How Signals to Ekowe were Established. In the course of a letter from Maritzburg, dated April the 1st, the correspondent of the Western Morning News, as the result of a visit to Fort Tenedos, relates the way in which signalling to Ekowe was established. He writes :-

When Lord Chelmsford visited Tenedos it became evident that Colonel Pearson was so thoroughly surrounded that the chance of his runners getting through was hopeless. Thereupon it occurred to Lieutenant Charles Haynes, of the Royal Engineers, that by means of the heliograph the rays of the sun might be made to do duty. On suggesting this to Lord Chelmsford, the general was far from sanguine, while his staff were more than incredulous. Nevertheless, permission was given. The difficulties were formidable. In the first place, no mirrors were obtainable, and a small bedroom looking-glass had to do duty. There were no mechanical workmen at hand, and all the apparatus was of the roughest description. Then there was the secondary difficulty of attracting the attention of the Ekowe garrison, 30 miles distant, and making them realise what was being attempted. The chances of success rested on the fact that the Naval Brigade, to which, of course, tlashing signals were familiar, was with Colonel Pearson. One morning Lieutenant Haynes, accompanied by a party of niggers carrying his material, sallied forth to a high hill four miles distant, whence the tower of Ekowe church was visible. When all was adjusted signalling began, and was continued with patience day by day whenever a gleam of sunshine was obtainable; but a whole week elapsed before any indications were obtained from the beleaguered men that his tlashes were observed. By the burning of occasional whiffs of gunpowder attention was at length attracted, and, long after a less persevering man on an exposed hill-top for chances to signal, gallant officer has had the honour of receiving Lord Chelmsford's personal thanks for his ingenuity and patience. __ .

NATURALIST'S PORTFOLIO.

THE HUMAN HEART .- This organ is 6 inches in length, 4 inches in diameter, and beats 70 times per minute, 4,500 per hour, 100,800 per Finance and Commerce day, and 26,817,200 times per year.

THE LADY AND THE SNAKE .- A lady of fashion-Madame Musard-startled Paris some time ago by appearing at a representation de gala with a live snake around her arm. The snake was bound with a thin chain to a splendid diamond bracelet and at once became a subject of intense excitement to the audience. Several weak imitations in the shape of live lizards, etc., made their appearance in the following days.

A BARBAROUS FASHION.—Referring to the wholesale destruction of birds for the adornment of ladies' bonnets and hats, a contemporary states that a German dealer recently received a consignment of 32,000 dead humming birds, 80,000 bodies of various aquatic birds, and 800,000 pairs of wings. The same paper suggests that as, owing to the substitution of birds for ribbons, the ribbon trade of Coventry is suffering, ladies of fashion might do both their fellow-creatures and the birds much good by reverting to ribbons for the adornment of their headgear.

CASHMERE GOATS IN NEVADA .- Pure Cashmere goats, it is said, find in Nevada, U.S., an acceptable climate where their health is excellent, and their fleeces are unusually fine and silky. A single herder near Carson has a flock of over three thousand, and is making money grass among the bitter sage-brush to fee unliinited numbers of these animals, and, the winter comes, the frost at once sweetens the bitterness of the sage, and turns it into pasturage quite as nourishing and pleasant | figures last quoted, with apparently no deto a goat's palate as the food he finds in the summer. By this provision of nature these animals are kept at little or no expense.

THE LOBSTER GETTING SCARCER.—The lobster is rapidly following the footsteps of the defunct dodo. It is getting scarcer and scarcer every year, and it only requires a school boy with his pencil to show that it will soon disappear it not protected. The Maine Legislature has been petitioned to protect the luscious lobster, and the assistance of Congress is to be asked. "Oh, Congress, share the lob, touch not a single claw," we hear the Maine men sol as they invoked the law. The fact is that the canning factories demand lobsters all the year, while they should not be caught from August to November. The Legislature is asked to make that period a close season .-Syracuse Times.

A VENTRILOQUIAL BIRDSELLER .- A good story of ventriloquism is just now going the rounds in London. A lady passing out of her gateway in the West-end a few days ago saw a vendor of birds close by, and, admiring a fine | $28,124 represented re-exports. Compared bull-finch, inquired whether it could whistle, and what was its price. "The bird," said the seller, "madam, is thirty shillings, and it whistles, 'I'm leaving thee in sorrow, Annie,' as well as any man could do it," with which there came out a song apparently from the hird's mouth which quite startled the lady. The bird was bought, but it never whistled more, and the ventriloquist is still earnestly looked for all over Kensington and the Cromwell-road districts.

WOLF PLAYING 'Possum.-Reuben Lowry, of Anderson County, Kansas, was out hunting wolves one day during the snow. He got reported to be progressing satisfactorily. track of a wolf, and with his dogs followed to the timber, where he overtook it, and the wolf fought in the snow. Uncle Reuben, however. who was on horseback, managed to put a load of shot into the wolf. An old greyhound laid the wolf out on the snow apparently dead. Uncle Reuben had strings attached to his saddle behind to tie game to, and, lashing the carcass of the wolf to the saddle, he mounted for home. All unconscious of any difficulty, he awakened suddenly to the fact that the wolf had been playing possum, and was, making vigorous efforts to get away from the saddle-thongs. Uncle Reuben, of course, could no get off the horse to kill the wolf, and was in imminentdangerof being bitten where he was. He had the presence of mind, however, to watch his opportunity, and grabbed the beast by the neck in such a manner that it could not bite and held it there until he got home, where his grandson killed it.

A PERSISTENT Dog .- More than eight years ago a poor man named Gray died, and was buriep in the old Grey Friars' churchyard, Edinburgh. His grave is now levelled by time and nothing marks it. But the spot had hot been forgotten by his faithful dog. Sames Brown, the old curator, remembers the funeral well, and that Bobby was one of the most conspicuous of mourners. James found the dog lying on the grave the next morning; and as dogs are not admitted, he turned him out. The second morning the same; the third are likely to reach the mill booms.

The Centenary of Moore.

New York, May 15 .- The one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Thos. Moore will be celebrated in this city by a musical, poetical and oratorical festival at the Academy of Music on the evening of Wednesday, May 28, when the most celebrated of Moore's songs will be sung by noted singers, and the musica teatures of the entertainment will conclude by an orchestra of fifty musicians and a chorus of a hundred voices under the leadership of P. S. Gilmore. An address upon the life, genius and works of Moore will be delivered by Richard O'Gorman. An original poem will be read by John Savage and R. H. Stoddard.

Montreal Horse Market.

May 17, 1879. The local horse market has been reported rather dull during the week ending to-day. The offerings have not been large and the demand has fallen off somewhat. The following private sales were made during the week by Mr. Jas. Magnire at his horse bazaar:-1 chestnut at $170; 3 bay horses at 895, $140 and $150, respectively; 2 American at $200; 2 do at $140 each, and 1 pony at $65. Yesterday afternoon Mr. Norris shipped a carload to Lowell, Massachusetts, and two cars were shipped to-day by Messrs. Smith and Mason, to Providence, R.I., and Attlebury, Mass., respectively. A number of American buyers arrived in the city to-day and are stopping at the American House. No important sales took place at the Horse market yesterday or to-day.

ST. GABRIEL CATTLE MARKET. Business Dull To-day-Ample Receipts, but No Demand, and Values Weaker

A Suggestion to Shippers by Rail. Monday, May 19.

The arrivals of cattle at the St. Gabriel Market this morning were large, and the quality was generally good, but the demand was unusually slack, and sales, especially for exportation, were comparatively weaker. Another inevitable consequence of such a state of things is weaker prices. Mr. Wm. Head, of this city, received a car-load numbering 21 head of choice cattle shipped by Thos. Head at Toronto; also, two cars from Chicago, and of this last-named shipment he sold 80 head for local use, at 5 c per lb. Mr. John Short received a carload of hogs from Chicago; Frank thields, Toronto, brought a carload of hogs from that city; Mr. W. S. Williamson, of Brampton, brought two carloads of choice and he intends purchasing 25 head more to complete a shipment of 75; Mr. Walter Laing, of Guelph, brought with him 20 head of choice cattle, for sale at this market, Messrs. T. Crawford, Toronto, and Jos. Rellinger, Berlin, each brought a carload of fat hogs, but they have not yet found a satisfactory market for them; they are of the best Suffolk breed, and $5 per cwt was asked, but $4.75 was the highest bid. The reported sales were :- Mr. R. G. Hopper, about 20 head of cattle, at $4.50 per cwt, for local use; also, three head for export at about the same price to John Black, of Fergus; Mr. Wilder, Montreal, 8 head cattle, for export, to Ald. James McShane, at $60 each, or about 5c per lb; Mr. Wm. Roberts, of Granby, 22 head of choice cattle, at 4½c per lb, eight being for export and sold to Ald. McShane; Mr. Jos Rellinger, of Berlin, 21 head of cattle, for local use, at $51 each, or about $4.75 per cwt; Mr. T. Crawford, Toronto, 4 head of cattle, culled from a lot of 174 head, to be shipped per the steamer "Viking," to-morrow or Wednesday next, to local butchers, for $215, or $4.75 per cwt; Mr. Stag, of Brockville, one load of cattle, sold by weight to Alderman McShane at $4.87½ per cwt; Mr. Daniel Cochrane, St. Thomas, 9 head of cattle at 4½c per lb, to Wm. Head; Alderman James McShane, 3 head of cattle at 41c per lb, to Wm. Head; and Wm. Head, 8 head of cattle to local to likely to reach the mill booms.

—On Wednesday next the New York Proof Ingersoll, 17 hogs to Wm. Head at $5 per ton, will ship to-day 55 head of for Bristol. This ocean steamer, which has been expected to sail every day for the past four or five days, will most probably clear port to-night or early to-morrow morning. There were scarcely any sheep offering at this market to-day, and last week's prices are nominally unaltered.

CARRIAGE OF CATTLE BY RAIL.

The Chicago Tribune says :- A large part of the damage to cattle shipped by rail might be prevented by a very simple means. An animal in a crowded car falls to the floor, and is soon injured by being trodden upon by its companions. A simple rope or net slung from the top of the car, and passing under each, would prevent it from falling, and of course prevent all the subsequent mischief. The expense of material would be a mere trifle, but a little more human labor would be required to load and unload, which would, however, be much less costly than the accidents that result from the present method of wedging the animals together with no other than a mutual support from falling. It is strange that some application of this simple plan has not long since been introduced into the cattle car. It is probable that a material modification would be necessary in the case of swine, or it might be found better to tie them down to the floor of the car, instead of trying to keep their bodies from touching it.

Dear Sir.—Early in October last I took a severe cold, which settled on my lungs. After having a bad cough for about six weeks I had a severe attack of bleeding from the lungs while on a voyage from Queenstown to Dover. I had daily spells of bleeding for some days, until I lost about two gallons of blood, and was so weak as to be searcely able to stand. I put back to Queenstown, where I received such medical assistance as enabled me to get home.

I saw an advertisement of your Phosphorized Cod Liver Oil Emulsion in a paper. I immediately sent and got a half dozen bottles, after taking which I feet myself a well man again. My weight, which was reduced to 120 pounds, is now up to my usual standard of 152 pounds. Seeing what it has done for me, I can confidently recommend it to others afflicted with lung diseases.

These wonderful Planos are the favorite instruments of every Prima Donna, every Singer, every Planist of renown, in fact every Musician of note. In their matchless tones, their extraordinary power and endurance, they have no equal. Read the following extracts from the leading musicians of the day:

CENTENNIAL JUDGE, on Planos.—"The Weber Planos are undoubtedly the best in America, probably in the world, to-day. The Weber Grand was the most wonderful Plano I ever touched or heard."

HER MAJESTY'S OPERA CO.—"For purity and richness of tone, with greatest power and singing quality, we know of no Plano which equals them; certainly, for sustaining the voice, or cultivating it, the Weber is superior to any Plano known to us."

ITALIAN OPERA CO., NEW YORK.—"The tone of the Weber Planos is so pure and prolonged, and of such inexhaustible depth, that they sustain the voice in a wonderful degree. The action is clastic, they have great strength, and stand remarkably long in time. We not only commend them in the highest degree, but think them the best Planos in the world."

THERESA CARRENO.—"My use of the Weber Planos, at over one hundred concerts, proves how highly I esteem them. They have a tone and touch which meets every requirement of the most exacting artists, and I am not surprised that every great musician prefers them."
