Professor Morrison, of Queen's Uni versity, Addresses The Canadian Crub.

Professor J. L. Morison, the newly appointed professor of history at Queen's University, was the guest of honor at the Canadian Club luncheon at the Tecumseh House today. "The future will develop necessarily from the facts of the present," said Professor Morison, "and if we are unduly optimistic at this time, Canada will pay for that optimism. Old Country Poverty.

There is in every British city population immersed in poverty. There are those who can just maintain themselves; and then there is primary poverty, where they are always below the surface of the daily need. third of the population of Great Britain's cities are of this class. They are everywhere. Men who might be called God's failures; men who are born useless; men unfit for manhood. They are wasteage of our British popula-

Professor Morison spoke of his own experience in Glasgow, where in the compass of a few yards, 3,000 people lived, 36 families to each entrance, three or four people in every room. "Think of what this means to health and morality," continued the speaker. Yet in every city in Britain these conditions exist. And the children born in these conditions are dequalified almost from birth. We are turning out failures, not citizens-children liable to disease. Thousands of children are being brought up under conditions that
