

HISTORY
OF THE
INDIANS OF CONNECTICUT

FROM THE EARLIEST KNOWN PERIOD

TO
A. D. 1830.

By JOHN W. DE FOREST.

"Our inheritance is turned to strangers, our houses to aliens. We are orphans and fatherless, our mothers are as widows. The elders have ceased from the gate, the young men from their music. The joy of our hearts is ceased; our dance is turned into mourning."—LAMENTATIONS, CHAPTER V.

ALBANY:
J. MUNSELL, 82 STATE STREET.
1871.
