A CHARGE OF BIGAMY

James Boyd Arrested in Hamilton and Brought Here—Two Women Claim Him as Their Husband.

Detective Rider went to Hamilton yesterday and brought back from that city, where he had been arrested the previous evening, a laborer named James Boyd, who lived in London until a couple of months ago, when he removed to Hamilton. Boyd's alleged crime is that of bigamy, he having been married in June last to Miss Magie Tasker, a domestic, by Rev. Dr. Saunders. It now appears that he has a wife and three children who have been living in Chesley, and Mrs. Boyd the first is now in the city, prepared to prosecute the prisoner should he deny the charge against him.

The prisoner is 35 years of age, and originally belonged to Bruce county, where his relatives still reside. While working near the village of Chesley in 1888 he married Priscilla Jane Finch, the 18-year-old daughter of a respectable couple living on the town line between Bondick and Eiderdale. The couple lived together until four years ago, when Boyd came to London to live, bringing one of the children with him, and leaving Mrs. Boyd, with the other two children, in a village near Warton. While living in London Boyd worked as a laborer in a number of places.

Mrs. Boyd the first came to the city from Chesley yesterday on hearing of the arrest of her husband, Mrs. Boyd, who is 32 years old, tells a story which does not speak well for the prisoner. Since her marriage, on Sept. 30, 1886, she says, she has had considerable trouble. Boyd led her to believe that he owned considerable property, but in less than two months after the marriage Boyd was sued for the price of his wedding suit. Since that time Boyd has lived in many places, and wife No. 1 says that she had to send to her father to take her home, as she was starving. Boyd left her for short periods, during one of which he is alleged to have been living with another woman, but in spite of all Mrs. Boyd was willing to forgive him. After he came to London Mrs. Boyd went to the Northwest and worked as a domestic.

The London police know nothing of the prisoner until one o'clock on Wednesday, when they received a letter from wife No. 1, inquiring if he had been married here in June. Before seven o'clock that evening they located Boyd in Hamilton, and had him arrested. He does not appear to have married Miss Tasker in June, but he says he did so, believing his first wife had died as the result of an operation performed in the hospital at Winnipeg. He charges Mrs. Boyd with deserting him for another man, a charge which the first wife says is absolutely without foundation.

Mrs. Boyd the second came to the city last night. She was an adopted daughter of Mr. John Van, of Owen Sound. On coming to London to work she met the prisoner, who informed her that he had three children, two of whom he had adopted before his first wife left him. Boyd also told her that wife No. 1 had died in the hospital at Winnipeg, and a month later news came that the first wife was still alive.

It never fails to remove soreness as well as lameness, and is an incomparable pulmonary and corrective.
