today that the Government is spending a considerable amount of money to attract tourists. While I commend the Government for doing that, let me point out that because it spends a lot of money for advertising it must be able to deliver the goods.

We want to be able to have a viable, strong tourist industry. We want to have beautiful lakes and we want to have fish in those lakes. These are all important considerations at the present time. While good fishing still exists in certain lakes, it has diminished considerably in many of them.

I see that you are indicating that my time is up, Mr. Speaker. But I just want to point out that we must do something to protect our environment because it will also help the tourist industry.

And the division bells having been rung:

Mr. Nielsen: Mr. Speaker, we have several potential votes with which to deal tonight. I have discussed it with my colleagues, the Government House Leader and the House Leader for the New Democratic Party. It will be noted that the division on Motion No. 1 slipped by just prior to 5.45 p.m. We have agreed that when the Chair puts the question on the second motion, that is Vote 1c, in the name of the President of the Treasury Board (Mr. Gray), that recorded division will apply to item No. 1 and items Nos. 3, 4 and 5, with the recording of the vote appearing in Hansard as though it had been taken. All the remaining items we have agreed will go on division.

Mr. Speaker: Is it unanimously agreed?

[Translation]

Mr. Pinard: Mr. Speaker, it is true that we held consultations and that is why I did not object to the point of order while a vote is going on, knowing that there was unanimous consent.
