EMINENT MEDICAL MEN FROM BR. BRITAIN, CANADA AND U.S. HERE

Forty-seventh Annual Meeting of Canadian Medical Association opens today—Dr. Murray MacLaren, the new President—Some of the most famous men in medical science here for the meeting—An interesting programme of entertainment.

The forty-seventh annual meeting of the Canadian Medical Association will open here today in the armory and will continue till Friday. About three hundred doctors and surgeons are expected to be in attendance, representing all grades of the profession from specialists with an international reputation to the plain country practitioners. A large and varied programme has been arranged and the addresses and conferences will be of great importance to medical and surgical science. In addition to the large number of eminent Canadians who will attend there will be a delegation of famous physicians and surgeons from Great Britain and from the United States.

The armory has been divided by screens into a series of apartments with one large hall for the general meetings. There will be seven main sectional meetings, and not fewer than six will be going on at the same time. There will be surgical, medical, obstetrical, gynaecological, eye, ear, nose and throat, public health, laboratory and X-rays divisions. TAKES LEAD IN MILK CAMPAIGN

Dominion Department of Agriculture Adopts Important Measure to Assure a Pure Milk Supply

A very important measure designed to assure a pure milk supply has been adopted by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, a measure which by offering some compensation to farmers for cattle slaughtered on account of tuberculosis solves a problem which has heretofore made it difficult to secure advancement along this line.

said Dr. Charles A. Hodgsetts, medical advisor to the Dominion Conservation Commission who is at the Victoria Hotel.

This regulation provides for inspection of dairy herds by Dominion officials on request of Boards of Health of cities with a population of over 5,000 and provides also that when diseased cattle are slaughtered the Department of Agriculture may compensate the farmer to the extent of one-half their apparent value if destroyed for open tuberculous and one third in case of reactors. The regulation authorizes the issuing of certificates to farmers whose herds have passed two successive tests without showing signs of tuberculosis, and provides that before any new cattle are introduced into such herds they must be submitted to the physical tests for tuberculosis.

In order for municipalities to avail themselves of the provisions of this regulation they must themselves maintain a system of inspecting cattle and dairy premises by a competent official.

Dr. Hodgsetts said the Dominion branch of the Conservation Commission had given much attention to question of the pollution of rivers and streams, and that legislation dealing with the matter had been put before parliament, and would doubtless be put into effect before long.

The superintendent of immigration was very indignant about the matter, as he received a letter from one of the men complaining bitterly about the treatment accorded them. According to the letter the employer of the three men offered bail for them, but this was refused.
