

ANALYTICAL INDEX.

PREFACE:	Page
One rival forestalled, another arisen—Loss of personal friendship—Unreasonable grounds alienating.....	iii
Maxim of non-complicity—Courtesies reciprocated and extended.....	iv
Trustfulness ensuing.....	v
Unyieldingness on Episcopacy —Hope disappointed by Bishop Carman's course—How far natural and moral right will justify, and when they will not.....	v
Sorry for the necessity laid upon me—Materials not exhausted.....	vi
A Needed Exposition.....	7
I. A BRIEF EPILOGUE OF CANADIAN METHODIST HISTORY FROM 1790 TO 1832:
Summary of events from 1790 to 1810—Ditto from 1812 to 1820, including the war and its necessities, advent of missionaries, discussions, and temporary expedients.....	7
British and American Conferences—Interchange of Delegates, and arrangement of 1820—Unity of Methodism re-affirmed—Wesley's letter to Cooper (note)—Resolution of Liverpool Conference (note).....	9
Want of compliance with some and of cordial compliance on the part of others—The concession of an Annual Conference in 1824—All ready for a separation from the States by 1828—Organization of Canada Church in October, 1828, in Earnestown—Dissimilarities between the old and new Churches—The "Sixth Restriction"—Committee to correspond with the Connexion in England—Non-fulfilment of its duty partly supplied by the editor—Three Episcopoi elected, but none consecrated.....	10
Note detailing the successive changes in the claims to membership in the General Conference, with the reasonableness of the modifications.....	11
II. THE CIRCUMSTANCES WHICH LED TO THE BLENDING OF THE BRITISH AND CANADIAN METHODIST CHURCHES TO BE THOUGHT OF:
Appeal to England for aid to prosecute the work of Indian evangelization led the British Connexion to think itself required in the colony, as it thought itself released from the arrangement of 1820 by the withdrawal of American Church's jurisdiction.....	12
Visit to Canada of a Missionary Secretary, and his invitation by the Canada Missionary Board to attend the next Annual Conference, in 1832.....	13
III. A DETAIL OF THE UNIFYING PROCESS:
Rev. Mr. Alder's visit—Conversations—Committee—Preliminary Articles—Delegate and reserve—The whole matter before the Connexion from the early summer of 1832 until October, 1833—Affirmation of the British Conference—Return of the delegate, accompanied by the Rev. Messrs. Marsden and Stinson—Unanimous approval by the Canada Conference—Cases of Whitehead and Gatchell.....	14
IV. CONSIDERATIONS WHICH PREVAILED WITH THE MEMBERS OF CONFERENCE TO TO CONCUR IN THE UNION:
1. Substantial oneness of the two bodies. 2. Love of the British Connexion, for various reasons. 3. The numbers of Old Countrymen in the Church. 4. No rights surrendered. 5. Saw that the whole had been legally brought about. 6. Their relation to Episcopacy . 7. Need of men and money. 8. Absence of opposition, and approval of leading American ministers.....	21, 22
V. THE OPPOSITION WHICH AFTERWARDS AROSE, AND THE FORM IT TOOK:
No opposition till the new regulations relating to members and local preachers were put and carried in the Quarterly Meetings during the year 1833-34.....	23