It is claimed by the English that last year they completed the longest bridge in the world in their East-India possessions. It consists of fifty-four spans of 142 feet each, thus making 9,300 feet or more than one and three quarter miles long. It is all built of brick and iron; the masonry amounts to 5,000,000 cubic feet, while the iron girders weigh 6,000 tons.

Cox Brothers, of this town, have just completed a set of furnaces for the new Baptist Church at Lawrenceport. They are made especially for burning wood, and we learn that they are giving good satisfaction. The cost compared with furnaces made in the United States is less than one half. The outside shells are made of Russia iron, with linings of tin, the stove used is a cylinder with a sheet iron top. The stove and castings are made at the Bridgetown Foundry, by W. A. Craig. There are several places of worship now being erected on the country which would save many dollars by ordering their heating apparatus from Mr. Cox, instead of sending away for the same.

ENTERPRISING EFFORT.

Messrs. Vincent & McPate have removed their Larrigan and Slipper Factory to the second floor of the spacious brick building owned and partially occupied by Wm. Peters, Esq., Union Street. The apartment is neatly arranged, and affords to the proprietors of the Factory an splendid opportunity to develop their daily increasing trade. It is heated with steam pipes fitted up by Mr. Myers, and is provided with fifteen new machines in addition to those formerly in use in the old Factory in Portland.

The proprietors anticipate from their increased facilities a large increase of business; indeed, the large orders which they are daily receiving for articles in their line fully warrant the statement that they will more than double their former business. The statement is a gratifying one to make, especially as the proprietors—Vincent & McPate, are men of acknowledged ability, energy and business tact. They are moreover, as any of their customers will testify, straightforward and honorable in their dealings. In the Larrigan line especially they have no superiors in the Maritime Provinces, and who either sell or use them can testify, and in the Slipper trade they are admittedly a front rank.—St. John News.

We are personally acquainted with Messrs. Vincent & McPate, and heartily recommend them to those of our readers who may want any goods in their line—see advertisement.

HALIFAX CORRESPONDENCE.

HALIFAX, February 15th, 1877.—It has been often said since Confederation that the Local Legislature, having been denuded of much of its former power, and carrying on the Governments in subordination to the more elevated authorities at Ottawa with a diminished revenue, had ceased to be an object of commanding interest in the general appreciation of the people; but during the last two or three days public feeling has been somewhat excited by the incidents pertaining to the opening of the present Session. Early in the week the members of both branches, who reside in the rural districts began to arrive in the city. All sorts of rumors, started that such overtures and secret negotiations between antagonistic party leaders were transpiring as would culminate in an amalgamation of by-gone political views and interests. These rumors are said to be true, and understand every thing that is taking place behind the unlifted curtain of public life, who by some mysterious power of divination or necromancy are cognizant of whatever is said and done in the privacy of rooms, and who, like weather prophets, can forecast the un-developed course of political events with unerring precision, boldly asserted that the opening of the legislative session, would disclose astounding party combinations and changes. A new Speaker and a Second Clerk were to be elected, and these prognosticators affirmed that it would be impossible to elect either unless a coalition was amicably effected. A good many people were on the tip-toe of feverish expectancy yesterday. In the forepart of the day, there were gatherings in groups to discuss the probabilities of coming events, and there were whisperings in corners, the import of which ordinary people, like your correspondent, could not guess. To me these utterances were like the contents of a sealed book. They might either be fraught with wisdom, or be the ebullitions of groundless surmises, or of egregious folly. The Sixty storm was not regarded with more nervous apprehensions by some than was the opening of the Session.

At length the hour appointed for the Lieutenant Governor, to ascend the Provincial Throne came. You will see by the City Papers that a military guard and the firing of a royal salute were accompaniments of His Honor's entrance into our local parliament House. At the same time, it was manifest that the citizens of Halifax were as much interested in the opening of a legislative session as they were in the "olden time," when confeder-

The annual revenue of China is said to be $125,000,000, raised by taxes on land, grain, the transit of goods, foreign import, and a few other subjects, and by the sale of ranks and degrees. Less than thirty millions are raised by the taxation of land.
