Policy of New Zealand Toronto, April 1911. "Square Deal", official organ of the Tax Reform and Direct Legislation League of Ontario reports that in an interesting interview with the editor of the Toronto Globe, the Hon. Dr. Finlay, Minister of Justice of the Government of New Zealand, who with the Prime Minister, Sir. Jos. Ward, was on his way to the Conference of the Colonial Premiers in London, gave some interesting information regarding the solving of the vexed land question in New Zealand. With only a limited area, and with private estates of 200,000 acres devoted to sheep raising and supporting only a few shepherds, the situation grew up akin to that in Britain. The Government "reclaimed" much of the land, leased it to small farmers, loaned capital upon it, provided needed facilities, and conveniences, and in the end disapproved every argument of the obstructionists by showing wide spread prosperity and trebled land values. One-sixth of all New Zealand is now held by the Crown and will not be sold but only leased in small holdings at reasonable rentals and revealed after sixty-six years. Absolutely and very particular our land policy has been justified said Dr. Finlay, and he did not refer to the refrain of the campaign song of the British radicals, "God made the land for the people." The policy of the Government of New Zealand, as Dr. Finlay describes it, is very different from that of Ontario. "The policy of our government says Dr. Finlay, "is not to delay Leis a moment until we have, or claim or there, or the pressure of half instructed public opinion under crowds us into action. Our plan is to lead. There came a time when it was plain that New Zealand was face to face with a crisis. Things could not go on as they had been going, without revolt and reaction. The ideal was received of what kind of place New Zealand ought to be and it has been the aim of our policy to work steadily and determinedly towards that ideal. We have sixty million acres and one million people, and our purpose is to make each of those acres yield the utmost good for the people, and to secure to each of these people access to all the opportunities which life in New Zealand affords. Access to opportunity, as Dr. Finlay understood it, meant access to the land as source of wealth, access to education, free and efficient as essential to the right of opportunity to wholehearted conditions of life, and reward; access to justice such as gives the poorest seamstress as fair a chance before the court as the wealthiest corporation; access to capital at moderate rates of interest and easy terms of payment; access to all the conveniences provided by railways, telephones, and other public services at the minimum cost to the state; and access to insurance against accidents and a pension for old age.

THE CONTAMINATING HOUSEFLY (From the Philadelphia Inquirer.) So recognized has the common house-fly become as a disease-producer that, for a number of years past, physicians and others interested in promoting healthful conditions have repeatedly called attention to its destructive influences and issued warnings against it. It seems a somewhat significant coincidence that just about the time Dr. James M. Anders was inveighing against it at the pure milk show, Dr. Neff was engaged in writing a bulletin calling attention to the dangers that lurk in food that has been exposed to it. In his address at the show Dr. Anders concluded his remarks by saying: "Above all, keep the common house fly out of the milk, for it is a most harmful agency, if permitted to gain access, since it is acknowledged carrier of disease-producing germs." Dr. Anders is one of the recognized medical authorities of this city and each a warning coming from him is invested with more than ordinary importance. Both of these warnings are timely. Throughout the whole country the press is engaged in an agitation concerning the fly, and the importance of the campaign against the contaminating little pest cannot be underestimated. By taking the most ordinary precautions, householders can keep their homes free from these insects. At this season of the year screening is the best kind of insect screen. It can be had very cheaply and the lack of it is the sort of economy that borders on criminal negligence. By keeping one's premises free from refuse, garbage cans well closed and devoting attention to other little details of a similar nature the housefly can be reduced in number. It is a labor that is well worth the time and will pay for itself ten times over.

How, with this new point of view, he works back to prosperity again, how his wife helps him, and how they save on $9.00 a week where they hadn't been able to on $30.00 is the rest of the tale. It is a thoroughly original, though provoking little story, but it is particularly because of the part that Ruth, his wife, takes, that I want you middle-class women to read it. Her studies in economy--the economy of thrifty buying, but merely of doing without, ought to be suggestive to every woman who is appalled by the high cost of living.

EVERY WOMAN SHOULD READ THIS LETTER And Take Mrs. Ripley's Advice Lots of women are suffering tortures with their backs, when they need not do so. Mrs. Ripley had such frightful pains in her back that she could not do her housework. She tells how she cured herself. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS. "I cannot refrain from writing you about the benefits I have received from taking GIN PILLS. I suffering dreadfully with my back and have suffered with it for twenty years. I tried everything but got no relief, until I bought GIN PILLS. I have taken six boxes of GIN PILLS and now I have not the sign of an ache or pain in my back. I am now 48 years of age and feel as well as I ever did in my life. There is nothing that can hold a place with GIN PILLS for curing Pain in The Back to which women are subject." Mrs. MILLANOR P. RIPLEY. Try GIN PILLS at our expense. Write for free sample box. Dealers sell GIN PILLS at 50c a box--6 for $2.50 and money refunded if they fail to cure. National Drug and Chemical Co., Dept. N. One Man's Way Have you--"you" this time means particularly the housewives of the middle class--read Will Carleton's "One Way Out?" If you haven't, you should at once. No, I am not attempting to press agent the book. I am merely voicing a warm conviction. "One Way Out," is the story of a man who is typically of the modest salaried middle class, with a standard of living just above its means. At the age of thirty-eight this man, with very little laid by and a wife and boy of eleven dependent upon him, loses his position. He has only a highly specialized knowledge, almost useless outside of the office where he has been employed for many years, and when he starts his hunt for employment he is unaided and turned down by employers, who all want younger men or men with some more specific training. After some horrible weeks of this humiliating and hopeless hunting he happens to find out by accident that Murphy, the man who empties his ashes, is building houses and putting his sons through college. He looks about him and realizes that not only Murphy but other immigrants are making good to an astonishing degree and he suddenly thinks he sees "one way out"--that is, to immigrate to America and start where the immigrant does and take what offers regardless of pride of class. His wife approves. They sell their furniture and with $100 clear start life anew in one of Murphy's tenements--rent $3.00 a week. The next day he secures work as a laborer with a subway construction gang at $1.50 a day. He has immigrated to America and they begin the new life by looking about them to find what opportunities and possibilities are open to them. Now, with this new point of view, he works back to prosperity again, how his wife helps him, and how they save on $9.00 a week where they hadn't been able to on $30.00 is the rest of the tale.

HEAVY ELECTRICAL STORM AT LIVERPOOL Gilbert Fawkes' House Was Struck And all the Windows Shattered. Liverpool, N.S., May 30--Liverpool experienced the worst electric storm in its history this morning. In every direction trees were struck, while the power house five miles up the river sustained slight dynamo damage, plunging the town in darkness. By dawn, the tempest had worked out to sea. Just enough rain fell to extinguish the forest fire that had been blazing for some days in this vicinity. Much property was destroyed fifteen miles west of here. The house of Gilbert Fawkes, Bruce Harbor, was struck and all the windows torn out. No one was injured. A despatch from Yarmouth says: A heavy lightning and rain storm visited this section Monday night breaking a long spell of dry weather. The rain was very much needed by our farmers. Lightning struck the house of George Johnson at Plymouth, doing considerable damage. No one was injured.

President Taft's Great Step Towards Universal Peace Dr. Dandurand of Montreal Speaks Before the Mohonk Lake Conference on International Arbitration--Canadians Will Hail with Enthusiasm the Conclusions of Such a Fact. Mohonk Lake, May 25--In discussing the proposed Anglo-American arbitration treaty before the Lake Mohonk conference on international arbitration today, Royal Dandurand, LL.D., of Montreal member of the Canadian senate, said in part: "Mr. Taft's offer to arbitrate all questions of disagreement without reservation whatever is the most important and serious step towards the goal of universal peace which has been made since creation. The acceptance of the suggestion by Great Britain's foremost representative men, Messrs. Aquith and Balfour, should insure the signing of this treaty. It was fitting that this offer should come from the American republic and go primarily to Great Britain. Let us all hope that the terms of this agreement will be drafted in the same liberal and lofty spirit in which the offer was made and accepted.

"This document will be an object lesson for the world. It will be the foundation of the league of peace to which will gradually rally all the nations. I venture to prophesy that the French republic will then give its cordial adhesion to this policy alliance. "Canadians will hail with enthusiasm the conclusion of such a compact, because they will see in it the promise of immunity from ever-increasing armament. They have lived, up to the present, the happiest people in the world, without any fear of attack from a foreign foe. The day is at hand when the responsibilities of nationhood will weigh heavily upon their shoulders. Their greatest desire, their prayer is, that they may be protected against the plague of militarism." There is one medicine that every family should be provided with and especially during the summer months; viz, Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed. It costs but a quarter. Can you afford to be without it? For sale by all dealers.

MONOPOLISTIC GREED. The city of Prince Rupert, British Columbia, recently paid to the Prince Rupert Power and Light Company $15,018.75 for the water and power rights of Woodworth Lake and its outlet to Shavants Lake. The important thing to note is that the city pays not for any material thing but merely for the privilege of using one of the undeveloped natural resources of the country, and that the city paid the money not to the British Columbia Government, but to a private corporation.
