The Western Home Monthly

At an evening party the hostess offered some refreshment to a rather foolish gentleman, who declined, say-ing: "You may take an ass to the water, but you can't make him drink." "Then I won't press you any more," was the lady's reply.

-0-

Lady—"Why did you leave your last place?" Cook—"I couldn't stand the dreadful noise between the master and missus, mum.

Lady—"What was the noise about?" Cook—"The way the dinner was cooked, mum."

-0-

Watson-Women are always curious. Johnson-My wife isn't a bit curious. Watson-Then she must be a curious woman.

-0-

"So you've lost all your marbles, eh? Well, it serves you right. Boys always lose who play on Sundays." "But how about the other fellow who won all my marbles?"

"Would you like to have your for-tune told, miss?" asked a gypsy of a young lady. "I don't mind if I do, providing you make the future a happy one for me," replied the lady. "That I can, miss; for sixpence I will show you your future husband's face in this magic glass." All right," said the young lady; here is sixpence— show me my future husband's face." The fortune teller uncovered the glass and the young lady gazed at it ab-stractedly for a moment, then ex-claimed, "I see only my own face!" "Correct," said the gipsy—"that face will be your husband's when you are married."

-0-

"I am sorry, doctor, you were not able to attend the church supper last night; it would have done you good to be there."

"It has already done me good, ma-dam; I have just prescribed for three of the participants."—Richmond Dispatch.

-0-

Ethel-"Was there a donkey on our steps when you came in, Mr. Featherly?" Mr. Featherly-"Why, Diggins—"Say, if I were as bald as you I'd wear a wig." Higgins—"My boy, if you ever beniggins— My boy, if you ever be-come bald don't invest in a peruke." Digins—Because why?" * Higgins—"It would be money thrown away. What's the use of put-ting a roof on an empty barn?"

A clergyman in New Jersey hired a man to act in the capacity of coach-man and gardener. One day the clergyman bought a bottle of horse liniment and told the man to apply it to a lame horse according to the direc-tions on the bottle.

About an hour afterwards he went to the barn and found Silas indus-He (at dinner: "May I assist you triously dipping a spike into the lini-

BEN JONSING -- "Goin' teh hev eny turkey foh Chrismus, Mr. Thompson ?" MR. THOMPSON-- "Well, ah sut'nly am, ef ah kin git near enuff t' one."

the cheese, Miss Girton?" Miss to "Thanks, no-I am very Girton: comfortable where I am; but you may assist the cheese to me, if you will!" -0-

"Would you like the cause of your late husband's death explained on the .nonument?" asked the sculptor. "Well," replied the widow, " if it doesn't cost any more, you might engrave a couple of cucumbers on it." -0

Mrs Young (proudly): "The landlord was here today; I gave him the month's rent and showed him the baby."

Young (who was kept awake last night: "It would have been better, my dear, if you had given him the baby and shown him the month's rent."

-0-

"A nice husband you are!" said

madam, in a passion. "You care less about me than about those pet animals of yours. Look what you did when your ment and then rubbing it against the horse's leg. "What are you doing that for?" he asked. The man looked up with a smile of assurance. "Because," said he, "'twas what it said in the directions on the bottle, but it's slow work." "You must have made a mistake," said the minister.

"I have not," answered the man in an aggrieved tone. "It says here on the bottle, 'Apply with a large nail or tooth brush,' and, as I had no tooth brush, I thought I'd better use the spike.

-0-

and said, rather abruptly:

"Yes.

In a little New England village lived a lawyer famous for drawing wills, in which branch of the business he had long enjoyed a monopoly of the business of the county.

On the death of a certain respected citizen there was much speculation as to the value of the property, and the village gossip undertook to find out the facts. He hunted up the lawyer

"I suppose you made Blank's will?"

"Then you prubbly know how much he left. Would you mind telling me?"

-ŏ-riageable) :

ious

close.

Daughter (mar-

think, pa, that you do Arthur injustice when you say that he is penur-

Precocious Bro-

Pa: "Why, Bob-

Precocious Brother: "Ten you're right, pa. Mr

Penrose is awful

bie, penurious is ther: "What's pen-

oorious, pa?'

December, 1904.

"It's easy enough to guess pretty nigh it," said the other man, a stalwart farmer, looking with some con-tempt at his companion.

"Oh, well," said the Cockney, "I think I could guess as near as you can.

"Could ye, now?" roared the farmer. "Well, I'll bet ye a sovereign ye can't.'

"Done!" returned the Cockney. 'How much do you say?" After a critical survey the farmer replied: A hundred and seventy stone."

"Well," said the Cockney, "I'll say hundred and seventy stone, too. Now hand over the money."

"What do you mean?" "Well, I said I'd guess as near as you, and I've done so. I've guessed exactly the same."

And the bystanders, taking his part. the bumptious farmer had to give him the money.

My Dollar Against Your Doubt

Without Expense. Without Deposit.

Without Promise to Pay.

I offer to give any sick one a full dollar's worth of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Not a mere sample, I will give you a regular standard dollar bottle from your druggist's shelf. There are no "Ifs" or "Ands." The Dollar Bottle Is Free. This is not philanthropy. Simply that I know how Dr. Shoop's Restorative acts on the inmost rerres —the power nerves—the nerves that control the v'tal organs. Simply that the passing years have fur-nished such abundant proof of its value that I am willing to spend a dollar on you—or any other sick one—a hundred thousand dollars, if need be-that you and others may learn beyond doubt—or dis-trust—or dispute—the power of

Dr. Shoop's Restorative

If the worries of business have left their scars your good health; careless habits have made you a wreck; your nere, your courage is waning; you lack vim, vigor, vitality;

If you are beginning to wear out; If you are beginning to wear out; If your heart, your liver, your stomach, your kid-neys, misbehave. This private prescription of a physician of thirty years' standing will strengthen the ailing nerves-strengthen them harmlessly, safely, surely, till your trouble disappears trouble disappears,

Inside Nerves!

Only one out of every 98 has perfect health. Of the 97 sick ones, some are bed-ridden, some are half sick, and some are only dull and listless. But most of the sickness comes from a common cause. The nerves are weak. Not the nerves you ordinarily think about—not the nerves that govern your move-ments and your thoughts.

no, Ethel! What would a donkey be doing there?" Ethel—"I don't know; but Clara said, just before you rang the bell: 'There's that donkey com-ing in here again.'"

"So that seedy-looking fellow is your friend Little? He doesn't seem very prosperous."

-0-

"No; he gets a very small salary and he has a big family of boys, too."

"How on earth does he get along?" "Well, every Little helps."-Philadelphia Press.

-ŏ-

His Better Half-"This is a pretty sort of life you are leading." "Oh, shut up." "The day before yesterday you didn't come home until yesterday, yesterday you came home today. and today, if I hadn't come to fetch you, you wouldn't have come home till tomorrow."

-0-

Father (trying to read)-"What's that terrible racket in the hall?" Mother-"One of the children just fell down stairs.' Father-"Well, tell the children if they can't fall down stairs quietly they'll have to stop it." -0-

He-Our engagement is off. You have deceived me, and from this time henceforth you shall not occupy my mind.

She-Oh, thank you! I'm so glad. man is "clean-ed out" he's "all in."—Pitts-He-Glad! Why are you glad, pray?

She-I never could bear to occupy burg Gazette. a flat-Cincinnati Enquirer.

poodle, Azor, died." Husband (quietly): him stuffed." "Well, I had

Wife (exasperated): "You wouldn't have gone to that expense for me -not you, indeed!"

-0-

Little James had been imparting to the minister the important and cheerful information that his father had got a new set of false teeth.

"Indeed, James!" replied the minis-ter, indulgently. "And what will he do with the old set?" "I suppose," replied little James, with a look of resignation on his face, They'll cut 'em down and make me wear 'em."

Speaking of the idiosyncrasies of the English speech,

the Nashville

American.

if there is a

wants to know.

better example of them than the fact that when you.

"best" a man you "worst"

him. The answer is, No, except, perhaps,

that when a

"Not at all," answered the lawyer, deliberately. "He left everything he had."

A couple of individuals were recently gazing with admiration at a fine fat beast at a cattle show.

"I wonder what his weight might be?" observed one of them, who, as it happened, was a Cockney without any special knowledge.

But the nerves that, unguided and unknown, night and day, keep your heart in motion-control your digestive apparatus-regulate your liver-operate your dneys. These are the nerves that wear out and break down.

down. It does no good to treat the ailing organ—the irregular heart—the disordered liver—the rebellious stomach—the deranged kidneys. They are not to blame. But go back to the nerves that control them. There you will find the seat of the trouble. Diame. But go back to the nerves that control them. There you will find the seat of the trouble. There is nothing new about this—nothing any physician would dispute. But it remained for Dr. Shoop to apply this knowledge—to put it to prac-tical use. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is the result of a quarter century of endeavor along this very line. It does not dose the organ or deaden the pain— but it does go at once to the nerve—the inside nerve—the power nerve—and builds it up, and strengthens it, and makes it well. Don't you see that THIS is NEW in medicine? That this is NOT the mere patchwork of a stimu-lant—the mere soothing of a narctic? Don't you see that it goes right to the root of the trouble and eradicates the cause? But I do not ask you to take a single statement of mine—I do not ask you to believe a word I say until you have tried my medicine in your own home at my expense absolutely. Could I offer you a full dollar's worth free if there were any mis-representation? Could I let you go to your drug-gist—whom you know—and pick out any bottle he has on his shelves of my medicine were it not UNIFORMLY helpful?

has on his shelves of my medicine were it not UNIFORMLY helpful? Would I do this if I were not straightforward in my every claim? Could I AFFORD to do it if I were not reasonably SURE that my medicine will help you?

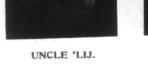

Simply Write Me.

But you must write ME for the free dollar bot-tle order. All druggists do not grant the test. I will then direct you to one that does. He will pass it down to you from his stock as freely as though you dellar laid before him. Write for the order to-day. The offer may not remain open. I will send you the book you ask for beside. It is free. It will help you to understand your case. What more can L do to conciner of the order of the order of my you the book you ask for beside. It is free. It will belp you to understand your case. What more can I do to convince you of my interest-of my sincerity?

Simply state which book Book 1 on Dyspepsia. Book 2 on the Heart. Shoop, Box 97, Racine, Book 2 on the Heart. Book 3 on the Kidneys. Book 4 for Women. Book 5 for Men. Book 6 on Rheumatism. penoorious when-Mild cases, not chronic, are often cured with one ever he comes to see sis.

For the at forty thousand drug stores

AUNT MELINDA.