SOLID PETROL, A
NEW SAFETY PRODUCT

(The Daily Telegraph, London.)

Petrol, petroleum, chloroform, and other flammable liquids are ranked among the danger fluids of the world's produce, so a German chemist, Dr. V. Rosenthal, has produced a method of converting all highly evaporative liquids into a solid form. This is of itself interesting because this solidifying has been performed as a mechanical rather than a chemical change. The spirit is so converted to not alter their constitution, but are held in suspension, as it were, in a jelly.

The process of conversion is by means of stearic acid or similar fatty acids after undergoing prolonged treatment with a mineral acid, which is dissolved at a high temperature in the hydrocarbons, such as petroleum, etc., to be solidified, and the solution mixed with an alcoholic solution of caustic soda. After cooling, the hydrocarbon (petrol) is no longer a liquid, but forms a solid mass. In appearance this solid is like boiled starch, which seems to hold the petrol in its minute cells as honey holds the pollen in its cells. From the disc is held in the honeycomb, for by squeezing a portion of the jelly one could, so to speak, wring petrol from it as water from a sponge. At the same time the evaporation is as rapid as in the liquid; yet it is free from the spreading danger of lighted fuel. The reason of this is that it does not melt, but burns as a candle, and can be extinguished as easily.

It is possible that in time motorists may adopt solid petrol in place of liquid fuel, as the change would reduce the bulk by 50 per cent., and no carburettor would be needed, since solid petrol vaporizes immediately on being subjected to current of air. But in the field of gas-lighting solid petrol appears to have its greatest future.

Take the ordinary petrol-burning table lamp. In this the ordinary container is filled with lumps of solid petrol in its jelly form, and the incandescent burner of the ordinary coal-gas type, using the petrol gas which dissolves straightway from this solid petrol, gives a most brilliant illumination. There can be no danger with this form of lighting, as if the lamp overturns there is no liquid to be spilt, and the light simply goes out. The system can be applied for general house-lighting by pipes. For instance a small tube filled with solid petrol, costing half a crown gave sufficient gas and lighting capacity to all five lamps—head, side, and tail lamps—to last five hours a day for a fortnight—a much cheaper and yet more brilliant form of lighting than the ordinary method, as the biggest head-light only consumes one-sixteenth of a cubic foot of gas per hour using a double burner.

When the solid petrol evaporates there appears to be left only a residue of about 1-12 per cent. of foreign matter in the form of a white dust, which is easily disposed of, while a user of this fuel on his motor-car stated that he found an increase of 20 per cent. in the efficiency of his engine, which consumed this amount less than liquid petrol. From the disc is more easily handled than the liquid form, and by the method of its solidification a saving is effected in the refining process, while a much heavier spirit can be used.

In this direction a solid mixture of 50 per cent. of petrol and 50 per cent. of petrol is said to give as good results for motor cars, without any of the smoke or pungent fumes which have formerly discouraged this mixture's adoption.

In all directions where gas is used for power, light or heat, the new substance solid petrol is applicable. Who knows but in this form of fuel the aviation may have found the substance that will enable him to run his engine for long-distance journeys? In any case, the system is interesting from the scientific point of view, irrespective of its commercial possibilities.

ORDER OF OWLS

Pays sick benefit, death benefit, furnishes free physician to your family, furnishes you business patronage, furnishes you social advantages. 25c for $5.00. Charter Initiative and 20 cents a month dues.

It is established in Canada, Alaska, Mexico, Cuba, Porto Rico, Philippines, Sandwich Islands, New Zealand, Australia, South Africa, and all the United States.

ITS CREED IS:—If you have a flower to give, give it to-day. One throb of gladness is worth more to the living than a wealth of costly flowers laid however tenderly above the dead. If you have a kindly visit to pay to-day, let it be to-day. No other step in and lay his quiet hand upon the longings of the dead, and still forever its feet and pain and power of glad response. In the city of the dead, in the silence of the grave, hearts are never lonely any more. They do not need or need.

Institution of the Order of Owls, York Assembly Rooms, Monday evening, April 10th, 1911. Charter fee $5.00.

After the closing of a charter the initiation is not to be less than $10.00 and the dues not less than 50 cents per month.

KING'S POSTOFFICE

An Account of the Work and Duties of the Court Postmaster

The postal and telegraphic department attached to the royal household is under the control of Mr. Hiley, who acted for several years as the court postmaster in the late reign and was re-appointed to the position by King George on His Majesty's accession.

The headquarters of the court post-office are at Buckingham Palace, but a temporary office is established wherever the king may be staying, under the direction of Mr. Hiley, who always travels with the court.

The post office at Buckingham Palace consists of three large apartments; one is fitted up as a telegraphic gallery, another as a sorting-room, and a third as a general office. There is also a telephone exchange attached to the post office, where three operators are employed.

The letters for the king and queen and members of the household are delivered to Buckingham Palace from the general post office six times a day, the first delivery being made at seven o'clock in the morning.

The mail, on its arrival at the post office, is at once sorted (there are four sorters on duty throughout the day) and made up into separate packets for the king, queen, members of the royal family, resident officials in the household, and the servants.

The whole mail is, by the way, carefully counted before it is sorted, and the number of letters received is entered in a book labelled "Mails In."

After the packets for delivery throughout the palace have been made up the number of letters in each packet is counted and entered in a book labelled "Mails Out," and the numbers in both books must, of course, be the same.

As soon as the mails have been sorted they are given to two of the palace post-men, who deliver them to their respective departments. The letters for the king and queen are delivered to the equestrian department and are placed in the secretaries' rooms by an equestrian.

The letters for members of the household are delivered to their respective private

New Easter Hats

Gay With Exquisite Flowers or Smart With Ribbon and Feather—Trimings—The Trend of Style Revealed by this Opening Showing of Spring Millinery.

TORONTO TO HAVE A
SKYSCRAPER HOTEL

Toronto, Ont., April 10.—Another skyscraper building is projected for this city at an early date. This time it will be a hotel.

The hotel is to be built on the site of the old Cael Howell hotel property at the corner of University avenue and O'Connell street, just north of the Alexandra apartments, at a probable cost of $1,500,000.

The principals in this enterprise are George Wright and E. M. Carroll of the Walker house, who purchased the Cael Howell hotel site for $100,000. The property has a frontage of 225 feet on University avenue and a depth in O'Connell street of 275 feet, and will make an ideal hotel site, being in the neighborhood of the parliament buildings and the Queen's park, and readily accessible to the downtown district.

The building will be financed by an English capitalist who is now on his way to this country, and will be constructed on the latest lines. Work will probably be commenced this spring or early in the summer.

EASTER OPENING

The beauty of the Easter season reflected in our store

Out of doors bursting buds and warming sunshine. Indoors masses of color and luring notes of freshness and beauty. Fashion has proclaimed her rule of dress for the Easter Parade. Our store answered "Ready."

Here are lovely new dress goods, filmy nets, vivid toned silks, big bursting blossoms, clusters of wonderful toned ribbons, masses of laces, heaps of dainty children's wear, mounds of fascinating lingerie. Even the things of service—Hats and Skirts and Gowns and such like join the chorus of Spring and Easter, chanting "new and beautiful!" "new and beautiful!"

Only our price marks are not new. They are the same dependable value-for-dollar kind you have always found at our store.

Every one of you must surely have something new for Easter. If not a suit or hat, then gloves, veil or handkerchief, one or the other of the dress accessories. You will find that we have anticipated every requirement, and while each item accurately reflects the latest style-dictates, the prices are fair and graded pleasantly to suit all purses.

Elegance the mark of the New Suits
Elegance the mark of the New Hats
Elegance the mark of the New Gloves

It is in most cases the elegance of artistic simplicity. The modern seers, worsteds and Panamas are usually plain tailored, or with perhaps a contrasting note of trim. Every latest style-note is reflected in our suits—fabrics, colors, models. And our characteristic value-giving prevails here also.

Prices Ten Dollars to Forty Dollars.

Spring beauty seems woven even into the Hosiery

Such pretty new effects are introduced; even the work-a-day cotton and lace have gained in attractiveness through their added service qualities.

Sheer Lisle Hose, with three inch garter top, double heel, sole and toe, 25c and 40c pair.

Extra value Sheer Spun Silk Hose, three inch garter top, double woven lisle sole, heel and toe, 75c pair.

Then you want of course, gloves that fit and wear, that reveal any little new style notes. We have only such gloves. In the simple and heavy cape walking gloves we have provided all sizes at fair prices.

Perrin's Heavy Cape Gloves, guaranteed, tan shades, outside seams, cage dome fastening, $1.00

French Kid Gloves, guaranteed, various tan shades, 2 dome fastening, $1.00

Kiddies' Little Mamma's Gloves, heavy weight, tan, all sizes 75c pair.

Children's heavy cape gloves, in tan, outside seams, cage dome fastening, all sizes, 85c pair.

Here are such Hats as you'll long to wear on Easter Sunday

Shall it be a trig tailored hat or a big graceful affair of drooping brim with masses of glorious blossoms? Never was there such wide scope for millinery choice. It seems that the precisely becoming shape and trimming for every face has been anticipated.

It took clever fingers and a very mine of fashion notions to evolve such numbers of hats, each with its own notes of distinction and beauty, and which yet could be offered at such reasonable prices.

Possibly it is a Coat you have decided on for Easter

Cloth, Silk, Lace or Pongee, whatever material you have selected. You will find here, developed in many attractive models—according to the latest of fashion's decrees. Many new suggestions in fabrics, colors, styles.

Neckwear, whose prevailing note is becomingness

There are all sorts of beautiful novelties in our Neckwear Dept.: Dainty Lace and Embroidery Jabots, Tailored Stocks and the Novel Lay-Down Collars, which harmonize well with the vogue of Empire styles. But for the women who prefer the stiff high collars and the smart ribbon and chiffon tuck-fixings, there are all sorts of delightfully new and original novelties.

Best of all the prices are very little
