The Beaver River, which finds its outlet at Thornbury, runs through Clarksburg, and in this section Nature seems to have given it special advantages towards building up a large and prosperous manufacturing community. The river is among the best water powers in the Province, and here it can be utilized eight times without the second manufactured with such economical advantages to the second manufacture of the second manufacture of the second manufactured with such economical advantages to the second manu and here it can be utilized eight times without going out of the school section. The owners of the land and water power, instead of the dog. in the manger policy which has had such a blighting effect on many towns specially favored by Nature, offer the most liberal inducements to manufacturiers of every kind. The result is that the hum of many industries is the all familiar sound. The manufacturing industries already in operation are as follows:

CITY OF MEXICO, Dec, 22 -The celebrated team of Spanish bull fighters who rece rrived here from Seville performed before 30,000 excited Mexicans yesterday. There was a great crush, and at 3 o'clock the crowd in the NEW COACHES NOW LEAVE: mphitheatre was so great that the sale of tinued. A band of music was playing and everybody was impatiently waiting the Alderman who was to preside as judge of the fight.

At 3 o'clock the judge, accompanied by his buglers, entered the box, over which was sus-pended a bull's head. His arrival was the signal for a general cheering, which did not subside until after the Despegador de la Plaza entered the ring. The latter personage was dressed as a knight of St. John, and rode a utifully-caparisoned horse, and with his tom was revived. After displayin markable horsemanship he approached the shady side of the plaza, where the judge was sitting, and, taking off his hat, respectfull asked him for the key to the torre, where the buils were confined. The judge tossed it to him, and after unlocking the door he retired from the ring. The bugle then sounded the call for the bull fighters, and as they filed into the aren with Mancho at their head scores of hate went over the paling into the ring. Nearly everybody arose and shouted as Mancho ressed the judge, saying in effect, that the bulla that he was to kill to-day were for him

Mext he tackled the picador, Francisco Lasqued, striking his horse with his horns with his horns with his horns with his horns and throwing the steed and his rider to the spread and throwing the steed and his rider to the ground. The ahimal gored fatally three horses before the bugle sounded for the barbed durts, and was chased behind the buladero. El Rochand entered and placed the banderillos in good shape. Following him canse Bonarillo, who defied the animal. The bull entered, and by a seratch he managed to place the barbs where they belonged. Rochand, to show his againty ran in a circle and put the banderillos on beth sides of the bull's neck amid the wildest applause. He was then given over to Mancho, who made two false strokes. In the third he gave the estocado, which cansed the animal's death.

The second bull came into the ring with a rush. He was a magnificent animal, with open horis and long neck. He charged Federico Gochicoa's horse, but the agile picador poised his spike so as to throw the sminnal off. He this neck animal off.
