"THE OUTLOOK." New York, sides with the Allies in the European War.
It says, editorially, "History will hold the German Emperor responsible for the war in Europe. Austria would never have made her indefensible attack on Serbia, if she had not been assured the fore-hand of the support of Germany.
The German Emperor's consent to cooperate with England in mediation would have halted Austria's advance."

At the same time The Outlook allows a large liberty in its pages to the opinions of different writers on this subject.
This is not unwise as it furnishes to its readers the opportunity of ascertaining the strongest things which can be said pro and con upon a matter which is attracting the very close attention of people in every part of the world.

In the number for Sept. 9th, we find an article entitled "Germany's Object in the War."
This article is devoted to a review of a volume published in 1911 by the German General Bernhardi. He credits the German people with being a peace loving nation. He believes that a rude shock is necessary to awaken Germany's military instincts and compel it to show its military strength, and that aspirations for peace threaten to poison the soul of the German people. And he presents three reasons why war is not merely a necessary element in the life of nations, but an indispensable factor in culture.
It is worth while to look a little closely at these alleged reasons.

The first is that war is a biological necessity. By this the General means that when the people of a nation grow in numbers, wealth and power, and need larger territory for the display of their energy, they must obtain it by conquest.
France, he says, must be so completely crushed that she can never again cross our path. In such a case might is regarded as right. But, it might be regarded as right, it is right for the individual. And every bully who covets the belonging of a weaker neighbor is justified in taking forcible possession of them, even if in doing so he takes the life of his neighbor.

The second and third of the alleged reasons are that war is a moral, and also a Christian necessity. This appeal to morality and Christianity implies that war is for the purpose of aggression and conquest,—for it is of such wars that Gen. Bernhardi is speaking—find justification in the teaching of the Divine Author of the Christian system. We may then rightly ask for the chapter and verse which authorize this implication, and we are confident that none can be found. The Great Teacher paints a realistic picture of one of the despotic monarchies of the ancient times, when subjects were simply servants of the royal will, tools in the hands of an autocrat for the accomplishment of his ambitious pleasures and designs. And, under this picture, he writes, for the instruction of his disciples, whether Kings or people, in all ages, "It shall not be so among you." The King, the Emperor, the President is to be respected and honored in his high position, but is bound by the Christian rule to exercise his prerogatives as the servant of the people and for their good. "The State! that is myself," said the haughty Louis of France, and the result is the French Republic.

General Bernhardi, writing as we have said in 1911, goes on to say that war is a peculiar necessity for Germany at the present time. "Germany is to succeed in guarding its present possession and preserving the German nationality in its present form throughout the world, it must not hold back in the hard struggle for the sovereignty of the world. "The Sovereignty of the world!" That phrase represents the real aim of the military despotism of which the Kaiser is the head. But, Germany is a Christian nation. The Kaiser himself has often preached to the officers and sailors on his yacht, as well as on other occasions. But is he practising what he has preached?

Victor Hugo in his Les Miserables brings before his readers the good Bishop, tells of the good he did by his influence and example, and remarks by way of explanation, "I suspect he got it from the Gospels." Did the Kaiser get from the Gospels the privilege of violating his solemn treaty with Albert of Belgium, regarding it, to use the words of his Chancellor, as a mere "scrap of paper?" When his neighbor, Albert of Belgium, was attacked, did he call for the aid of his country on its revengeful mission, did the Kaiser find in the Gospels the authority to bombard the cities of Belgium, lay in ashes the homes of its people, and to murder in cold-blood defenceless women and children and unarmed men?

To ask such questions is to answer them. Such untruthfulness and barbarity find no justification in the Gospels.
When nations unite in war to defend their institutions and their people from the assaults of despots, the results are sufficiently deplorable. But wars of ambition and revenge belong to another category and can only be characterized as diabolic.

Monday Evening's Patriotic Concert

The Patriotic Concert held in the Court House on Monday evening was a most gratifying success both from the standpoint of the programme rendered and the financial results.
Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather the house was well filled by an enthusiastic and appreciative audience.
The soloists were all in good voice and entered into their selections with splendid spirit.
The various choruses were all pleasingly rendered and called forth great applause, as were also the readings by Mrs. Warren and Mrs.
Harlow, and the stump speech by Mr. Burns. The drills and formations in the choruses were faultlessly executed, and reflected great credit on the performers and on Mr. Gill who instructed.

Mrs. A. F. Little and Mrs. F. R.
Beckwith were the accompanists for the various vocal numbers.
The stage was very prettily and appropriately decorated for the occasion by a committee composed of Mrs. I. B. Freeman, Mrs. Henry B.
Hicks and Mrs. F. R. Fay.
Altogether the programme was among the best ever given by local talent, and when it is considered that less than a week was given to preparation, it shows that one and all were deeply interested in their parts. Special credit is due Mr. F.
R. Beckwith who had charge of the programme.
The proceeds, which amounted to the splendid sum of $103.00 will be used for the purchase of larrigans, and will augment the magnificent gift of five dozen pairs contributed by MacKenzie, Crowe & Co. Young ladies sold advanced tickets and Miss Retta Brittain headed the list with the largest number of tickets sold and received a box of chocolates as a reward.

HYMENEAL

WOODWARD-WALKER.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Walker, Upper Granville on Wednesday morning, Sept. 23rd when their only daughter, Mary Emelia was united in marriage to Mr. William C. Woodward, of Granville.
The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. Reynolds, assisted by the Rev. G. O. Warren.
The bride who was given away by her father, looked charming in a tailored suit of navy blue with blue plush hat and carried a handsome bouquet. The principal stood beneath a lovely arch of fern and sweet peas and the room was prettily decorated with cut flowers.
After the ceremony the couple went by auto to Bridgetown from where they proceeded to St. John thence to Halifax and points of interest in Nova Scotia. The bride was the recipient of many useful presents evinced the esteem in which she is held in the community.

BEALS-YOUNG.

The home of Mr. Elwood Young, Lake Pleasant, N. S., was the scene of a quiet, but a pretty wedding on Monday evening, Sept. 21st, when his daughter, Flossie Carolyn was united in marriage to Vernon D. Beals, of East Inglisville.
The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Johnson, of New Germany in the presence of the immediate relatives. At 8.30 o'clock to strains of "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden," sung by three girl friends of the bride, the bride and groom, who were unattended, entered the parlor.
The bride looked charming in a gown of navy blue messaline silk and carried a bouquet of white asters and asparagus fern. The bride's travelling suit was gray broadcloth, with hat to match. The groom's gift to the bride was a brooch set with pearls.
After the ceremony a sumptuous repast was served. A large number of young people assembled to greet and congratulate the happy couple. Mr. and Mrs. Beals left next morning for Halifax via Middleton, and will return the South Shore road. They will live at East In-glisville. The friends all join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Beals a happy wedding.

Annapolis County Sunday School Association

The forty-first annual convention of the Annapolis County Sunday School Association which was held in the Methodist Church, Clementsport on Wednesday, Sept. 16th, was thought to be the best in its history.
The beautiful weather, the hearty welcome, and whole hearted hospitality of the people, the enthusiasm of the speakers, and a very good number of delegates combined to make everybody glad and happy to be present and they feel they would want to attend another. Seven out of nine districts in the county were represented by delegates from the various schools. There were six pastors, five superintendents, seventeen teachers, twenty-five pupils and twelve district and county officers present. The three sessions were well attended.

The morning session opened with a devotional service conducted by W.
V. Vroom, a veteran in Sunday School work, after which the President, Captain F. A. Brown, presided.
The President's address and the report of the Secretary-Treasurer were the leading features of the morning session.
Although the President felt he had not accomplished as much during the year as he would have liked, yet he is greatly interested in every department of Sunday School work and emphasized the advantage of holding public meetings in each district. It would be the means of creating a greater interest in Sunday School work. A resolution was passed that each district hold three public meetings during the year.

Our Field Secretary, Dr. J. W.
Brown was present, and was prepared to give information and help regarding Sunday School work as well as encouragement and enthusiasm.
The Secretary-Treasurer gave a very clear and satisfactory report, showing more money collected this year for interdenominational work than ever before. Only $20.00 remains to be collected to make the apportionment for the county complete.

The afternoon devotional service was conducted by Rev. Mr. McWiliams, of Granville.
Of the eight superintendents of departments only three were present to report. Mrs. C. W. Hoffman on Temperance, Mrs. C. S. Balcom, Elementary and Mrs. Amos Frail, I.
B. R. The absent ones sent reports which were read. These reports were good and showed progress in the work.
After music by the choir, Mrs.
Geo. Pearson, of Paradise, gave an address which was listened to with much interest and pleasure. She spoke particularly of the lack of interest on the part of men and women in regard to the Sunday School and many of these are parents. If the parents are not interested; what of the children?

Music again after which the Rev.
J. N. Ritey, of Middleton, gave an able address on the Relation of the Denominational and Inter-denominational Sunday School Field Work.
This was an important subject and all were much interested. A discussion followed.

At the close of the afternoon session, refreshments were served in the basement of the church and a social hour was enjoyed by all present.
Rev. H. J. Indoe, of Granville Ferry conducted the Devotional Service in the evening.
Miss Spurr, of Melvern S-nars gave a report of the Summer School at Berwick, after which Rev. O. P.
Brown, of Clements-port preached an earnest and energetic sermon very acceptably.
A duet by Miss McKay and Prof.
Morris, of Melvern S-nars gave a report of the Summer School at
Berwick, after which Rev. O. P.
acceptably.

Birthday Social at Bear River

The W. M. A. S. of the Bear River Baptist Church held a Birthday Social in the vestry of their church on Wednesday evening, Sept. 23rd.
The room was tastefully decorated for the occasion with flags, potted plants and ferns.
Invitations, enclosing tiny silk bags, had been sent out to the various members of church and congregation, and right well all responded to this unique celebration of their birthday. The little bags being returned with pennies corresponding to the sum of the donor's age. The handsome sum of $53.00 being thus acquired for missions; to be added to amounts already raised.
All were warmly welcomed and the parlor was well filled with a musical and literary programme followed which is given below.
The Pres., Mrs. L. H. Crandall, gave a most gracious welcome to those present and in a clear and forceful manner presented the claims of missions; and the need for gratitude and thankfulness that should animate the breast of every true Canadian because of our relation to the Great British Empire. And what could give better expression to such impulses than giving to the great cause of missions.

The music rendered by the church orchestra and the solo by Miss Annie Miller deserve special mention.
After the programme a half hour was devoted to refreshments and general good time.
