imagining your correspondent was defunct. I am practising very steadily at writing on the cars and I hope soon to be able to pen you letters while travelling at the rate of sixty miles an hour, or thereabouts. Unless I get up this accomplishment my letters will be few and far between I fancy, as all our time is passed either in playing or travelcity wewere in on May 23. On the 24th we reached Edinburgh. By an especial favor the team were allowed to occupy windows in the Waterloo hotel, from which to view the Lord High Commissioner's procession. We rushed frantically with our luggage to our hotel, tumbled perspiringly into our good clothes, and after a hard struggle through a dense crowd we reached the windows allotted to us just in time to see a man with a cocked hat pass by in a carriage, and the procession was over. We told the man who owned the windows that we would never forget his kindness and then left.

Tremendous crowds greeted us at the Grange cricket club grounds. At first the match was very tame, and the Canadians had it all their own way with the Indians. The latter were playing without their captain, Big John, who was laid up with a sore leg. A messenger was dispatched for this renowned warrior, and when he appeared on the grounds in full war-paint and feathers new life seemed to flow into his followers, and the remainder of the match was decidedly lively. The audience got excited; the players saw that their efforts were appreciated, and the fun was fast and furious, and the impression left in Edinburgh is that lacrosse is a magnificent game.

The program laid out for us was to start for London the next morning early, but we decided to astonish ourselves by taking a holiday, so we stayed in Edinburgh all the 25th, and we will never regret it. Of beautiful cities, Edinburgh is, beyond doubt, the queen. We said good bye to Scotland in the evening. It isn't a bad sort of a country. If they would only abolish feather beds, put gas in the bedrooms, and dispense with candles, and stop charging extra for porridge, I wouldn't mind spending another day in Scotland. I expect that there will be enormous emigration to Canada from the districts in which we played. We have distributed a terrible amount of reading matter and told an awful-let of stories of the beauties of the Canadian climate. If the government don't give us each a pension selves ill-treated.

The Scotch part of our trip was a hard one, but the boys have all stood it pretty well, and they are now in very good trim and make quite a formidable team. McNaught has played goal in nearly every match, and has played goal in nearly every match, and has played it splendidly. Mackenzie and Bonnell are as usual point and coverpoint, Garvin is playing a splendid defence field, Dwight unfortunately hurt his leg in Glasgow and was not able to play again in Scotland, but he is now all right Struthers is in his element, and jokes as much as he wants to, and that is a lot. Smith is prettier than ever, both in looks and in his game. Of the Montreal contingent, Aird does tremendous execution on the home, and has to be held in or he would accree a game a minute. Fraser, Craven, the home, and has to be held in or he would acore a game a minute. Fraser, Craven, Bowie and Griffin do the fielding, and they are a big four. Bowie, although an old-timer like McNaught, has renewed his youth and is as fast as ever. Nicholson and Cleghorn are on the home and are playing a good steady game. Last, &c., comes our captain, Dr. Beers, who is here, there and everywhere, full of new ideas, good schemes, emigration, lacrosse, loyalty, excitement and headaches.

The Indians have a very good team, and by the time they reach Canada, will be about perfect. White Eagle, Lefevre, Beauvais, Hamrocks, Strong Arm and Dominique are simost enough for a team themselves, Dominique especially. Without axception, he is the best player, whether Indian or Canadian, that I have ever seen.

I find I have spun out this letter too long to give you an account of our arrival in to give you an account of our arrival in London and our rambles since. I shall take the first opportunity of doing so. Meanwhile adieu. London, June 5, 1883.

THE FIEWS OF LI HUNG CHANG.

Mights in America. SHANGHAI, June 18 .- Tricou, the special envoy of France, has delivered to Li Hung Chang the ultimatum respecting the Chinese suzerainty of Annam with the ultimatum of war and has demanded an immediate answer. Should Chinese soldiers be found in Annam they will be shot as banditti by the French. Should China make a movement of troops or ships to Annam it will be regarded as an act of war. He insists that China shall make instant and absolute with. drawal of her pretensions, France proposing power, and intimates that France may demand of China the expenses of the expedition because Chinese action rendered the expedition necessary. There is a rumor exciting alarm in Japan to the effect that Li Hung Chang means suddenly to arrange matters with France and throw his torces against Japan, with whom there is an ancient griavance. Li Hung Chang decises sient grievance. Li Hung Chang denies The American minister strennously urges settlement, regarding Li Hung Chang as the sole statesman favoring progress in China, and would regard his fall as throwing China M.P.P., and Mr. Bryson, M.P. for Pontiac, and would regard his fall as throwing China into the arms of the reactionary party, and gravely wounding foreign interests. Li says he is very anxious to arrive at a settlement, but from time immemorial Tonquin and Anuam had been Chinese tributaries. It has many times happened that the emperor of China sent armies to Annam during periods of disaffection to compel the return of the people to their allagiance. China mever interfered in their local affairs, but regards their provinces as the United States regards Texas or Ohio. It was the emperor of China who suppressed the rebellion regards Texas or Ohio. It was the emperor of China who suppressed the rebellion against the reigning princes; it was the emperor of China who changed the dynasty, and tribute has always been paid in recognition of his suzerian power. The Duc Decazes, he says, forced the Annam treaty, utterly ignoring the Chinese suzzrainty. China protested, advancing her ancient inalienable rights. France did not deign even to answer the protest. Li will not, however, despair of preserving peace until he has appealed frankly to the sense of justice and honor of the great french people. He firmly believes that they will never support a ministry that wantonly infringes and violates the right of China hitherto undisturbed and consecrated from time immemorial. If war comes it will be because war is forced upon China; because China is driven to the wall. All resources of ciplomacy will, however, first be exhausted, and he will esyecially seek the good offices of America.

THE BELMONT-DEVOY SUIT.

The Editor Sentenced to the Penitentiary. New York, June 19 .- John Devoy, editor of the Irish Nation, who was convicted yesterday of libelling Augustus Belmont, banker, was to-day sentenced to sixty days imprisonment in the penitentiary.

In his speech to the court Devoy claimed that his trial was not fair, as Judge Cowing presided at the previous trial and that the judgment of the court was biased. He did not regard the character of Belmont vindicated by the verdict, but still held him responsible for the loss of Irish funds, and the result would not deter him in future from twing to recover the money.
