moreover, she likes to be thought "clever," of "some people I know," always winding she likes to feel that she is a sort of up pathetically with: "What can you do intellectual missionary to her less endowed with such people?" And when the Young friends. She likes to leave learned books Person hears of it, she hugs herself and on abstruce subjects with people who have says: "Isn't she lovely-that clever wono appreciation of the intellectual or the man?" beautiful. Especially does she put forth an effort if the people she desires to improve be frivolous and addicted to reading the "book of the month" or the "book of the mental consumption of many fashion articles. Likewise she loves to discuss Wagner and Brahms—or as she many fashion articles. Likewise she loves to discuss Wagner and Brahms—or as she would more correctly say, Brahms and Wagner—with such as delight in the latest songs from the music halls, or giddy selections from the comic operas. This is the "clever" woman's way of hitching her wagon to a star. She has her reward, her wagon to a star. She has her reward, her wagon to a star. She has her reward, her wagon to a star of folks listen to her wagon.

this clever woman, for folks listen to her stretnitely, say to one another when she is gone, "How very clever she is," and straightway return to their frivolous books and gar songs, or sentimental ditties. But there are some ill-conditioned folk who do not at all relish the woman's assumption of superiority. At times they war worth because they mainteen that it is a a case of all the goods being in the shop window, with no stock when one enters to examine. But, for the most part, they manage to extract a deal of amusement from their "clever" acquaintance, very offen being analytix enough to "draw" her to her face, while she unsuspectingly plays into their hands. One day the clever woman called, and was very superior and instructive, indeed. She got on the clever woman called, and was very superior and instructive, indeed. She got on the clever woman called, and was very superior and instructive, indeed. She got on the clever woman called, and was very superior and instructive, indeed. And this is how she did it:

"Do tell me something to read," she said, with an air or requiring intellectual support, and her face was the face of a little child for guilelessness; "I'm literally starving for something fine to read—you know all the best books—do tell me."

This was the attitude in her friends which the "clever" woman loved, Smiling graciously, "Let me see, now; what would be best suited to you? Yes, I know—let me recommend Maurice Hewlett's Earthwork, Out of Tuscany," it is a sume—that their knowledge was not merely as and it. he is one-that their knowledge was not merely as and in the world of the market.

Miss Penman engaged the conductors and inspectors, received their daily reports, checked their returns, and when the rare occasion demanded dismissed the Tell me something else!"

A look of infinite compassion ammediately offender. Miss Penman was very popular with the employes and general sorrow was expressed when she succumbed to a painwoman; and with lovely patience and condescension, she said; "But, dear child, The Earthworks' have absolutely nothing to do with fortifications—the book deals with the Renaissance almost entirely. Let me send it to you—you really ought to know it. But the Young Person was not early be listening to the latter part of the "clever" woman's speech. "Renaissance Renais." With the employes and general sorrow was expressed when she succumbed to a painful operation. S.S. COMMONWEALTH IS LAUNCHED. Another Mammoth Steamship Takes

Her First Dip From the Yards at Belfast. On May 31 last the Dominion Line had aunched another new steamer from the yards of the famous builders, Harland &

This ship is built somewhat after the plan of the popular steamer New Engliand, but of much larger dimensions, being 600 feet long, 60 feet beam, with a tonnage of over 18,000 tons.

She will undoubtedly be the fastest steamer between Boston and Liverpool, although the New England and Canada have both a record of under 7 days. The Commonwealth has accommodation for 250 saloon, 250 second saloon and 1000 steerage passengers.

The interior fittings are of a most iuxurious kind.

It is safe to predict that the Commonwealth will, like the New England and Canada, become a great favorite, and will not only maintain, but, if possible, even enhance the fame of the Dominion Line, and its high reputation for a first-class passenger service, equal to any on the ocean. This ship is built somewhat after the ocean.

The New England will sail from Boston.
Oct. 10, and the Commonwealth Oct. 17.
Winter rates now being in force, saloon passages can be had at $60 and upwards.

AN EXCELLENT APPOINTMENT. Mr. Geo. I. Riddell, B.A., Appointed

Joint City and District Agent, With Dr. D. Lowrey of the Imperial Life. Mr. George I. Riddell, B.A., Toronto, wh for a number of years was mathematical for a number or years was mathematical master of Parkdale Collegiate Institute, has just been appointed by The Imperial Life Assurance Company of Canada joint city and district agent for Toronto and vicinity, with Dr. Lowrey, who has heretofore been so successful in that company's interest.

fore been so successful in that company's interest.

Mr. Riddell, in resigning one of the best agencies in the gift of the National Cash kegister Company to connect himself with perhaps the most progressive and solid financial institution of its kind, sho vs his faith in the future of The Imperial Life and in its ability to continue to lead in securing new business in Toronto district. The imperial has almost a unique record for new insurances in this district; it has continuously written here over $1,000,000 of new business per annum.

With the same energetic and intelligent representation which has heretofore characterized Mr. Riddell's business career, he is bound to make himself feit as a factor in the insurance profession, and is to be congratulated upon having secured the important appointment, and The Imperial is most fortunate in having such a capable representative as Mr. Riddell connected with it.

Alas! Poor Corbett.

London, Sept. 21.—James J. Corbett, the pugilist, will return to New York City by the first available steamer to effect a reconciliation with his wife.

A DAILY NUISANCE.

A Simple Remedy Which Will Interest Catarrh Sufferers.

In its earlier stages catarrh is more of a nuisance than a menace to the general health, but, sooner or later, the disease extends to the throat, bronchal tubes and even to the stomach and intestines. Catarrh is essentially a disease of the mugous membrane, the local symptoms being a profuse discharge of mucus, stoppage of the nostrils, causing coughing, sneezing, gagging and frequent clearings of the throat and head.

The usual treatment by local douches, snuffs, salves, etc., often gives temporary relief, but anything like a cure can only be obtained by a treatment which removes the catarrhal taint from the blood, and the disappearance of the inflammation from the mucous surfaces.

A new remedy which meets these requirements, and which so far has been remarkably successful an curing catarrh, is Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

These tablets act upon the blood and mucous membranes only. They can hardly be called a secret patent medicine, as they are conversed of such valuely learner. est Catarrh Sufferers.
