

RALEIGH—Is also situated on lake Erie, and lies in the county of Essex: it is bounded on the north by the river Thames, and subject to the same remark as the last-mentioned township.

RAWDON—Is in the county of Hastings, and is at present but slenderly settled; the soil in general of the usual quality, part good, part indifferent.

REGIS, ST.—Is situated on the south shore of the river St. Laurence, nearly opposite to the town of Cornwall. This village is inhabited by Indians; they have a Roman Catholic chapel, a regular and highly respectable priest, whose influence over the tribe has produced the happiest effects.

RICHMOND—Lies in the county of Lenox, and is watered by the Appanee river. This is a new township, and settled in much the same proportion as others of the same description.

ROCHESTER—Is situated on lake St. Clair, and from its remote situation has at present but very few inhabitants.

ROMNEY—Lies on lake Erie, in the county of Essex, and may be embraced in the remarks on the last township.

ROXBOROUGH—Is situated in the county of Stormont, eastern district, in the rear of Cornwall. There is in this township much good land and many inhabitants; its situation is favourable, from the very numerous settlements around it.
