GOLDEN RULE IS MESSAGE OF MAYOR HANSON

Right to Existence of All Present Governments to Be Put to Test in the Next Few Years, Declares Seattle Executive

"The Golden Rule is my message to the manufacturers and workers of this nation; there never has been a successful man, successful business or successful nation which did not, in a large measure, obey this rule," declared Ole Hanson, mayor of Seattle, Washington, in discussing "Bolshevism and Headjustment" before the National Association of Manufacturers, in convention in New York.

Mayor Hanson's address was a vigorous denunciation of bolshevism and all elements opposed to the best interests of the nation. He called upon both employers and employees to co-operate for their mutual benefit, and demanded deportation of all those aliens "who would destroy our government."

Mayor Hanson predicted the next few years would put to the test the right to existence of all present governments. "The attacks now being made, the changes now taking place, are not only changes in governmental form, but are, when stripped to the bone, simply mass attacks against civilization and all that we mean by civilization."

American Plan is Evolution.

Declaring that the United States came into being as the place where the problem of working out a perfect freedom and liberty for all mankind would be solved through orderly evolution and development, Mr. Hanson continued:

"I cannot believe that this country, with a past so full of splendid achievements, with its soil drenched with the blood of its heroic dead, with its ideals living, breathing, pulsing in the hearts of millions, has at last reached a point on its short but momentous journey where the road is blocked and the sign 'No thoroughfare' stops our further progress; or, mayhap turns our faces promise and hope on the surface to human kind, has invaded many other countries of the world and here in this land, dedicated to equality of opportunity, we find that propaganda is being carefully spread teaching the necessity of the overthrow of our government and the abolition of private property; of the overthrow of law and order, and of the confiscation of honestly earned and saved competencies, and advocating turning over the government to those who talk the loudest, promise the most and do the least.

"One would think that here, where every man can vote and the government is really ourselves, such seed would fall on barren ground, but I fear that our soil, watered by the tears of injustice in the past and carefully tilled by the agitators of the present, promises to bring forth a crop of weeds which, unless we do our full and fearless duty both as citizens and public officials, may choke out and destroy some of the most beautiful flowers of our civilization."

"It were well for us today throughout this whole land to cast aside all prejudices, forget for the time being, all party ties and study the problems that confront us from the standpoint of American citizenship alone."

Need of Sacrifice.

"A man who will not leave his party for the good of his country should be forced to leave his country for the good of all parties. An American who will not sacrifice all else on the altar of patriotism is no American. Three hundred million people today are living in a condition of disorder, civil war and anarchy. This condition was brought about partly by military life, principally by famine."

"The rulers of Europe cast on the blood-red table of war their millions of citizens as chess-pieces of their schemes on the gambling table. Defeated, demoralized armies were turned loose to find their way back to countries destroyed and stripped of all wealth. Hungry wives and starving children greeted the warriors on their return. Food there was none; no work, and it was there the Bolsheviks sowed the seed which resulted in such widespread destruction and conflagration. Hungry people, driven to despair, turned to the first war in the world was, 'We must eat,' and from the homes of famine sprang creatures who unwittingly would destroy civilization."

"Turning the government over to a worse autocracy than ever before existed in the world, the leaders found they could only maintain their position by murder and rapine. Realizing full well that one or two nations could not become Bolsheviks and the other nations of the world remain free, self-preservation compelled them to go out throughout the world and preach their damnable doctrine. The effect is now seen in Hungary and Germany, Italy, mapshy; Spain, perhaps; even Great Britain herself, as well as our own land, may feel the effects of this destroying curse."

Soviets Denounced.

"They advocated a free press, and the press has never been free since they came into power. Lenin admits it and states it repeatedly in his speeches, and also in his 'The Soviets at Work,' a seditious paper for propaganda purposes."

"They advocated free speech. All reports and the admissions of their leader prove that death is the portion of all enemies of Lenin. They pose as a government of the people, but they are afraid to go before the people with their murderous regime, knowing full well and admitting that not more than 10 per cent of Russia is for them. Under the Tsar's rule of oppression, life was reasonably safe. Under the soviet rule, life, property, and decency, health, morality, and woman's virtue have been destroyed and made light of. The soviet government is a government of murder, of autocratic rule, of incompetence, of inefficiency, of half-baked anarchists, and it will soon fall."

"In the meantime some of these alien scoundrels have invaded our land with their propaganda. Think of anyone coming from a country that even now begs for food from us to keep them alive, because of the fact that they tried to establish wealth by law instead of by work; with its millions of starving; with its hundreds of thousands of murdered, and having the nerve to try to interest the decent workmen of America."

WHAT ENGLAND DID.

"One hears that a tenth of the standing timber in France was destroyed in the war, but that in England one-half of the standing timber was cut down for war uses. Kipling speaks of England as 'The Bank of the Open Credit.' The Powerhouse of the Line."

So she was, "The Powerhouse of the Line" is about right. She put out money and power in quantity so vast that people still have the impression that she is an immense reservoir of might, and there is vicious talk in some papers of her pulling the leg of the United States in the peace congress and planning to use American power to rivet her dominion on the earth. But that is either propaganda or nonsense. England has spent her very life blood. If she is an obstacle to human welfare, now is the time to kill her off. If she is a great asset of civilization, now is the time to help her."
