The Latter Day Saints claim to be a branch of the House of Israel, and as such are a temple-building people, and eight temples, including the one at Card-ston and one at Łake (Laie), Hawaiian Islands, have been built. The ninth has been decided upon, and will be built at Mesa, Arizona.

In these temples officiate members of the priesthood, specially called and set apart by high officials of the church at Sait Lake City for the highest ordinances of the gospel as believed and practiced by the Mormon people. First among these ceremonies is bap-tism for the dead, Mormonism holding that those who have died without knowledge of the Supreme Being may be given an opportunity to exercise faith and to repent through the bap-tism of a living relative in his name. Thus, each Mormon family sets great store by its genealogy, and great efforts are made to trace it in order that ancestors, even four or five centuries back, may receive the benefit through being represented in baptism by a present day member of family. Celestial marriage is the other iamily. Celestial marriage is the other important ordinance for which the temple stands. The Latter Day Saints assert that God's design regarding the union of the sexes in loly wedlock is an eternal one, never intended to have its termination at death. Thus marriages for life and eternity are made in the temple. Marriages of Mormon couples made in the usual reason and the sexes in the usual reason and the sexes in the usual reason.

couples made in the usual way outside the temple are for life only, and al-most every young couple makes an ef-fort at some time early in their married life to visit the temple and be sealed to each other for the next world. Heretofore members of the Mormon Church in Canada have been compelled to visit Salt Lake City or some other point where a temple had been erected to have these ceremonies, and several other minor ordinances performed. Ever since 1886, when Charles Ora Card, with a few families came overland from Utah at the command of the president of the clurch to establish a colony in Canada, settling on Lees Creek and founding the town of Cardston, the people of the church in Canada have been forced to go back to the United States for these ceremonies. But now o have these ceremonies, and several people of the church in Canada have been forced to go back to the United States for these ceremonies. But now the church is 10,000 strong in Alberta. The people have prospered, and several fine towns have been built up by them, of which Cardston, Raymond and Margrath are the chief. The highest department of the church in Canada as yet is the "stake," a district presided over by a president and his two councillors. There are now two stakes in Alberta, the original Alberta stake, with President E. J. Wood at its head, centering on Cardston, and the Taylor stake, named after Apostle John W. Taylor, said to be the father of the Mormon colonies in Canada, centering on Raymond, with President H. S. Allen as head. The church, however, is spreading in this province, and a third stake is likely to be created shortly, centering on Lethbridge.

Bishops, chosen from among the elder men, take the part of ministers and pastors in other churches. Bishops, however, do not give all their time to the church; generally they are prosper-cus businessmen or farmers. The Mormons are essentially an agricultural people, and most of their members in Alberta depend on farming and ranching. They were the first irrigationists to come to Canada, the establishment of the Lethbridge irrigation project in 1900 being the signal for a big trek from Utah to Southern Alberta.

Not all the million and a quarter dollars spent in the erection of the temple to the Most High in Cardston is being contributed by the Mormons of Alberta. Indeed, the greater part of the money was furnished by the central council, of which President Heber J. Grant is now head. This money came from Mormons in every part of the continent through tithing, which is a matter on which all Mormons lay great stress. However, many thousand dollars were contributed by the members of the church in Canada, while much of the rough labor on the temple was contributed by members without pay. Even now, members of the church in Alberta are contributing funds for the erection of the ninth temple at Mesa, Ariz.

FIFTY BORDER ROADS MAKE BOOT-LEGGING EASY

Plattsburg Alleged Centre of Liquor Traffic From Montreal.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 .- (By Canadian NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—(By Canadian Press.)—The town of Plattsburg, or ake Champlain at the Canadian borater, about 60 miles from Montreal, is oday the scene of one of the most extensive bootlegging campaigns in the New York ensive bootlegging campaigns in the United States, according to the New York World, whose investigator has York World, whose investigator has been up that way getting a general idea of "hootch" conditions.

So flagrant and widespread is the violation of the prohibition law and, infinitely more serious for the offenders, the law against smuggling, that a prominent citizen of Plattsburg, in position to know, told the World reporter that it was conservative to estimate that every night 100 cases of bonded Canadian whiskey and gin are brought into the United States through that tow:

The fact that this choice stock can be bought at Montreal for from $2.59 to $4 a quart, and can be sold at from $6 to $15 a quart in the United States, explains why a number of Plattsburg youths who have hitherto lived most impecuniously are now sporting natty clothing and silk shirts and are carrying always from $50 to $1,000 in cash, the investigator $395.

ne investigator says. One man admitted to the World raorter that before prohibition became porter that before prohibition became effective he had earned $18 a week as a teamster. Now, he boasted, his income ranges from $50 to $150 a week. And, aside from risking arrest and imprisonment, he asserted, he lived an entirely happy, care-free life. He explained however, that as a precaution, he pretended to work at a soft job. "How do they get away with this pootlegging?"

"How do they get away with this bootlegging?"

The World says the answer is simple, and offers this explanation:
"There are at least fifty roads from Canada leading into the United States through Plattsburg, and there are only about fifteen United States customs officials to guard these fifty or more bootlegging trails. legging trails.
"Then, in addition to the fifty or more

"Then, in addition to the fifty or more thoroughfare, some of them mere cow paths through the woods, there is Lake Champlain.

"Yet, in spite of the obvious difficulty in trapping the crafty and even desperate characters who ply the trade, customs officials in and about Plattaburg have been averaging four arrests a week. The prisoners are arraigned before a United States commissioner, and are usually charged with smuggling. Occasionally the charge of violating the Volstead act is added.

"When the men are brought to trial before a federal judge, however, as a rule they plead guilty, and are dismissed upon payment of a fine of $500 to $1.000. This, according to one of the bootleggers, is not a severe penalty, as bootleggers, is not a severe penalty, as the 'gang' can easily raise as much as $20,000 if necessary."

Plattsburg has a population of 15.000. DEATH OF MRS. G. B. ANGUS.

Team Work

T doesn't need an emergency to prove the value of your telephone service. But emergencies often demonstrate the team work that makes the telephone so vital to

In Ottawa, not long ago, a lady working about the gas range in her kitchen, touched the loose sleeve of her dress to the fire, and in a moment was wrapped in flames. Rushing to the telephone, she had strength only to take down the receiver and cry "help."

"Central" heard the cry. She quickly told her supervisor, who consulted "Information," and found that there was a telephone in the house next door. The neighbor was called and rushing in, put out the fire in time to save a life! Similar examples of resourcefulness, alertness and intelligence might be cited, from many cities, in which prompt action of telephone operators saved precious lives and property.

Our constant aim is to keep the standard of telephone service up to a point that will meet the call of any emergency, and at the same time give our subscribers complete satisfaction in the ordinary requirements of every day.

The more you know about the Telephone the better it will serve you
