Its author, Dr. Sproule, the eminent specialist, understands in the fullest degree the tender sensitive nature of woman, and his appreciation of all that she is and all that she endures pervades every page. It is this very feature of the book that makes is so valuable to woman. When she reads it she feels that she is understood. What is life worth to a woman when sickness has robbed her of health and beauty? This is what has happened to many an affectionate, sensitive creature who fears that in the end she may also lose her most precious possession—the love of those who are nearest and dearest. Perhaps you yourself know this terrible anxiety. Perhaps you go on with your daily work, hiding your suffering from those remaps you go on with your daily work, hiding your sunering from those about you, and smiling through your sorrow—a martyr as truly as any of the martyrs of old. Perhaps the weeks for you are made up of weary, restless nights and painful, dragging days. With aching back and overstrained nerves, worn out by sickness, overwork, worry, or pains that torture you at each period, life may indeed seem dark and dreary.

THAT CRASHING NOISE IN KINGS
To the Editor of the Sun:

Sir—The remarkably (?) clever skit in the Telegraph of Saturday relative to the noise made by J. D. O'Connell of Sussex requires but brief comment. The crashing noise was once more than eclipsed in Kings county by the thunderous echoes that floated o'er Rothesay, when the wonderful "bogus yobers' list," of which the Telegraph probably knows something, fell to pieces before the righteous indignation of the electors of Kings.

Yours, etc., MULLIGAN. came in question. Mr. Jonah told me he would put me in the penitentiary, and saked the magistrate to indict me. He said he most certainly would, and did. Then he save a constable a commitment and drove me to jail in the night, and refused me any ball or any postponement to get counsel. I wanted them not to take me from Eighn till after the arrival of the train next day, as the telephone was then closed. This they refused, sending me to jail, and I had nothing to eat that day. They put me in jail at 4 o'clock that morning. I applied to the sheriff to notify Judge Wedderburn that he might come up and give me a speedy trial. The sheriff notified the clerk of the peace, and the clerk of the peace informed us that the magistrate had not sent him the papers. I saw the Jordan in the latter's hotel here. Orbin Sproule, the mayor, is the president of the Liberal Association of this county, and three of the councillors are prominent men in the same party. The resignation is made as a protest against the dallying policy of the government, and the ratepayers will be asked to endorse the action taken, as all will be nominated for re-election.
