

is written again of Him that, "God also hath highly exalted Him, and given Him a name that is above every name; that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father." And every one who does not so bow and so confess is a rebel in God's great world. He is defying the government of Christ. He is a centre for the forces of sedition—sedition against Him who by creation and redemption has established every claim upon our allegiance and our love. There is not a high thinking man or woman here who has not in the past few days entertained a feeling of contempt for those leaders in the South African revolt—men who a few years ago took the oath of allegiance to the British crown, who have enjoyed since that day the benefits of her liberty, who accepted positions of trust in the councils of the nation, and who in the moment of the Empire's great peril have seized the opportunity to strike a blow at her heart. But what shall be said of those who owe their very being unto Christ, who have been cared
