FOULLY MURDERED Operator at Small Station on Temiska-ming and Northern Railway Kill-ed by Section Man.

Dr. Jose Madriz Unanimously

Fleeted By Microscott

NORTH BAY, Ont., Dec. 22.—Redwater, a flag station on the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario railway, fifty-six miles north of North Bay, was the scene of a brutal murder last night, the victim being Operator W. J. Dyson.

The tragedy occurred about 6 o'clock when a man entered the station and became boisterous. Dyson attempted to eject the intruder and a fight ensued. Suddenly another man rushed in and struck Dyson with a club, crushing his skull, and he sank dying to the floor, living only a short time.

Two sectionmen named Morin and Two sectionmen named Morin and Cornish were arrested by provincial constables for the murder. The prisoners were brought to North Bay on a special train early this morning together with the body of Dyson.

gether with the body of Dyson.

Cornish's story of the tragedy is that he had words with Dyson over orders given by the latter to unload a car of coal. The quarrel resulted in a fight, and Dyson threw Cornish on the floor and was pounding him when Morin rushed in with a heavy club and struck Dyson repeatedly over the head until he rolled over on the floor unconscious and bleeding. Cornish and Morin returned to their shack, where they remained until arrested. Morin admits using the club but says he had no intention of causing death. Both prisoners are young men. Morin 21 and Cornish 25.

The murdered man was only 22

Increased Taxes on Liquor Arouses Opposition of the Dealers and Hotel Men

ment. They add that the new taxes would, if enforced, "complete the ruin of the small trades people, and also of the hotelkeepers, who are already overburdened," and they have empowered their representatives to bring this resolution to the notice of the president of the council and the minister of finance.

In the course of an instructive conversation after this meeting, the president of their syndicate said that they meant to be even more energetic than the National Federation of dealers in liquor. For one thing, they were resolved to oppose the constant increase of the number of functionaries, some liquor. For one thing, they were resolved to oppose the constant increase of the number of functionaries, some of whom received thousands of dollars per annum, but did absolutely nothing. Since 1900 the taxes had increased at an enormous rate, and now they were all resolved to oppose the deputies for Paris and the provinces, who might vote the new taxes when the general election came off.
