PACKING.

By RUTH CAMERON.

The Lady—how always—now a packing. On the floor beside her little trunk was a heap of clothing and miscellaneous articles, so large that it seemed incredible that they should ever be crowded inside it. Molly, the little stenographer lady said so. "But I know it will," she added. "You're such a wonderful packer. Tell me how you do it." "Mercy, I'm not wonderful at all," laughed the lady. "You ought to have seen my mother pack."

"You inherited it, then," said Molly. "I wish you'd tell me some of your secrets."

"I haven't any said the lady. Just at that moment she took up a shoe and began to pack some stockings into it. "There, I know it," said Molly. "I never thought to pack things inside of shoes."

The lady smiled at that. "I thought everybody packed the inside of things like hats or shoes."

"Well, they don't," said Molly, "unless I'm nobody."

She sat thoughtfully for a moment. Then: "There's another kind of packing things inside of things that everybody doesn't do."

"What do you mean?" we inquired. "Well," she went on, "I always wonder how Mrs. L. managed to do the work of that big house and always have time to help everybody. Why, she knitted forty-seven swabs for the war hospitals already."

She paused to let this sink in and we ventured to inquire its relationship to packing things in shoes.

Making More Room in Your Day By Skillful Packing.

"I was coming to that," said Molly. "Yesterday I happened to go over there just before dinner and there was Mrs. L. sitting in front of the stove watching the dinner cook and knitting away. She says she does it every night. Now isn't that making more room in your day by packing one thing inside another?"

The lady paused in the act of stuffing a hat full of miscellaneous soft articles long enough to nod at Molly. "Very good, my dear."

Cure the Skin Through the Skin

It is now thoroughly established among skin specialists that eczema is purely a skin disease, due to a germ beneath the skin and curable only through the skin. Thousands of people suffer with skin disease who are perfectly healthy otherwise, which shows that their blood is not diseased. Ugly-looking stomach remedies are therefore as worthless for skin diseases as they are for a tooth-ache.

Eczema germs must be WASHED AWAY. Smearly salves do no good as they cannot penetrate the skin, they merely clog the pores and aid the rapid increase of germs. The only way to reach the germs is by a penetrating wash.

The D. D. D. Prescription, a wonderful new discovery for skin diseases, is a simple, scientific wash—a reliable home remedy that brings about marvellous cures in all forms of Eczema, Bad Leg, Pimples, Ulcers, Barber's Itch and all other skin ailments. D. D. D. relieves distress instantly, kills and washes away disease germs and leaves the skin wholesome and healthy.

shall do everything in my power to keep the United States out of the war. I think the country will feel no uneasiness about my course in that respect. Through many anxious months I have striven for that object, amidst difficulties more manifold than can have been apparent upon the surface, and so far I have succeeded. I do not doubt that I shall continue to succeed. The course which the central powers have announced their intention of following in the future, with regard to the treatment of merchant vessels on the high seas, that I must believe that explanations will presently ensue which will put a different aspect upon it. We have had no reason to question their good faith or their fidelity to their promises in the past and I for one, feel confident that we shall have none in the future.

"But in any event our duty is clear. No nation, no group of nations, has the right while war is in progress, to alter or disregard the principles of which all nations have agreed to uphold in mitigation of the horrors and sufferings of war; and if the clear rights of American citizens should ever unlawfully be abridged or denied by any such action we should, it seems to me, have in honor no choice as to what our own course should be. For my own part, I cannot consent to any abridgement of the rights of American citizens in any respect. The honor and self-respect of the nation is involved. We covet peace, and shall preserve it at any cost, but the loss of honor. To forbid our own people to exercise their rights for fear we might be called upon to vindicate them would be a deep humiliation indeed. It would be an implicit, all but an explicit, acquiescence in the violation of the rights of mankind everywhere, and of whatever nation or allegiance. It would be a deliberate abdication of our hitherto proud position as spokesmen, even amidst the turmoil of war, for the law and the right. It would make everything this government has attempted, and everything that it has achieved during this terrible struggle of nations, meaningless and futile."

"It is important to reflect that if in this instance, we allowed expediency to take the place of principle, the door would, inevitably be opened to still further concessions. Once accepted a single abatement of right and many other humiliations would certainly follow, and the whole fine fabric of international law might crumble under our hands, piece by piece. What we are contending for in this matter is of the very essence of the things that have made America a sovereign nation. She cannot yield them without conceding her own impotency as a nation, and making virtual surrender of her independent position among the nations of the world."

"I am speaking, my dear Senator, in deep solemnity, without heat, with a clear consciousness of the high responsibilities of office and as your sincere and devoted friend. If we should, unhappily, differ, we shall differ as friends, but where issues so momentous as those are involved we must, just because we are friends, speak our minds without reservation. Faithfully yours,—Woodrow Wilson."

RECOVERY HOPEFUL.—The recovery of the little girl Geraldine Osborne, the victim of a severe burning accident on Thursday evening, particulars of which were told exclusively in yesterday's Telegram, is hopeful, though her body is frightfully burned. Her attending physician, however, believes it will be only a question of time to allow the wounds to heal when the patient will be around again.
