QUALIFY FOR SOMETHING BETTER

Don't be satisfied with knowing just enough to perform the duties of your present position. The men who have achieved success are those who have worked, read and thought more then was absolutely necessary; who have not been content with merely the information sufficient for their present needs but have added to their store of knowledge a reserve fund for future use. Your spare moments employed in the study of one of our courses will enable you to take advantage of greater opportunities.
