Halifax Recorder, Saturday: "Mr. and Mrs. James Robertson Curry received a warm welcome from many friends, who rejoiced that they were spending a portion of their honeymoon in Halifax. They will reside in St. John's." Mr. and Mrs. Curry have returned to St. John. They are at Mrs. C. J. Coster's, Princess street.

WOMAN IN P. E. I. DUPED IN WEST

Jobless Schoolmaster Said to Have Cruelly Deceived His Wife

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Nov. 27.—Calling upon a physician in a neighboring village whom she believed to be her father-in-law, a young woman, who with a two-year-old child arrived here a few days ago from the west, discovered that the man she had traveled across the continent to visit had no married son and had never heard of her. In her story to the local authorities the woman said that she was the wife of a school teacher in the west who lost his position and had, with the help of the school trustees, sent his wife to the home of his father-in-law in Prince Edward Island, for shelter while he sought employment in the United States. She had left the west with her ticket and $15 in cash. So far as can be ascertained the woman has been miserably duped and the situation is made more pathetic by the fact that immediate admission to a maternity hospital was necessary. She has been taken care of in the local hospital and her child sent to an orphanage.

PREDICTS CURLS WILL ADORN MEN

But Keith is Looking Ahead Century in the Style Observations.

London, Nov. 28.—Women of 2028 will be haven-headed, and men will wear curls, Sir Arthur Keith, the famous anthropologist, predicted yesterday. He based his prophecy on the tendency of modern styles in masculine and feminine hair-dressing. "The barbaric origin of most styles, he says, are shown by the feminine aversion to showing the forehead. An instinctive urge to appear less-browed, on the theory of Caucasian women of 4,000 years ago that men did not like intellectual women."

Sir Arthur also offers the thought that women might yet adopt the sharp-pointed, sometimes blackened, teeth affected by African natives. He pointed out the penchant of the modern woman for the body-tattooing and eye-piercing aids; to beauty of savages. Going in for Mannish Bob. London women at the moment, it might be said, are going in for the mannish bob, known locally as "whiting"—very short at the back, with the usual ear-muffs at the side and the Duchess of York fringe in front. Hairdressers are trying to introduce new styles in men's hair, also. They have put over the permanent wave idea with the sort of men who go in for that sort of thing, and at their exhibition now going on have offered, among other things, the "oxcorn" parts—parts on both sides, rising in the middle in a graceful roll running the length of the head from the forehead to the nape, which the man subject to hereditary baldness finds every morning.

NEWFOUNDLAND HAS HAD A WARM FALL St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 27.—While blizzards are reported raging in Quebec, New York, Vermont and in Massachusetts, Newfoundland is enjoying balmy winds and sunny days. Since October this country has had weeks of Indian summer. Last night the thermometer stood at 87.

THERE IS BEAUTY IN YOUR BODY— But You Can't Show It by Painting Up Your Face, Says Visitor

BY MARIAN HALE New York—Don't be deceived by the beauty that you see. Most likely it is the beauty of the lipstick and powderpuff. Real beauty is not in the face alone. It includes the whole body, and comes from healthful exercise and training. This is the message of Paula Pogany, who has come here from Austria-Hungary to teach women a new type of beauty based on a knowledge of bodily structure. "I find the average woman much less intelligent about her figure than her face," says Miss Pogany. "She can look into the mirror and see for herself what improvements her face needs. She has standards of beauty for the complexion, hair and profile. She knows how she looks. But when it comes to her body, she is a rag. A woman is a just one idea. She does it want to be too fat to wear fashionable clothes. Whether she stands correctly or walks beautifully or has a statuette body does not interest her so much."

PAULA POGANY

Nine out of 10 women today stand badly, Miss Pogany adds, and consequently they have acquired the protruding abdomen and the convex back that has resulted from a general effort to follow styles. "Some women blame their figures to going without corsets, others to wearing stays," she said. "But the real reason is their ignorance of anatomy. Only a knowledge of their body and muscular structure will correct their defects."

Miss Pogany believes the corset started most of the trouble. "Because it gave women false ideals of beauty," she explains. "Women actually distorted their bodies to conform to fashionable standards instead of those of nature."

Muscle to Fat "The corset made women flabby and anemic because all pressure on muscle fibre, no matter how light it is, will deteriorate the muscle. Unused muscles that have been allowed to die quite frequently turn into fat. The gross arms and hips we see today are the result of dead muscles and bad circulation."

Diet will reduce flesh, she adds, but only corrective exercise based upon a knowledge of the bodily structure and study the beautiful structure of the Greek statues," she advises. "When you compare your own outlines with those of the Venus de Milo, you will realize how far we have strayed from nature and into the realm of the grotesque and the ugly."

"Instead of taking your cue from manikins and style magazines, go to the museums and art galleries and return."

CHRISTMAS GIFTS Try This Doll Bag

First make a ball of cotton, then wind white wool around it, making a ball about 2 1/2 inches in diameter. Wind the wool all one way, holding the ball as if it were an axis. With some local yarn make the wig. Next wind two pieces of wire about four inches long for the feet. Then crochet pantaloons about two inches square, and sew the legs to this. For the dress use a piece of rose saten about 18 inches by 8 inches. Sew up the side seams and put in a hem, embroidering it in white wool. Sew the dress to the bag at the top, being sure to leave a half-inch heading for the arms to pull through. Run the drawstrings through the sleeves, using hands of white wool to finish the drawing. Make a loop of henna wool by which the bag may be carried. This may be used for a sewing bag, or a party bag if you prefer.

PANSIES IN CITY GARDEN.

"Only two pansy blossoms" but they were fresh and pretty, when Louis Peter Green and Joseph Alexander Likely, Jr., aged nine, brought their floral gifts from grandma's garden at 272 Princess street, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. I. Corber, who is the grandmother of Louis, had picked these blossoms only yesterday in her yard. An inquisitive young lady standing near said to the boys, "Wouldn't you rather be sliding down hill than picking flowers in November?" and Louis, who was spokesman, said, with a doubting tone in his voice, "I suppose we ought to be. Louis is the grandson of the late Louis Green, the well known merchant in Charlotte street and Joseph is a grandson of J. A. Likely, sr."

Urges Community Programme In Sunday Schools

Miss Alice Harrison, B. A., of Moncton, who is in the city for a time to promote the department of primary and junior work in the Maritime Religious Education Council, was the principal speaker in the Fairville Methodist church hall, last evening. The audience included the teachers of the four Protestant churches of Fairville, who have charge of the primary, junior, and Sunday schools. Supper was served at 6.15, after which the round table was taken up with Miss Harrison as leader. Miss Erna Conrad sang a solo. The young ladies who assisted in service were each representing one of the churches. They were Miss Florence Kelly, Miss Pearl Kierstead, Miss Mary Hoyt and Mrs. Fred Morris. The tables were set simply, but very daintily, with silver candle sticks and candles, silver table appointments, making a homelike effect. The only teacher training class in Fairville Sunday schools is in the Baptist church, and is composed of several young boys. Miss Harrison took a new theme, not previously introduced here in which she urged a community programme in the Sunday school. This should include, she said, a church work, a story hour and a week of song festival. She also spoke of the local school programme, in which she urged that emphasis be placed upon the junior department, especially in the matter of memory work. If this were made the objective, Miss Harrison said, it would lead the children to know, to will and to do the right.

WINTER SALADS

A salad always adds zest and interest to a meal and should be included just as often as possible, during the winter months. There are many small economies that can be practiced in this course that do not require any extra time. Nor do they detract from the food value or beauty of the dish. Unless the salad is a lettuce salad, use lettuce only as a garnish. Outside leaves of head lettuce or leaf lettuce cut in shreds will furnish the necessary green at almost no cost. Or parsley, broken in tiny sprigs and dropped over a fish or meat salad, adds the needed color without any lettuce. Celery tops, carefully looked over and crisped, take the place of lettuce. Or a fruit salad can be served in an apple or orange cup, doing away with any green except a thin slice of green cherry. A simple vegetable salad should be served with a hearty meat course. French dressing is preferred to a rich mayonnaise. A plain orange or grapefruit salad served on romaine with a French dressing is ideal with pork roast or rich fish. But a fruit salad swathed in a rich dressing topped with whipped cream is a different matter. This sort of salad should follow a light meat course and is in better taste for the luncheon menu than for the dinner. The vegetable used in the salad should not appear in some other form in another course of the same meal. The same is true of fruit. If apples are an ingredient of the salad an apple pie should not form the dessert. Lima Bean Salad One cup canned or cooked dried lima beans, 3/4 cup diced celery, 1 teaspoon minced onion, 1 tablespoon minced green peppers, 2 tablespoons grated cheese, French dressing. Mix beans, celery, onion and pepper up-to-date mechanical processes (no chemicals), it is absolutely pure and has a most delicious flavor and aroma. Made in Canada By Walter Baker & Co. peppers with mixture and serve with or without a bed of lettuce. Cheese Salad One package neufchatel cheese, 2 tablespoons finely chopped nuts, 2 tablespoons minced olives, 2 tablespoons minced onions, 2 tablespoons minced celery, 2 tablespoons minced lettuce, paprika, French dressing. Work cheese to a smooth paste with nuts. Work in nuts, olives and pimento, adding cream if necessary. Form into small balls and place in a cold place to chill and become firm. Arrange on hearts of lettuce and sprinkle with paprika. Serve with French dressing. Asparagus Salad Put canned asparagus in a large flat strainer. Carefully dip into a big pan of cold water. Care must be taken not to break the heads. Drain and arrange in neat piles on salad plates. A sprig of parsley can be used in place of lettuce for the garnish. Cut narrow strips of pimento and lay across each pile to seem to form a band to hold the stalks together. Wash the heads with mayonnaise or, if used with beef as a dinner salad, pour over French dressing.
