reasons for its disposal, but one cannot reasonably exclude the supposition that its owner wants to invest in Canada.

A Veteran Drummer.

By the recent death of Sgt. Joshua Donaldson of Ottawa, Canada loses one of its best-known military men and one of the most popular soldiers in the capital corps.

He had for many years a conspicuous figure at all local military gatherings, especially those promoted by his Scotch comrades as he also played the drum in the pipe band. His reputation as a drummer was national.

The Canada-U. S. Line. The boundary marks separating Canada from the United States are of a most practical sort. For many hundreds of miles the St. Lawrence River and the Great Lakes form the natural boundaries; but there is a vast stretch of prairie land beyond with no natural demarcation. The boundary marks here are pillars of iron and wood placed at intervals of one mile. They have been alternately supplied by the two Governments, and may be seen from the Lake of the Woods to the Red River Valley. Beyond that the marks are mounds of earth and cairns of stone.

Didn't Like the Attire. As visitors to the capital know, a statue of Sir John A. Macdonald, on Parliament hill, stands just a little above that of the late Queen Victoria. A rural couple, visiting "The Hill" for the first time, paused before the statue. "Pretty fine likeness of old Sir John," remarked the male half of the delegation.

"Very nice; very good, indeed," agreed his better half, as she sized up the Queen Victoria monument, with its sceptre and flowing robes, "but I don't care very much for the clothes worn by Mrs. Macdonald!"

A PAGE OF ROMANCE.

Historic Islands Now Subject of Legal Action.

An important judgment involving the ownership of fishery rights on Fighting Island in the Detroit River, for which purchasers were ready to pay $125,000, has been given by Mr. Justice Latchford at Osgoode Hall, Toronto. His lordship finds against the defendants, who claim under a license from the Provincial Government for which $50 a year is paid. The wide beaches on the west shore of the island are said to be the best spawning grounds in the world for the true white fish. The island has an intensely interesting history.

In the first place the low, marshy tract lying out in the Detroit River, an area of about 1,200 acres, was occupied by the Wyandottes, a branch of the Hurons. In 1827 Thomas Paxton secured from Sir Peregrine Maitland, the right of occupation. This right was conferred in recognition of the services of Paxton's father, Captain Paxton, for 35 years in the provincial navy. In 1804 Capt. Paxton was peremptorily ordered by His Excellency General Hunter, to set out with an unseaworthy vessel, H. M. schooner "Speedy," to take an assize judge, Mr. Justice Cochrane, with the sheriff and court officials, to the assizes at Newcastle. The boat was never heard of again after it left York. On board, with the judge, was a prisoner who was to be tried for murder, his counsel, and Solicitor-General Gray.

In respect to this loss of his father, Thomas Paxton was granted the right of occupation of "Fighting Island," at a nominal rental. It was at Riviere aux Canards, close by, that the first blood of the war of 1812 was shed.

In 1867 Thomas Paxton bought the island and its fisheries for $6,000. He died in 1874 and left it to his son, who leased fishing rights to Gauthier for $900 a year. Paxton transferred the property to his wife, who mortgaged it, and it came into the possession of F. F. Palms of Detroit for $98,361.17.

The question raised now was whether the Palms estate could give good title to the fisheries or just to the land. Mr. Justice Latchford holds that Gauthier's license from the Provincial Government was obtained by fraud and therefore void. He holds it would be unfair to deprive the grantors of Paxton of the chief element of value of property valued at $125,000.

A reference is directed to the Master at Sandwich to determine the damages for encroachment on the fisheries.

"Kidding" the 1913 Candidates.

Recently there was related one or two incidents of candidates being heckled by fun-loving ratepayers, and several more such stories have recently cropped up—some old and some new.

Arthur Frost, a young man who aspired in vain to be a Toronto alderman at the recent election, gave his audience ten minutes of pure comedy on nomination night and made Speaker W. H. Hoyle, of the Ontario Legislature, almost tumble off his chair with laughter, when the interrupters were on his trail.

He announced that he would, if elected, voted to establish a home for the feeble-minded.

"I am interested in the case of a young woman—"

That was as far as he got for a minute or two. When the noise subsided he began again—"Never mind, boys, I have been married a year and a half."

That only made it worse. Every time the unhappy candidate opened his mouth he put his foot, metaphorically speaking, farther into it, and the audience emphatically refused to take seriously any statement he might make.

One on Lewis Waller.

Mr. Lewis Waller, the eminent English actor who has been touring Canada, told a group of Canadian dramatic critics the other day an amusing little jest, the point of which is at his own expense.

It concerns the fact that Mr. Waller has been favored by five royal commands to give plays before King Edward and Queen Alexandra, as well as other crowned heads. This is a greater share of royal favor than other English actors enjoyed, and at the Green Room Club several Theatopian friends of Mr. Waller were discussing the news of the fifth command performance, which had just been sent to the actor.

"Funny thing that Waller gets all those commands," grumbled one member of the club. "How does he do it?"

"Don't you know the reason?" replied another actor. "You know the Queen is a little bit deaf in one ear, and Waller shouts louder than the rest of us."

Not Real Holidays.

Arthur Sladen, C.M.G., who has been filling the post of private secretary to successive Governors-General for many years, is one of the golf fiends of the Civil Service. It may be mentioned also that the higher officials of the service never take "holidays," they always go "on leave." During the late summer and early fall Sladen was seen out on the links of the Ottawa Golf Club on the Aylmer road, almost daily. One day Col. Lawler, the military secretary of the Duke of Connaught, saw Sladen out there and said: "Hello, Sladen, are you on your holidays?"

"Oh, no, old chap," replied Sladen. "I'm too busy to take holidays. Just on leave, you know, just on leave."

Where New-Comers Come From.

Most of Canada's immigrants go to the farms, few of them stopping in the cities. During the last fiscal year (Canada received 133,710 immigrants from the United States; from Austria-Hungary, 21,651; from Belgium, 1,661; Holland, 1,094; France, 2,094; Germany, 4,654; Sweden, 2,384; Norway, 1,692, and from all countries the immigration to Canada in that year was 354,287.
