It then departed at full speed towards Langenargen, where it crossed to the Swiss side of Lake Constance against a light breeze. Proceeding back across the lake to Lindau, the Count undertook at a height of from three hundred to six hundred feet above the surface of the water, a series of manoeuvres, including sinking and rising, turning and stooping, thoroughly testing the new arranement of both the ascensional and side steering apparatus, which seemingly worked in a most satisfactory manner. The facility with which a change of direction of the enormous machine made in mid air was accomplished, deeply impressed the spectators.

Town—Rushing Things on the New I. C. R. Shops

LONDON, June 23—A special despatch from Teheran to the Times says that the killed and wounded in yesterday's fighting totalled 70, the casualities being heavy among the Nationalists. Several deputies were killed. The foreign representatives are in no danger, as the town is in the hands of the Russian general, Laiskoff.

Gen. Liaskoff, according to this despatch, directed the Cossacks, the Silahkar regiment joining in the fray. Rifle firing lasted for two hours, after the parliament building and adjacent buildings were bombarded at close range, and 300 defenders of the former building eventually being scattered.

The shooting which followed the firing was indescribable and continued throughout the day. The Times correspondent states that the behaviour of the troops, including the Cossacks, was FRIEDERICHSHAPEN, June 24—A second ascent was made last evening by Court Zeppelin in his new airship with a view to testing an improved side steering gear which has just been installed.
