Ouellet Announces Development Projects in Pakistan

October 25, 1994

Foreign Affairs Minister André Ouellet signed an agreement between the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA) and Aga Khan Foundation Canada for a social development program in Pakistan. "This partnership agreement will help Pakistan strengthen its social institutions," Mr. Ouellet said. "The Aga Khan Foundation Canada has a strong track record based not only on good management, skillful planning and commitment, but also because their focus is on giving people choices and communities control over their own development."

Canada Assists Mozambique in first Democratic Elections

October 24, 1994

Canada is providing Mozambique with $1.84 million to help ensure that the southern African country's first-ever democratic elections on October 27-28 are free and fair, Foreign Affairs Minister André Ouellet announced. "Few countries have endured as much civil strife and suffering as Mozambique," Mr. Ouellet said. "After almost 17 years of civil war, Mozambique is now making strides towards peace and democracy. Canada is proud to support this long-awaited transition."
