A Patriotic Fund for the Fallen Brave

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—The thoughts of every man amongst us are wholly engaged to-day with the glorious, terrible news of a battle in the North Sea. We have already with one accord and with full hearts sung our Te Deum for the victory. It still remains for us to chant the Requiem for the brave who have fallen in our defence. It would shame us, I think, if, while we acclaimed this new triumph of the British arms, we forgot for one moment the dreadful price at which it has been bought. Hundreds, perhaps thousands, have already laid down their lives on the altar of our common country, and we reverently accept the sacrifice. Thousands and thousands more must do the same before this war can cease. But we should ask of no man that he should do any more than give his life for his country. We cannot ask him to offer up wife, mother, children as well. These, the heirs and dependants of the honoured dead, must be the peculiar care of us who sit at home at ease. The National funds cannot avail to save these, the National wards, from the destitution into which the valour and self-sacrifice of husband, father and son have plunged them. They must be the objects, not of the charity, but of the gratitude of their fellow citizens. I have no doubt that His Excellency the Governor will not delay in inaugurating a fund to contribute to the support of the dependants of those of our sailors and soldiers who may lose their lives in this war. I therefore beg that you will accept the enclosed cheque and pay it into such a fund the moment it is established. Yours truly,
HANNO.

Where Responsibility Lies.

No matter how large, or how small, a business may be, nobody can deny that its office is the nerve centre of the firm. Every transaction, important or trivial, must be recorded at the Office. An order is received at the Office, its history is recorded at the Office, and finally payment is received at the Office. If the Office makes an error the firm stands the loss. That's why you must be sure that your office is modern and dependably equipped for the care of all important papers. To do this effectively you need the up-to-date equipment of the "GLOBE-WERNICKE CO." When sixty offices in St. John's have found this necessity this equipment can surely be of use to you. Mr. Percie Johnson represents this world known firm in Newfoundland.—

Wedding Bells.

A very quiet but pretty wedding took place yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smyth, Jr., when their youngest daughter Josephine M. was united in the bonds of matrimony to Mr. Stuart A. Long, of the Nfld. Express Co. The bride looked charming in a dress of pale blue silk with hat to match and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and carnations. The bride was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Hilda Long, and the groom was ably supported by his brother, Walter, of the Reid Nfld. Co., North Sydney. Following the ceremony a reception was held, after which the happy couple left for Waterford Bridge where they entrained for Doilies, where the honeymoon will be spent. The bride was the recipient of many handsome and useful presents.

The Nickel Shows.

HOME, SWEET HOME.
The Nickel Theatre has a big treat in store for patrons to-day, when a pathetic story will be presented entitled "Home, Sweet Home." It is a two-reel production, acted by the Lubin artists and is said to be one of their best plays. It is entirely different from any of the great domestic stories ever seen in St. John's before. It has an attraction all its own, and no one should fail to see it. Pillars of Society is a strong social drama which will give every satisfaction. "The Capture of a Wild Cat" is an interesting film, displaying wonderful photography. There are two very laughable comedies "Rule Thyself," and "Cohen's Outing." The weekly matinee with extra pictures takes place to-morrow.

Britannia Still Rules the Waves.

Not for a century has any nation contested Great Britain's primacy on the seas. Trafalgar settled her supremacy there for the Nineteenth century, and the Twentieth Century sees her still supreme, not merely in tonnage, gun power and men, but in seamanship and fighting qualities which gave her fame from the spacious days of Queen Elizabeth down to those of our own good Sailor King. Germany twenty years ago commenced the mad race of enormous armaments at sea, and the old land has strained every nerve to equip her men with fighting platforms and guns which would give them a chance to uphold her on the sea, and keep free that element on which her freedom, independence and existence depends. Reluctantly she accepted the gauntlet thrown down to her by the War Lord of Europe, who was aiming to be the Lord of the Seas. Quietly, determinedly and doggedly she entered on the contest which was to decide whether the world was to be forced to see eye to eye with the Kaiser. "If Germany will have it, she shall have it in good measure," said Sir Edward Grey, and Admiral Jellicoe and Admiral Callaghan with their gallant officers and brave seamen have given it to them in the fullest degree. We have obtained a complete and glorious victory at sea. The peril of food starvation at home is gone. The ocean is now free for our traffic. There is no need for paralyzing war freights. Our fleet will have a free run for market, and we can rest content and safe. She has honourably carried out her obligation to France and France is now free to concentrate her attention to the land. The cost of Admiralty has been high. Our church bells will toll for the brave that are now no more and who gave their lives that their brethren might be free. Our hearts will send up a prayer of thankfulness to the Almighty who has vouchsafed to us a glorious victory, the greatest and most complete the world has known. Along the line the signal ran—"England expects that every man this day will do his duty," and they did it.

WEATHER.—It is calm and fine along the line of railway to-day with the temperature ranging from 50 to 70 above.

Cool Food for Hot Days.

Better health comes with less meat and greasy food during the warm weather.

By proper and pleasant food one can feel cooler than his over-fed neighbor.

Grape-Nuts

and Cream

—some fruit and a soft boiled egg, or two, is sufficient for the hot weather breakfast.

An ordinary portion of Grape-Nuts and cream contains nourishment to sustain one until the noonday meal; and being a partially pre-digested food, it does not overtax the stomach and heat the system as do heavy, greasy foods.

These suggestions, if followed, should show that one can have a cool body, active brain and energy—even in hot weather.

Display of Enthusiasm

AT NEWS OF GLORIOUS VICTORY.
When the news of the overwhelming British victory in the North Sea, was spread through the city last night, citizens congregated at every available news centre where intense excitement and deepest enthusiasm prevailed. At the Post Office an immense crowd gathered and gave expression to a general outburst of patriotism. About halfpast ten a large number marched through the streets in processional order, singing patriotic songs and cheering at intervals. They visited Government House, where His Excellency delivered a short but stirring address brimful of patriotism. They then visited the residence of the Premier who also addressed them, and continuing their march proceeded countrywards, and called on the French Consul Suzor. The Consul received them cordially and deeply regretted his inability to express to them his feelings in an adequate manner in the English language. Mr. Bert Tait, however, conveyed the Consul's sentiments to the large gathering, which was the occasion for an outburst of applause and vociferous cheering. Mr. Tait then led the "Marcellaise" and was joined by a chorus of one hundred voices, who though they did not all know the words of the song, were none the less enthusiastic and kept up the strain in an admirable manner. Returning to the city they called at the Daily News Office to learn if any further information had been received. They demanded a speech from Hon. J. A. Robinson, Editor of our esteemed contemporary, who complied with their request.

Incendiary Committed for Trial.

The man Dyke, who set fire to and destroyed Winsor's house and contents at Wesleyville about three months ago has been committed for trial to the Supreme Court. The preliminary hearing of his case was conducted at Greenspond. It will be remembered that following the arrest of the accused he became insane and was placed in the Lunatic Asylum where he remained for several weeks before being released. Dyke will be brought here next week to stand his trial.

DETECTIVE RETURNS. — Detective Tobin, who had been investigating the larceny of the cash box from the railway station at Cape Broyle returned to the city by the Southern Shore train to-day. Up to the present no arrest has been made.

The Old Home.

That is the cottage over there, With roof of thatch, and growing, And there's the little window where I breathed the scent the musk was blowing—
The window where, a child, I dream'd And life, perhaps, was what it seem'd.
There is the cottage, just the same, Its ivy mantle clinging tighter, With still the old familiar name, Recalling days when life was brighter;
Yet all the charm of Home has fled, For those I loved within are dead.
It hardly seems so long a span Since last I saw our cottage home, But boy has grown to youth and man And fought his fight beyond the foam,
The while the Reaper claimed his own And left me in my grief alone.
Now I am back and come to see The cottage where we used to dwell;
But, as I look, it seems to me The little nest has lost its spell, The lattice porch—the dear old name Unchanged perhaps—yet not the same.

Here and There.

LINTROSE PASSENGERS. — The Lintrose arrived at Port aux Basques at 5.25 a.m. to-day, with the following passengers in saloon: Charles H. and Mrs. Stevenson, Miss M. Gushue, Miss M. Young, H. and Mrs. Adams, A. Ormiston and A. T. Graham.

Miss Myra Tyrrell, of Phoenix, Arizona, eighty years old, died, leaving her beautiful home and her estate of $50,000 to be devoted to a home for stray cats, dogs and other animals. A paragraph of the will reads: "I leave nothing to any person or persons, and leave no debts."

Albert Lumberg, of Niagara Falls, New York, found fourteen $100 bills in the pocket of a pair of trousers that had been sent to the dry cleaning establishment by which he is employed. Lumberg returned the money to the man to whom the trousers belonged.
