THE MAKING OF ALE.

THE BREWING.

This is the point where skill comes in. The best dish may be ruined by poor cooking, and good food may be spoiled by bad brewing. To make the best article the brewer's equipment must be of the best.

Curling is a brewery where every rest, improvement is utilized. The brewer is an expert and his assistant have had many years of experience. Every detail is carefully looked after, and the result is a beverage that always is depended upon.

FREAKS OF CYCLONE.

Of Such a Nature That a Photographer Shows That the Men Took to Drink.

The details of the performance of the recent cyclone at Herman, Neb., are now becoming known. Eye witnesses and photographs are the most sober testimony available. The statistician gives thirty as the number of deaths from violence, but the insurance agents are still estimating property losses. Herman is about forty miles north of Omaha. The inhabitants of this agricultural hamlet had provided their houses with cellars and many had built specially constructed cyclone cellars. While engaged in the day's work, a cylindrical cloud formed before their eyes from a clear sky. The cry of cyclone gave the impetus of terror to their flight and before the tempest reached the outskirts of the town every villager had gathered wife and bairns about him into his cellar. For a minute almost interminable they waited. Then the crash came and a succession of sounds resembling the explosion of giant firecrackers told of the lifting from their foundations of house after house.

In one humble home the housewife had been accustomed to place her preserves on a cellar shelf close to the floor of the house. These jars extended some three inches above the outside ground surface. When the house was uprooted like a sapling and carried a hundred feet before the investigator found the preserves intact, rearing their heads above the surface. An ice house was the victim of one of the storm's pranks. The roof and half the walls were cut away from the pack and deposited a quarter of a mile away, but the blocks of ice were not touched in the least.

Within thirty minutes from the climax of the cyclone the stricken people were seeking consolation in malt and spirituous liquors. The principal hotel of the village was not touched by the cyclone itself, but suffered from the impact of a tree against its wall like a battering ram. A massive boiler was gathered in the arms of the cyclone and whirled up hill 300 feet, describing about the hotel a parabolic curve and landing in a mass of household furniture. The hotel was directly in the course but it made a polite detour.

A piano, the one luxury of some home, was carried high in the air a distance of 300 yards and deposited tail downward. The front and tail boards lay beside it, torn from their fastenings. A little girl was the first to touch it in her new position, and her ears were greeted by a kitten's piteous mew. Wedged in behind the keyboard was a much disturbed kitten which had been caught there in some mysterious fashion. The children of the village are still discussing the kitten's presence in the works of the piano.

Perfected Confidence.
Admiral Dewey, in conversation with some friends told an interesting chapter in his Manila experience after he had destroyed the Spanish fleet. The battle ship, he declared, was nothing, but it was after the battle had been fought and Spain's power on the sea destroyed that his troubles commenced.

"There were at that time," he said, "thirteen ships of all nations in the bay all of them, with the exception of the British, unfriendly, all of them offered by experienced men, all of them watching for the slightest mistake that we might make."

"The situation was full of complications. There were any number of delicate questions coming up to be decided, questions which ought to have been decided by a lawyer well versed in international law and not a sailor who knew only such law as he had been able to pick up, and whose law library was extremely limited."

"The situation at one time was such that it took almost the entire time of two officers to search the books to see what we might do and when we were not allowed to do. Why?" said the Admiral, with an expressive gesture.

"A good lawyer at that time, a man familiar with international law, would have been worth his weight in gold and diamonds and rubies."

"And probably, if you had had a lawyer on your staff," said one of his audience, "he would have made any amount of trouble for you and the Government, which you avoided because you made common sense take the place of law."—Boston Daily Globe.

Dewey After the Manila Bay Battle.
Perfect confidence is desirable between couples engaged to be married, but it is not always that the young woman has as fine an opportunity to establish it as did the Norristown belle, to whom a wealthy bachelor had been paying assiduous attention. After working her a good deal about how many young men had been in love with her, and how many she had been attached to, he asked her to marry him, adding:

"Now I, there be perfect confidence between us. Keep nothing concealed from me."

"Certainly," replied the giddy girl; "let us have no concealments;" and, jumping up, she snatched the wig he wore from his head and danced around the room with it.

In spite of this levity, the couple married, and, from all accounts, are living very happily, more particularly as, by means of using crude petroleum, a nice little crop of soft brown hair is growing all over the husband's head. The man had never heard of crude petroleum as a hair tonic until the wife told him about it, so if he had not enforced his confidence he would still be bald.—Philadelphia Record.

The Poor Man's Light.
The latest development of electric lighting for workmen's dwellings comes from Shorehitch, London, where the vestry has nearly completed dwellings to accommodate four hundred people. Tenants who desire electric light will pay sixteen cents extra per week.

CURIOUS WEATHER

Yet the Inhabitants Manage to Thrive Regularly on It

At Alto Cruero water freezes every night of the year and the thermometer frequently falls to 6, 8 and 10 degrees below zero. There are no facilities for artificial heat—not even a fireplace—and people keep themselves warm by putting on ponchos and other extra wraps.

At noonday the sun is intensely hot, because of the elevation and the rarity of the atmosphere, and blisters the flesh of those who are not accustomed to it. There is a difference of 20 and sometimes 30 degrees in the temperature of the shade and the sunshine. Water will freeze in the shade while 20 feet away men may be working in their shirt sleeves.

The natives seem to be entirely untroubled by the cold and go about barefooted and barelegged over the ice and the snow indifferently without regard to the temperature; but they have a way of heaping the blankets on their heads and wrapping up their faces to keep the pure air out of their throats and nostrils. The women who herd the flocks are often out on the mountains for weeks at a time without shelter or anything to eat except parched corn, strips of dried meat and coca leaves, which are the most powerful of nerve stimulants.

PLEASANT ENTERTAINMENT.

The lecture hall of the First Presbyterian Church was Friday night the scene of the presentation of a most enjoyable entertainment. The delightful program was presented under sparse permit and Miss Macdonald, the day school class in aid of the century fund, and was in every way a pronounced success. The hall was thronged with a large and select audience who gave hearty testimony of their appreciation of the excellent series of renditions provided. Each number of an exceedingly attractive program deserves special mention and space permit, and Miss Macdonald, the accomplished and energetic lady under whose direction they were rendered, was the recipient of many warm eulogies.

The pastor, Rev. H. Larkin, B. A., presided and in a brief but appropriate introduction introduced the program of the presentation of the following excellently rendered program:

Instrumental duet—Misses McGeorge.
Vocal solo—Miss Maude Oliver.
Recitation—Miss Ellen Glenn.
Vocal solo—Miss Ada Ross.
Recitation—Miss Flossie Smith.
Instrumental duet—Miss and Master McDonald.
Recitation—Miss Bennie Macdonald.
Solo—Miss Laura Phillips.
Instrumental solo—Miss Ella Smith.
Recitation—Miss D. Macdonald.
Solo—Miss Ethel McGeorge.
Recitation—Miss Helen Glenn.
Solo—Miss Helen Thomas.
Dialogue—Miss Donald Foreman and Master Duke Koffage.
Duet—Misses Phillips and Smith.
Vocal solo—Miss Jessie Taylor.
Chorus—Miss Macdonald's class with solo parts by Miss Florence Stephenson.

The musical accompaniments were most acceptably played by Mrs. John Cooper, Miss M. Gemmill and Wm. H. Brackin.

IT WAS VERY FUNNY.

When Manager McVean, of the Grand Opera House, said that the comedy, "What Happened to Jones," would be well worth seeing he made no mistake, as yet but put on at the Grand here this season. The company is a good one. Every member takes his part just as it should be taken. The piece itself is interesting, or as the show notices once say, "excruciatingly funny. Yet there is no horse-play about it. The various incidents of the plot keep the audience simply in roars. Manager McVean has succeeded in securing this company for a return date. They will again present "What Happened to Jones" at a matinee here Christmas afternoon. In the evening there will be a change of program. The opera house or the company's merits ought to be filled on both occasions.

Killed, Wounded and Missing in the Stormberg Disaster.

British Loss Was 697 and the Boer Casualties 15—War Notes.

London, Dec. 16.—A despatch, dated Bushman's Nek, Dec. 13, says:—Learning that many British wounded of the Stormberg reverses were still lying on the field without the possibility of early succor by the Boer ambulance corps, our two chaplains, Rev. Mr. Armitage and Father Ryan and myself, started for the battlefield yesterday morning with Gen. Gatacre's personal staff. Our little party carried a large red cross flag which we were confident the enemy would respect. This confidence was fully justified by the Boer and Boer losses. Our total casualties in Gatacre's unfortunate defeat were 697 dead, wounded and prisoners. The Boers lost five men killed and ten wounded. They lost 25 wounded prisoners. Among the seriously wounded found on the field was Col. Eager, of the Royal Irish Rifles. He was struck by a bullet from our own gun. Major Wellman, Maj. S. Egan and Capt. Bell were also wounded. All our wounded are progressing favorably. The Boers have been extremely kind to them, and we are anxious to do their best to minimize the sufferings of our men. Not one British officer was killed at the Stormberg battle. All the prisoners were sent to Bloemfontein, where they will be kept for the present. The wounded will be sent to Burgersdorp as soon as they are able to leave, where they will be cared for by English nurses.

PERIL OF LADYSMITH.

New York, Dec. 16.—A despatch to the Herald from London, says:—There is no mistaking the result of the battle. Eleven British guns lost, attempts by two columns to cross Tugela River repulsed with heavy loss and a retreat to camp—that is the outcome of Buller's first attempt to relieve Ladysmith.

Again, as in these other two engagements, the British on the Tugela were caught in an ambush. The river was crossed at the point selected for Gen. Bullard's column to cross turned out to be full of Boers, who overwhelmed the British artillery. It is hardly possible that the batteries were so near the river without cavalry or even infantry skirmishers having first developed the Boer position. But Long seems to have only discovered that the river was full of Boers when he got quite close to it with his guns. He was subjected to a gallant fire at close range which killed his men and horses before he could extricate himself.

No mention is made of any supporting infantry, though it is hardly possible that the batteries would be sent so far forward without some support being provided. The scouting appears once more to have been very inadequate. Both the Tugela and the river were full of Boers when he got quite close to it with his guns. He was subjected to a gallant fire at close range which killed his men and horses before he could extricate himself.

energetic steps. In the course of the next few days a large body of troops is due to arrive at Cape Town. The seventh division is to be mobilized, and an eighth may also soon receive orders. This is, so far as the United Kingdom is concerned, the utmost that can be done, with the exception of calling out the last reserves that can be drawn from the garrison and regular troops.

WAR NOTES.

The Boers are hotly bombarding Ladysmith, and its position is considered perilous.

The Montreal Star's special says the Canadians have not yet been in action. It adds that Canada can aid best now by a mounted contingent.

The list of casualties among the non-commissioned officers and men on the flight at Magersfontein, just issued, shows 55 killed, 253 wounded (21 severely) and 3 missing. This, however, is apparently not a complete list.

SHOOTING ACCIDENT.

Another shooting casualty has been added to the list of gunning accidents in Kent county, whereby John Doyle, jr. of the 10th concession, Raleigh, lost his life. Friday afternoon Mr. Doyle, who is a bachelor, was working in the woods near his farm, lot 14, 10th concession, Raleigh. Two lads, Bert and Robert Eves, sons of Thos. Eves, came along. Robert was carrying a Houbart rifle. Mr. Doyle asked one of the boys to help him with the rifle to Bert so that he could give the required assistance, but in passing the gun over it went off, the ball striking Mr. Doyle. The injured man was carried home and Dr. Geo. T. McKenough summoned from Chatham. On examination he discovered that the bullet had entered the abdomen, well three inches to the left of the navel, and passed upwards. It was extracted from the muscles underneath the liver, having apparently traversed about six inches. Mr. Doyle put on a rest, but is somewhat better today. Provided peritonitis doesn't set in, his chances of recovery are good.
