

REPRINTS (Continued)

180. British Columbia - The New Eldorado of the Western World.
Peter C. Newman, The Financial Post, March 1955.
181. The St. Lawrence Seaway.
The Canadian Bank of Commerce, Commercial Letter, March 1955.
182. The Government and the Eskimos.
Mr. Jean Lesage, The Beaver, Spring 1955.
183. Where Legend Goes with Progress. (Evangeline Country).
Financial Post, June 1955.
184. The Canadian Prairie Provinces. Financial Post, April 1955.
185. After Geneva: a Greater Task for NATO.
Foreign Affairs, October 1955.
187. "The Last Best West",
Bank of Nova Scotia "Monthly Letter", September 1955.
188. The Game That Never Was. V.E.F. Solman, CIL Oval, October 1955.
189. The Man They Called "Sam Slick".
Earl Beattie, Imperial Oil Review, December 1955.
190. Research in The Canadian Pulp and Paper Industry.
The Financial Post, September 17, 1955.
191. Protection and Maintenance of Canadian Forests.
The Financial Post, September 17, 1955.
192. Are We Losing the Cold War?
L.B. Pearson, "Look" magazine, January 10, 1956.
193. Painting in Canada.
George Swinton, Queen's Quarterly, Winter 1956.
194. Canada and the Colombo Plan: A Progress Report on Assistance to South-East Asia, The Financial Post,
February 18, 1956,
195. Article II of The North Atlantic Treaty.
L.B. Pearson, special NATO supplement of "The Scotsman",
April 1956.
196. No Cold War in the Arctic.
R.A.J. Phillips, The Canadian Forum, January 1956.
197. New Wealth Brews in Chemical Plants.
W.L. Dack, The Financial Post, June 1956.
198. The Jews in Canada.
Harry Rasky, Saturday Night, June 9, 1956.
199. Supply Lifeline of the Northwest.
Saturday Night, September 29, 1956.
200. What's New About Shopping Centres?
Imperial Oil Review, October 1956.
201. This Changing Canada.
Richard L. Esdall, Canadian Business, October 1956.
202. English Canadian Literature, 1929-1954.
Northrope Frye, Books Abroad, Vol. 29, No. 3.
203. French Canadian Literature Enters a New Era.
W.E. Collins, Books Abroad, Vol. 29, No. 3.
204. Gypsies Wouldn't Recognize Them.
Pat McKee, Imperial Oil Review, December 1956.