thru the mill by flotation. The Nipissing has now five Callow rougher cells and one cleaner cell. The flotation capacity will be increased to eight roughers and two cleaner cells. The present capacity of the mill averages about two hundred and forty tons a day. It is expected that a capacity of from 250 to 300 tons a day will be secured.

The installation of flotation will allow the bringing down of cyanide consumption, which is at present the largest item in milling costs. The beads to flotation will average about eight ounces a ton, of which it is ex pected to extract six ounces, resulting in a tailing containing two ounces per ton. Mill heads run between thirty and forty ounces per ton. Until the whole part is in operation no definite idea can be had of the increased profits.

The regrinding and treating of empounded tailings has not been decided upon, the it may be carried out in the future.—Northern Miner.
