ARBITRARY RIGHTS AND POWERS OF

Rights Declares City Engineer Ashplant.

ORDERED AY THE BOARD A SCORCHING CRITICISM

Whitney's Pet Body Restricting the Autonomous Liberties of City of London.

Arbitrary rights and powers vested in the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board have long been a thorn in the side of the Ontario municipalities, and the action of the Whitney Administration in constantly amending and increasing these said powers has been and is the subject of the bitterest criticism by the municipalities affected. Last night City Engineer W. N. Ashlant characterized the legislation passed at the last session of the Legislature which prevents the granting of steam heating franchises, as "an inringement of municipal rights.'

The Greene-Swift Case. When the question of the Greene-swift Company's application to cross Carling street was first brought to the ttention of the board of works it was pointed out by City Clerk Baker that he new statutes, passed by the Provincial Parliament, absolutely prohibited the granting of a franchise, such as the company asked for, with any provision for renewal. According the law, it would be necessary for the company to tear up its pipes at the end of the year, make application to the new council for another year's conpermission had been made.

Engineer's Report. In reporting on the question at further length to the board on Thursday night, City Enginer W. N. Ashplant had, in part, this to say on the question:

"It seems on consulting legal authorities that the requirements of the onnections on a street, and as the Ontario railway and municipal act place considerable restraint on the free action of your council in granting franchises of this character, and their annual renewal or extension. If the city, through its duly constituted organization, has no legal power to charge an annual rental (and renew the same) for privileges of the kind petitioned for by the Greene-Swift Company, when supported by the request of a considerable section of the business interests, it seems to me that such restrictive legislation is an infringement of municipal rights.

"The privilege petitioned for in this case is not one which detrimentally affects any interests, either within or outside the municipality, neither does such a franchise involve any of the culties ensuing from such franchises as those of a street railway or electric me to see clearly any justification for being given the power to restrict the

A Strange Ruling. If it is, and granted that the Greene-Swift Company may be permitted to lay the pipes petitioned for, for a period of one year, it cannot reasonably be assumed that a renewal of the privilege shall be illegal.

If a true interpretation of the existing act leads to the conclusion that it would be illegal to so renew the petitioners' privilege, I would submit that steps be taken to have the act amended."

Supplementing this opinion, the city engineer recommended that a fee of $100 levied against the company for the ossing of the street, to meet the cost f disturbing the street surface, that rther guarantee of $100 be deposited with the city treasurer, and that an anual fee of $25 be charged for the cross-

His recommendation along these lines was accepted by the committee and sent n to the council.

While the question was under discus
