A Tall Woman

According to the Russian papers the village of Malo boasts among its few inhabitants a young lady of sweet seventeen who stands eight feet four inches on her "Tribbles," and turns the scale at twenty-four stones. And she is still growing! This is news calculated to make Miss Swan and "Maid Marian" turn in their graves; for neither of these ladies of many inches attained the stature of this Russian school-girl. As a child of eleven summers Miss Anna H. Swan, known so to fame as the Nova Scotia Giantess, measured exactly two yards, and when Captain Bates, the "Kentucky Giant," led her to the altar she was only an inch or two short of eight feet. About a dozen years later people were flocking to see "Marian," a young lady fresh from the Thuringian Mountains, who was appearing as the Amazon Princess in "Rabil and Bijou." Marian who was a girl of considerable beauty, unlike most of her elevated sisters, stood 8 feet 2 inches in height, and measured exactly ten feet from her somewhat expansive feet, to the summit of her plumed helmet.

A couple of years before Marian dazzled and impressed by her beauty and stature many had the pleasure of paying homage to a very charming little lady, Lucia Zarate, who hailed from Mexico. When Lucia came into the world she weighed but two and a half pounds; and at twelve months she had attained her full growth of twenty inches, and her maximum weight of four and three-quarter pounds. So tiny was she that if she had stood on Marian's shoulder, the giantess would still have been able to look down on her. Even on tiptoe she was no higher than "Tom Thumb's" elbow; while the average man could easily have put her in his overcoat pocket. Lucia was probably the tiniest person who has ever lived for even Andromeda, the little handmaid of Julia, niece of Augustus, was head and shoulders taller; while Annie Shepherd, a famous dwarf of the Stuart days, was relatively a giantess with her forty-two inches of stature. Lucia's nearest rival was, no doubt, the great "General Mite" with whom she was exhibited, and who was just three inches shorter than a two-foot measure.

Of Interest to Women

Governor Hoch of Kansas has appointed a woman probate judge. Mrs. Mitchell the lady so honored, succeeds her husband who died in office, and is probably the first woman to serve in such a capacity.

President Roosevelt has complimented the General Federation of Women's Club's by inviting its president, Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker, to meet with the Governors of the States when they assemble in conference in Washington in the interests of conserving the natural resources of the country. The President thinks Mrs. Decker should be consulted on the subject of the preservation of our forests. Mrs. Decker will meet the governors on terms of political equality, since she is a citizen of Colorado, where women vote.

Miss Jessie Ackermann has reached London after her sixth tour around the world. She is reported as saying: "Since I was last in Australia women have got the franchise there. In the mining districts I found that the miners' wives took the keenest interest in political questions and were ready to talk politics intelligently, even at the wash tub."

The Democratic State Convention in Massachusetts almost broke up in a riot. No one argues from this that all men, or even all Democrats, ought to be disfranchised. But just suppose that any woman's association had got into such a quarrel that the police had to be called in to clear the platform! When a woman suffrage amendment in California was defeated by a close vote, some fourteen years ago, several California young women were so disappointed that they shed tears. Mr. Charles R. Saunders has been quoting this at the legislative hearings on woman suffrage in Massachusetts ever since, as a proof that women are too emotional to vote. Massachusetts suffragists are now saying that Mr. Saunders might find some stronger and more recent examples of emotional politics among his own sex, without going so far from home.

Weak women should try Dr. Shoop's Night Cure. These soothing, healing, antiseptic suppositories go direct to the seat of these weaknesses. My "Book No 4 For Women" contains many valuable hints to women, and it is free. Ask Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. to mail it. Ask the Doctor in strictest confidence, any questions you wish answered. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is sold by All Dealers.

Some Very Big Things

The largest city in the world is London which has a population equalling the combined populations of Paris, Berlin, St. Petersburg and Rome. Its streets, placed in a row, would reach round the world, leaving a bit over long enough to reach from London to San Francisco.

The largest cave in the world is the Mammoth Cave of Kentucky. Its length is ten miles, though to explore its avenues, grottoes, galleries, domes, rivers and catacombs would entail a journey of 150 miles.

The largest existing library is the National Library of Paris. It contains forty miles of shelves, holding fourteen hundred thousand books.

The largest room in the world, under one roof, and unbroken by pillars, is at St. Petersburg. It is 620 feet long and 150 feet wide. Its roof is a single arch of iron. This room is used for military displays, and a whole battalion can manoeuvre in it.

The longest canal in existence is the Imperial Canal of China. Its length is a thousand miles.

The largest sundial in the Universe is Hayou Horoo, a large promontory extending 3,000 feet above the Aegean Sea. In the course of each day the sun throws the shadow of this mountain on one after another of a circle of islands, which act as hour marks as surely as the figures on the ordinary dial.

Gardening Hints

Stir the soil occasionally to prevent "caking" of the surface. This surface-stirring lets in light and air to the roots.

Never allow weeds to grow in a garden as all plants have insects that feed on them, and these frequently leave the weeds for the cultivated plants; odd corners covered with grass and weeds, should be dug up and kept tidy, otherwise they are a perfect paradise for insects to breed in unmolested.

The sweet pea cannot attach itself very well to strings. It may seem to attempt climbing them, but the first rough wind that comes along will loosen the vines, and down they will slip. Brush—just plain brush, such as you cut from the trees in the orchard, or along the roadside when you give them annual pruning—suits the sweet pea better than anything else I have ever tried as a support. It may not be very attractive, at first, but as soon as the vines cover it, you will appreciate its merit, for a row of sweet peas trained over such a support is lovely in August.

Flower boxes on porches and windows may well contain galvanized pans, painted inside and out, two and one-half inches deep and an inch and a half longer and wider than the box itself. Rest the box on two half-inch-thick strips laid crosswise in the pan. Water liberally twice a week only. As the dripping fills the pan make use of a small rubber hose two or three feet long, to siphon surplus water into a pail. In time pour this water again on the plants, as it contains fertilizing strength that should be saved. Use a good bed of crushed stone gravel or well broken up crockery and have holes plentifully in the bottom for drainage. The deeper and wider boxes are made the better for desired results.

There is no reasonable excuse for any man to live in a town if he doesn't like it. If you have no word of commendation to say for your town, its institutions or people, emigrate. You won't stop the town clock by going away. The church bells will have the same musical ring, the little dogs will play just as well and the pure air, bright sunshine and sparkling water will have the same health-giving properties. Speak a good word for your neighbor, if you can; if you cannot, don't everlastingly enlarge on his faults. If you have become thoroughly disgruntled move away; go somewhere where things will suit you.
