

eighty cents ($7.80) ; which amount I have handed to Miss Clarke, it having been given me at Miss Crombie's request for the Indian work, which she thought would need it most.

With this home and its workings I am delighted, as it far exceeded my expectations. Happy are the children that come under such influences, and are trained in habits of neatness, obedience and reverence, besides the elementary branches of education ; the work is certainly deserving of all confidence and support. I feel thankful to be here where I may do my share in the great work.

Sunday was a very interesting day to me. During the hour spent in Sabbath-school, I learned that their lesson was carefully prepared, and that they understood the truths of the Bible. The afternoon service in the Indian church should put many of our white brothers and sisters to shame. After the sermon, delivered in Indian, Mr. Tate gave an opportunity for any to speak, to which invitation fifteen responded, and though I understood not what they said I felt its influence upon me, and that we were indeed brothers and sisters in Christ Jesus.

In our class-meeting, Tuesday evening, my heart was touched when I heard the children's voices raised in praise and thanksgiving to our Heavenly Father.

Extracts of a Letter

From Mrs. Tucker, Saskatoon.

I will endeavour to explain to you our method of distributing the clothing sent :—There is a vacant room over the school-room which we use as a store-room, when a box arrives the contents are packed away, stockings in one place, shoes in another, coats in another, like any store. At Xmas the pupils get an entire outfit, every pupil treated the same. Men and women and the small children are also clad. The clothing is all fitted on, I give instructions or do myself the necessary changing. Then in the spring we give them another outfit, suitable for summer wear. By this means the children are well dressed all the year. Only a few able-bodied men and women buy their clothing. The Indian women cannot make over the garments sent by them-
