for the mayoralty yesterday at the nomination meeting in the city hall. Ald. McBrien, brought out by The Telegram, did not know until yester, day morning that Ald. Burgess would be in the frunning. He withdrew after nomination, but afterwards decided to stand for the mayoralty.

Ald. Burgess did not know until yesterday morning that Ald. McBrien would be a candidate. For half an hour before the candidates started to address the meeting The Telegram applied the colub to Ald. Burgess, but he refused to withdraw. He got such a grueling from The Telegram that he was too agitated to give his address without reading it from his typewritten copy.

It is now undoubtedly a fight be-tween The Telegram and the people. The mayoralty candidates had the following to say:

The Year's Record.

Mayor Hocken: "This year we have settled the problem of a supply of pure water, and have arranged for more plant to assure a supply for any increased demand thru the growth of the city. We have this year done the financing for the past two years, and have the credit of Toronto in first-class condition. We have specially arranged for the employment of labor thruout the winter. I have tried to find class condition. We have specially arranged for the employment of labor thruout the winter. I have tried to find a solution of Toronto's transportation problem, and because of that I am being opposed for re-election. I would like before I leave the council to see public ownership of utilities consummated, and I have an open mind to work for the best solution of the problem. I believe that out of all this agitation we wilf get a solution of the problem, and then the people will decide upon its acceptance."

Burgess; "I am disappointed that a more prominent citizen than myself has not been prevailed upon to contest the mayoralty in the interests of the opposition to the street railway purchase."
