Convictions

By HOWARD L. RANN

A CONVICTION is a belief with a long root which can be changed with as much ease as a safety razor blade. The older a man gets the harder it is for him to pull up a conviction by the roots and replace it with something that looks like orange gelatin.

There are several kinds of convictions, but far and away the most popular are political convictions. Some men get along nicely without any convictions whatever on any subject until they become a candidate for congress, when they are immediately attacked by a number of fervid convictions which will not in any way local industry. Very few politicians use the same line of convictions in every campaign, as it keeps them too busy explaining their vote to the prying country editor.

Social convictions are those which prevent people from appearing in society what they feel like inside. This kind of a conviction will cause a man to squeeze into a dress suit fifteen years old and put up a losing fight against a seven-course dinner, without being able to pronounce a word on the menu, when he would rather be at home trying to trip up the game of solitaire. It also causes many a woman to invite to dinner friends of her husband who don't know a salad fork from any other farm implement, in order to push along a business deal.

Religious convictions are of two sorts—transient and permanent. The first of these is a comfortable variety which can be worn on Sunday with the utmost composure and replace the rest of the week with sharp practice. Permanent religious convictions are those which do not have to be renewed at every revival meeting, but show their durable qualities by doing a powerful sight of good without making any noise about it.

Every person should collect a few heat-treated convictions and then stick to them whether it hurts or not. The man with convictions which stick out and interfere with the law breaker will never be popular, but he will be able to dress in the morning without turning the mirror to the wall.

BREATHE FREELY! OPEN UP NOSTRILS AND STUFFED HEAD—END CATARRH

Instant Relief When Nose and Head are Clogged from a Cold—Stops Nasal Catarrhal Discharges—Dull Headache Vanishes.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm." Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone. Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils, penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately. Don't lay awake to-night struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucus dripping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once, in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

Charged With Corrupt Act

(Continued from Page 3) statement in the House the other day that if the honorable gentleman had a charge to make and would make it here we would keep the House here for—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone. Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils, penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately. Don't lay awake to-night struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucus dripping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Without an Atom of Truth
"Just one more thing," he said, "or the Globe will say that I did not deny this charge. I suppose I ought to say just what the fact is. Well, the fact is there is not one atom of truth in these charges. They are worthy of the low and ignoble mind of the man who has put them out before the public."

Mr. Rowell objected: "I ask, Mr. Speaker, if the language in the last remark of my honorable friend the Prime Minister is parliamentary language?"
"What did I say?" challenged Sir James.
"That the charges were worthy of the low and ignoble mind of the man who presented them."

"I did not," retorted Sir James, "I said they were worthy of the low and ignoble mind of the man who originated them, and I think my honorable friend is pretty near of the same opinion."
(Sir James then moved an amendment to the Proudfoot motion, referring the charges to the committee on Privileges and Elections.)
Hon. Mr. Hanna did not have much to say, but he made that little tell heavily.

Welcomes Investigation
"I rise, Mr. Speaker," he said, "to assure this House and this committee that I do not for one moment shrink investigation under the rules of this House. On the contrary I welcome it. When those who are making these charges to-day are through with what they have to say I shall make full answer without any qualification or reserve. And when I am through there will be not one act of mine that will reflect in any way on my honor or conduct or the conduct of my department, or on my public life in this province. And this I will be content to leave to the judgment of all fair-minded men in this province, when they know of the blackmail—because it is blackmail—that I have been subjected to for upwards of a year and a half." The Minister was interrupted by an outburst of cheering from the Government supporters, and when it had subsided he stated that he accepted the member from Huron from this criticism, because he did not know what Mr. Hanna knew.

The Provincial Secretary stated that a week ago he would have been glad to trust his case to a committee composed entirely of the justice, the insinuations and innuendo that had featured the meetings of the Public Accounts Committee he had entirely altered his mind.

Innuendoes Are False.
"I want to say," he concluded, "that as far as the Taylor Scott Company is concerned every fact that could be in any way established or used against me on the public platform or anywhere was included in the statement of Sir James Whitney on the floor of this House. I

HE NOW BELIEVES IN "FRUIT-A-LIVES"

Because He No Longer Suffers With Headaches

TAYLORVILLE, ONT.
"I was a sufferer from Fearful Headaches for over two years. Sometimes, they were so bad that I was unable to work for days at a time. I took all kinds of medicine, was treated by physicians, but yet the Headaches persisted. "Fruit-a-lives" did it so, with I must confess, very little faith. But after I had taken them for three days, my Headaches were easier and in a week they left me.
After I had taken a box of these tablets, my headaches were quite cured. My appetite was always poor and my stomach had no new appetite in splendid and my digestion excellent. I had become thin and weak from the constant Headaches but now not only have I been cured of all these awful Headaches, but my strength is growing up once more and I feel like a new man."
BERT CORNELL.
Take "Fruit-a-lives," 50c a box, 6 for $2.50—trial size, 25c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ontario.

Want to say, more, that so far as these coal tenders are concerned, that every suggestion, even an innuendo, is absolutely false and entirely without a possibility of foundation. Let me say that now. Let me say this now: Let every member of the Opposition bring forward every man who ever had anything to do with my department in any shape or form, with respect to either coal or self-feeding stokers. I shall have more to say later, but in the meantime I wish to make this statement to-night.

Mr. Rowell wound up the discussion by urging the Opposition to support the appointment of a Royal Commission composed of two High Court judges, in preference to a committee of the House. He insisted that party bias would not be absent from the deliberations of a House committee and that the charges would not be as well ventilated as they would be with the investigation before non-partisan judges.

Then the motions were put the Government amendment being carried by 64 to 15. Allan Studholme voting with the Government.
Just before adjournment Sir James Whitney asked all those on the committee to meet at noon, and then moved the adjournment until this afternoon.

TO VISIT CANADA IN 1914.
Prince of Wales' Tour of This Country Has Been Finally Arranged.

LONDON, April 23—The Prince of Wales will not go to Cambridge University for a few terms after he finishes at Oxford, as had been previously arranged. He will finish his university education at Magdalen College at the year end, and will start early in 1914 for his tour of Canada. He will receive a commission in the Grenadier Guards, so that he appear in uniform.

A Medical Need Supplied—When a medicine is found that not only acts upon the stomach, but is so composed that certain ingredients of it pass unaltered through the stomach to find action in the bowels, then there is available a purgative and a cleanser of great effectiveness. Peppermint's Vegetable Pills are of this character and are the best of all pills. During the years that they have been in use they have established themselves as no other pill has done.
