Three Lose Their Lives

Ice Bridge at Niagara Falls Broke, Carrying with it Eldridge Stanton, His Wife and a Boy.

Niagara Falls, Feb. 4.—The great ice bridge that has choked the river channel between the cataract and the upper steel bridge below the Falls for the last three weeks broke its anchorage just at noon to-day and went down the river, taking with it to their death a man and woman said to be Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Stanton, of Toronto, and Burrill Heacock, 17 years old, of East 117 street, Cleveland, O. The bridge was considered perfectly safe. For weeks the great fields of ice had been coming down the river, piling up against the barrier until it was from 60 to 80 feet thick, and under the influence of zero weather the great mass had become firmly anchored to the shore. The jam was about 1,000 feet in length and in some places a quarter of a mile in breadth.

For two weeks it had offered safe passage to the hardy, and to-day an immense crowd of excursionists came to view the winter wonder of the river. Had the accident happened an hour later in the day hundreds would have lost their lives, for the crowd was moving down on Prospect Park in the elevators that run down to the cliff for the purpose of venturing out upon the ice.

On the bridge at the time it tore free from the shore, besides the three, were Munro Gilbert, of No. 1108 Grove Avenue, this city; Ignatius Roth, of No. 2114 Fulton Road, Cleveland, Heacock's companion; Wm. Hill, an old riverman, who had a shack on the ice; Wm. Labeland, a riverman, and an unidentified Italian. When Hill heard the grinding and crushing of the ice he ran towards the Canadian shore, calling to the others to follow him. Labeland gave the warning that safety lay in that direction. Gilbert and the Italian followed their lead but the others became alarmed. By the time they regained their composure the bridge was moving fast down the river.

The man and woman started first towards the American shore, but they were stopped by a lane of open water. Back they ran towards the Canadian side, turned about and made for the American side. When hardly more

A BROKEN-DOWN SYSTEM. This is a condition (or disease) to which doctors give many names, but which few of them really understand. It is simply a breakdown of the system. No matter what may be its cause (for they are all restlessness, insomnia, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary affairs of life. Now, what also is undoubtedly essential in all such cases is increased vitality—vigour—

VITAL STRENGTH & ENERGY to show off these morbid feelings, and experience proves that as night succeeds the day this may be more certainly secured by a course of the celebrated life-reviving tonic—

THERAPION No. 3 than by any other combination. So surely as it is taken in accordance with the printed directions accompanying it, will the shattered health be restored.

THE EXPIRING LAMP OF LIFE LIGHTED UP AFRESH. And a reference imparted in place of what had been utterly burnt-out, "used up" and "worn out." This wonderful medicine is purely vegetable and innocuous, is agreeable to the taste, and is suitable for all constitutions and conditions, in disease or debility, whose main features are those of debility, that will not be speedily and permanently benefited by this nerve-filling restorative essence, which has been used by the profession everywhere, and has proved its value in the most serious and numerous cases of human debility.

was no more seen; he was swallowed up in the spume.

Heacock's failure was witnessed by the man on the other floe. The woman, apparently, dared not look. The man appeared calm as he in turn prepared to make a play against death, as caught by a down river current the floe moved into the course Heacock had gone. As the couple swung under the Cantilever bridge the man grasped a rope and tried to put it about the woman's waist. The force of the current was too much for the rope. It parted, and the man waved the torn end toward the crowd. There was still another chance, the rope that was dropped from the lower steel arch bridge by the Niagara Avenue firemen. As the floe went into the swift drift the man caught it and grimly hung on. He was given slack and he tried to wind it around the woman's waist. He tumbled in his agony of effort as if his hands were numb. The rush of ice in the stream was overpowering.

When he could not tie the rope around the woman he let it go. There apparently was no thought of himself. He raised the woman to her feet, kissed her and clasped her in his arms. The woman made a sign as if to cross herself, then sank to her knees. The man knelt beside her, his arms clasped close about her. So they went to their God. The ice held intact until it struck the great wave. There it was shivered, there the gallant man and the woman at his side disappeared from view.

Diamond Cutting Sores From Elbow to Fingers.

The Secret That Was Revealed to Berquem in a Dream.

The first cutting of a diamond was done four centuries ago. The ancients knew nothing of the hidden beauty of the stone called by Seneca "The sage whose impassibility nothing can conquer." But even in the rough the diamond won the favor of princes, and very gradually experienced jewelers revealed some of its fires. Until the fourteenth century enamelled buttons were the chief articles of jewelry.

In the beginning of the fourteenth century, when the price of enamels fell so low as to bring the decorated buttons within the reach of all purses, enamelling lost the favor of the fine world and buttons of gold and silver ornamented with pearls, diamonds and colored stones took the place of the enamels. The finest of the stones then known was a diamond—a former King of Portugal, and had a gem worn on great occasions by the Duke of Burgundy. In the year 1470, when Bruges was a residence city, the court lived a life of extravagant luxury. Men and women went about in garments stiff with gold and silver ornaments and sewed with pearls and precious stones. But the stones were uncut and shapeless. Charles, son of the Duke of Normandy, owned a great diamond which he amused himself by exhibiting to his "chaperon," but as he declared its virtues he bewailed its shape and its lack of light.

At that time one of the important jewel merchants of Bruges was served by a clerk who was a native of Flanders—a young man named Louis de Berquem, who was deep in hopeless love with his master's daughter. Young Berquem was on the verge of despair when one night, as he was hanging up his apron and preparing to go home to his attic, he saw his master bending above his bench groaning at the uselessness of his labor. When de Berquem asked, "Can I do something for you before I go?" the master sneered:

"Yes, bring me a tool that will cut these accursed stones! I will give a fortune to the man that does it!"

From that hour the boy thought of nothing but to find means of conquering the hardness of the diamond. All day he did the bidding of his master; all night he sat at a rough bench in his attic trying in vain to make some impression on a stone swollen from the workshop. One night he fell asleep at his bench and dreamed that an angel said to him: "Iron is the Minister corroborates—The Rev. W. M. Parker, of Caledonia, Miss Doliver's minister, writes: "This is to certify that the testimonial of Miss Doliver is correct as far as my knowledge goes. I have known her for a year and a half, and her cure effected by Zam-Buk is remarkable."

Wherever there is ulceration, blood-poison, sores, cold-cracks, abscesses, ulcers, burns, bruises, or any skin injury or disease, there Zam-Buk should be applied. It is also a sure cure for piles. All druggists and stores sell at 25c. per box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., St. John's, Nfld., for price. Tefuse cheap and harmful imitations and substitutes.

The Village Blacksmith

Under a costly canopy the village blacksmith sits: Before him is a touring car Broken to little bits— And the owner, and the chauffeur, too, Have almost lost their wits.

The village blacksmith smiles with glee: An he lights his fat cigar— He tells his helpers what to do To straighten up the car— And the owner, and the chauffeur, too, Stand humbly where they are.

The children going home from school, Look in at the open door: They like to see him make his bills And hear the owners roar— And the chauffeurs weep as they declare They ne'er paid that before.

He goes each morning to the bank, And sits away his cash; A high silk hat and long frock coat Help him to cut a dash— But the owner, and the chauffeur, too, Their teeth all vainly gnash.

The chestnut tree long since has died, The smith does not repine; His humble shop has grown into A building big and fine— And it bears "Garage" above the door On a large electric sign.

BOY SAVED FROM BEING A CRIPPLE

By Douglas' Egyptian Liniment

Mr. W. B. Perry, Tamworth, Ont., has a son who owns a good deal of Douglas' Egyptian Liniment, for without it he would certainly have been partially crippled for life. His father writes: "My son Marshall had his foot so badly frozen that the doctor said he would have to amputate the toes. The boy cried so much that we declined to allow the doctor to amputate. "A friend hearing of the case sent us a bottle of Egyptian Liniment and strongly advised us to try it before consenting to amputation. We washed the foot with the liniment, and the foot was saved from being a cripple and used the Liniment. "Three days after the first application the frozen flesh dropped off and the boy's foot began to improve and was saved."

The way Egyptian Liniment removes unhealthy matter from frost bites, scalds, burns and festering wounds, and restores sound, healthy flesh, is simply wonderful, 25c. at all druggists. Free sample on request Douglas & Co., Napanee, Ont.
