George and Mary.

London, July 5 .- For fear there might be a mistake as to the names of the royal stated that on May 16, 1893, "Her Majesty in Council was pleased to declare her consent to a contract of martimony between his Royal Highness Prince George Frederick Ernst Albert, Duke of York, Earl of Javeness and Baron Killarney, Knight of the Most Noble Order of the Garter, son of His Royal Highness the Prince and his consert Her Royal Highness the Princes Herincess of Wales, and Hes Serene Highness the Princes Victoria May Augusta Louise Olga Pauline Claudine Agnes, daughter of her Royal Highness Princess Mary Adelaide Wilhelmina Elizabeth and His Highness Franca Paul Charles Louis Alexander, Duke of Teck, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath."

Prince George of Wales, as he was styled until then, became Duke of York ea Queen Victoria's birthday, 1892, when it was announced: stated that on May 16, 1893, "Her Majesty was announced:

"The Queen has been pleased to direct letters patent to be passed under the great seal of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, to bear this day's date (Whiteand freiand, to bear this cays date (white-hall, May 24, 1892), granting unto her Majesty's grandson, His Royal Highness Prince George Frederick Ernest Albert of Wales, K. G., and the heirs male of his body lawfully Legotten, the dignities of Baron Killarney, Earl of Inverness and Dukand Vok."

Since 1827 the title had been in abeyance until a year ago. The dukedom of Albany was given to Prince Leopold, the fourth son of Queen Victoria. It is now held by on of Queen Victoria. It is now held by all young son, who was born in 1884.

The other titles of Prince George of Wales are new creations. The morganatic wife of Augustus, Duke of Sussex (sixth non of George III), who was formerly Lady Cecilia Underwood, was on her marrisge created Duchess of Inverness. She died in 1870.

It will surprise many to learn that it should have been necessary to "selevate" a "royalty" to the peerage. Yet, in spite of their royal titles and special precedence, not only the grandsons but even the younger sons of the reigning sovereign are, in contemplation of law, commoners until they are created peers. The heir-apparent doubtless is born and not made a peer, since he is Duke of Coruwall by birth, although he is Prince of Wales by creation. The Duke of York was born at Marlborough House, St. James, the residence of the Prince of Wales, built in 1707-1710 by Sir John Vanbrugh for the great Duke of Marlborough, who died there in 1722. In 1817 the house was purchased by the Crown for Princess Charlotte and Prince Leopoid, and it was the Prince's house for many years. Queen Adelaide lived in it after the death of William IV. The building was used for the exhibition of the Vernon of lection of pictures, after it was settle upon the Prince of Wales, down to 1855, and here commenced in the upper rooms, a school of design, which, with those pictures
