the public utterances of Mr. Blake will find that he is appealing to the people of Ontario upon the same general lines as the convention appeals to the people of New Brunswick. They are the true democratic lines. Perhaps other planks might have been added to the convention's platform, for no doubt there are other subjects upon which the Liberal party might well speak by this means, as their representatives have already spoken in parliament, but we feel that by the in parliament, but we feel that by the declarations which they have made they have placed the party in an honorable they have placed the party in an honorable to the party in the party in

THE SHORT LINE.

Probably no especial significance is to be attached to the visit of Sir George Stephen and party to the Maritime Provinces. If they were really in search Wife (reading the paper)—"Well, I declare, if that isn't the queerest thing I ever heard of."

It will have been observed by those who read Husband—'I don't see anything odd commit themselves to what we in Freddo with it?" they did say is open to the construction further use for the dog." that by the Short Line they simply mean a short road across Maine. When in this city Sir George Stephen remarked to a gentleman that he did not look with favor upon the idea of a bridge across the river here as there would have to be a draw in it. If the C. P. R. does not want to build across New Brunswick it will be easy to find excuses for not doing so. So far as the public knows anything so. So far as the public knows anything to a support of the stephen for the stephen for the support of the about it, and so far as anything which either Mr. Stephen or Mr. Van Horne are reported to have said there is no are reported to have said there is no more prospect now of the road from Harvey to Salisbury than there was two years ago.

Beside declaring its adhesion to these principles the convention expressed its regret at the great increase in the debt, and its belief that it would be impossible to materially reduce the tariff, and that consequently a tariff high enough to be protective must necessarily be maintained. It condemned in the stronges terms the inaction of the Tory government in the matter of the fisheries, and the scandalous minimangement of northwest affairs whereby the rebellion was caused.
