HANDLE THE COLTS.—The horse submits to man's authority for the reason—that he is made to believe man is the stronger. He is kind and tractable from being treated kindly and handled lovingly. What a horse is once taught, no matter how young, it never forgets. When the colt is running by its mother's side it can best be taught valuable lessons. Man's strength can then easier overcome it. The more you talk to and handle a colt, the more it will know and the kinder it will be. No one should ever permit a colt to have the mastery in strength, consequently small boys should not handle them until the colt is entirely subdued in this respect. Nor should a colt be ever hitched or led by a halter which he can break. If he once learns he can break his halter it will take years to cure him of the fault, if it is ever cured. But by kind handling and playing with them — which anyone can enjoy who has a heart within him—they will ever after be easily caught, kind in service and more trusting in danger or difficulty, Now is the season of the year to attend to this matter. When the colt comes about you never abuse him, but with kindness educate a familiarity with him. Thus he will be always gentle and easily adapted to any work. There will be no trouble breaking such a colt. He will naturally take to it. By being treated viciously the colt can also be learned mean tricks and vicious habits.—Iowa Register.

COAL ASHES AND CURCULIO.—I have for several years saved my plums from the ravages of the curculio by the use of coal ashes. They become so completely disgusted with it that they leave for other parts. Just as soon as the blossoms fall I commence with my ashes. I take a bucketful of the ashes under my arm, and with the other hand I dash the ashes all over and through the trees, covering the plums completely with ashes, and go round every few days and keep at it until my plums are ripe, when I am well paid for my trouble. I had, this year, eight bushels on seven small trees, which I sold for thirty-two dollars. I have several trees of the Rhine Claude variety upon which I did not use the ashes, because the plums were so scattering. I thought it would not pay, but there was one limb of one of those trees that was close to those I put the ashes on; it got its share of ashes, and that limb ripened up all of its plums, but not a plum was there left on the other part of the tree or on any of the other trees of that variety. This was conclusive evidence to me that it was the ashes that saved my plums. When I first commenced the ashes, my brother told me that I would not succeed, that he made sure of saving his plums by placing a sheet under his trees and shaking the little Turks off of his trees, and catching them on the sheet and killing them. But when plums were ripe I had plenty and he had none.—Ohio Farmer.

STRAW FUEL.—In these hard times it is well to practice economy in every possible direction, Americans, as a rule, particularly Western farmers, waste an immense amount of everything. There is an old saying that a French family could live well on what an American family throws away. The Mennonites, who emigrated from Southern Russia and came over into our far Western States, are teaching the people of that section an important lesson in the matter of thrift. Prof. Butler writes of them from Nebraska that he had recently eaten a dinner from the Mennonites which was cooked with grass: and he says he has examined straw furnaces in the houses of the bishop and the men of his flock. The house in which the bishop lives has been built two years. It is forty-eight by twenty-six feet, and there has been no freezing in it, though he has nothing for winter fuel but straw, and his furnace the iron work of which cost but five dollars, is heated only three times a day. As the writer expresses it, what Nebraska has wasted now warms many Muscovites. The Russian furnaces are already being set up in the houses of Western farmers, and will prove a great saving if generally adopted. N. Y. Independent.

TO THE

FARMERS OF MIRAMICHI.

We have been Manufacturing

IRON FRAME MOWERS

For the last four years, and are now offering to the farming community this, the

BEST MOWER,

Combining a greater excellence of mechanical simplicity together with greater durability and entire reliability for all the requirements of the field, than any other Mower extant.—In construction they are similar to the celebrated Walter A. Wood's Iron Frame Mower, and the Richardson Buckeye, both American machines. Of the former there are over 200,000 in use, and the extraordinary number of 20,000 were manufactured and sold last season, by the Wood Company of United States. We have over 500 of our manufacture now in use, every one of which (no exceptions) stands as a monument of the great and unprecedented success of home manufacture and our enterprise. A list of our Agents in this section of the Province will be found appended, and farmers are requested to ask information of them relative to our Mowers in use in their respective localities, which will establish beyond doubt their unquestionable superiority over any other mower to be had in our market.

The facility of procuring all parts or pieces within a nominal length of time must show beyond the shadow of a doubt the claims such an enterprise has upon the farmers of the Maritime Provinces.

For the coming Harvest of 1877 we will manufacture LARGELY in excess of our numbers of last Season, and trust that our growing enterprise may find such inducements held out to it as will be commensurate with its merits.

Let it be remembered we have no hesitation at all times, in entering in a friendly competition in the field with any other machine in our market. WE GUARANTEE OUR MOWERS TO BE INFERIOR TO NONE. Farmers would do well to enquire prices and terms before purchasing elsewhere.
