

COMMANDO CAPTURED

Major Scobell's Forces Bring Lotter's Entire Detachment to Time.

Five Leading Officers Taken, Including Two Commandants—103 Prisoners in All

Middleburg, Cape Colony, Sept. 6.—Lotter's entire commando has been taken by Major Scobell, south of Petersburg. One hundred and three prisoners were captured, twelve Boers were killed and 46 wounded. Two hundred horses also were captured.

GEN. KITCHENER'S REPORT.

London, Sept. 6.—Lord Kitchener's report from Pretoria to the War Office, covering the capture of Lotter's commando, gives the figures as 19 killed, 52 wounded and 62 captured unwounded. The prisoners include Commandants Lotter and Bredt, Field Cornets Kruger and W. Kruger, and Lieut. Shoeman. Among the killed were the two Vastors, notable rebels. The British casualties were 10 killed and eight wounded.

FIGHTING NEAR HERSCHEL.

Herschel, Cape Colony, Sept. 6.—The first actual invasion of the Herschel district by armed Boers occurred this morning. A commando has been on the other side of the Orange River in the Cape Colony of that name for some time, and to-day's invaders evidently belonged to that force, and intended to rush the British defenses, and proceed further south into the Cape Colony. The Boers surprised and captured four policemen, but in passing Wittebergen they were in turn surprised by a well-posted force under Major Hook, which received the invaders with well-directed volleys, and continued firing until the policemen escaped. The Boers fled in a thoroughly demoralized condition, leaving one dead on the field, while three others were taken prisoners. The Britishers captured several rifles and forty horses were shot or taken. The Boers appeared to have plenty of spare horses, but a majority of them, like the burghers themselves, were seedy-looking. The Boers were eventually driven out of this district. The British suffered no casualties.

PAROLED BOER ON TRIAL.

Pretoria, Sept. 6.—At the trial of the Boer Otto, Wednesday, it was proved that he had surrendered to the British, and was living in Pretoria. He left here and rejoined his commando at Schurberg, where he told his companions that he had shot a detective named Moodie.

SHOT FOUR POLICEMEN.

It is reported that the Boers have shot four police whom they captured some time ago when the police were acting with Capt. Valentine. The Boers sent for a commando south of the railway to come and try the prisoners. This commando was shot from a block house as he was crossing the railway. The Boers then summarily shot the prisoners.

KELLY-KENNY APPOINTED.

London, Sept. 6.—General Thomas Kelly-Kenny has been appointed adjutant-general to the forces in succession to Sir Evelyn Wood.

ACCEPTED AT LAST.

Peking, Sept. 6.—The foreign ministers have accepted the Imperial edicts, and have arranged to sign the peace protocol to-morrow.

A DOUBLE FATALITY.

Windsor, Sept. 6.—About 8.30 o'clock this morning, the West bound M. C. R. train, No. 17, when crossing the high-way at Grand Marais, near the corporation limits of Windsor, ran into a rig occupied by Edward Peltier, a farmer, who resided on the Kavanagh road, and his wife, killing both instantly.

FELL TO HIS DEATH.

London, Ont., Sept. 6.—George Ball, a machinist employed by the Malloch Machine and Elevator Company, fell down an elevator shaft in the McCormick biscuit factory here this evening and died while being removed to the Victoria Hospital. He had been repairing the elevators in the factory when the accident happened. He leaves a widow and several small children.

OTTAWA BOY'S FATAL JUMP.

U. Ottawa, Sept. 6.—A fearful accident took place at the corner of Rideau and Sussex streets to-night. August Pollock, thirteen years of age, switch boy on the Ottawa Electric Railway, was jumping from one car to another, which was in motion, when he slipped and fell. The wheels of the car passed over his head. Death was instantaneous. Deceased lived on Mackay street, New Edinburgh.

NEARLY LOST HER LIFE.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 6.—Miss Wagenfueller of Buffalo made the trip through the whirlpool rapids this afternoon, as announced, but no doubt it will be her last attempt, as she nearly lost her life. She got into the barrel above the bridge, and passed into the rapids under the steel arch bridge about 6 p. m. When the barrel reached the pool it made a half dozen complete turns of the pool, and the woman either neglected, or from fear did not draw the air plug, and in consequence was about dead when the barrel reached shore, being in the pool about one hour and forty-five minutes. The woman was helpless and unconscious. The rescuing party had to break in the head of the barrel and pulled the limp and unconscious woman out, but after half an hour's rubbing, etc., she was resuscitated.

Be not merely good; be good for something.

When You Eat

Do you have a feeling of undue fullness in the stomach, belchings, or sour or bitter risings? These are but a few of the symptoms of the diseased stomach. The worst thing which can be done for the stomach in such a case is to take some tablet or powder which merely gives temporary relief from discomfort. The best thing to do is to begin the cure of the disease by beginning the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It makes the "weak" stomach strong, and puts the body in a condition of vigorous health.

"I was troubled a long time with dyspepsia, torpid liver, and constipation," writes Mrs. Julia E. Deal, of Oswego, Ireland Co., N. C. "I could scarcely eat anything at all, and would have attacks of pain something like colic, and sometimes it seemed as though I could not live. I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce, stating my condition, and in a few days received a kind letter of advice telling me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took four bottles, and one vial of Dr. Pierce's Pellets, and now I can eat anything I want and it does not hurt me. I have not been in bed a day since I took your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and I have not since felt any symptoms of disease. I have not taken any medicine in twelve months."

BAD FIRE

Kingsville Store and an Adjoining Building Destroyed.

Kingsville, Sept. 6.—A midnight fire broke out in the dress-making rooms over the jewelry store of Alex. Brown, Main street, spreading to an adjoining building containing a general stock of merchandise, in the hands of the assignee of Alex. Cowan. Brown's loss is covered by insurance of $800. The building was owned by R. D. Herrington, and insured for $250. The Cowan stock has been bought by L. L. Barker, of Essex, who was to have taken possession to-day. The loss is $6,000. Covered by insurance. The building was owned by Andrew Wigle and insured for $800. Both were old wooden buildings of little value.

EVACUATION

Of Pekin and Chi-Li Will be Completed Some Time This Month.

Washington, Sept. 7.—A cablegram received at the state department from Commissioner Rockhill announces that the evacuation of the city of Pekin and of the province of Chi Li is expected to be completed on the 17th and 22nd of this month respectively. Mr. Rockhill also announces that the signing of the final protocol will be effected on the 17th inst.

THE MISSION TO JAPAN.

Yokohama, Sept. 7.—The Chinese mission of exhortation, immediately on its arrival at the capital, Tokio, in formed the Japanese Foreign Office, through the Chinese legation, that the object of the mission was to express condolence and apology for the murder of Sugiyama Akira, who was chancellor of the legation of Japan at Pekin, prior to the uprising of the "Boxers," and to convey the thanks of China for Japan's assistance in preserving order at Pekin. No arrangements have been made up to the present for the reception of the mission by the Emperor.

OTTAWA, SEPT. 6.—The proposal to call off the election protests against T. Birkett, Com., and N. A. Belcourt, Lib., both representing Ottawa, has fallen through. The petitioner against Mr. Birkett has refused to withdraw, although it was understood yesterday that all the details were completed, and that there would be no trial.

ROSE.

It's easy come the laugh from your mouth, Rose-in-thyme. For my heart has but to whistle and your lips are all in chime. And you laugh as pipes the blackbird and away as sweeps the breeze. But, oh, my Rose-in-thyme, will you never weep with me?

Were they made for only joy, lip and cheek, crimson fair? Was it spread for only smiles, that mist of smiling hair? Were your arms, Rose-in-thyme, never made for sorrow's fold? Shall you never to my grief droop that little head of gold?

It's, ah, brier, fold sweet, blackbird in the thorn? Where is pain to find you who ne'er were left forlorn? Where are tears to touch you, who never and may be? Laugh again, Rose-in-thyme, and tuck it back to me!

IMITATING COQUELIN.

One Time That the Great Actor Disappointed His Audience.

The great French actor, Coquelin, used to tell with glee the following experience in which he himself played the leading part:

"I was tired out and so made up my mind to leave the theater for a time and go and vegetate in some isolated country place. I went right into the center of France and found myself nicely settled in a homely, yet comfortable, commercial hotel. I did not want to be known, so I signed myself in the book, 'Frederic Febvre, traveler for wines, spirits, etc.'"

"At the table d'hôte I soon became acquainted with those staying at the hotel. My neighbor on the right traveled for delicacies, my neighbor on the left was in the drapery line, another dabbled in oils, another for a novelty in babies' feeding bottles. These gentlemen soon became known to me, and I was myself asked the name of the house for which I traveled. 'For Clarette & Molieres,' I replied."

"Now, being a new hand at the game, as I said I was, I was immediately inundated with tips, advice, etc., as to the value and kinds of wine I ought to go in for. I carefully made a note of all these tips, intending as soon as I got by myself to just as carefully light my cigar with them."

"During dinner all went on pleasantly. A certain little traveler, full of life and conceit, commenced to give us a few recitations and imitations—some of them fairly clever. I must confess. He was applauded tremendously, and, filled up with confidence and wine, he said: 'Now I am going to imitate a few celebrated actors as Hamlet, he imitated Sarah Bernhardt in 'La Tosca' and then finished by saying: 'I am now going to give you an imitation of Coquelin. Pay that it is Coquelin himself.'"

"He gave us this imitation, and when he had finished I rose and said: 'Yes, you did that fairly well; but, although I may appear conceited, I really think I can give you a better imitation. I will try, however.'"

"I commenced. I gave something from one of my favorite pieces and, as I really think, quite excellently myself."

"Do you think they applauded me? Not at all. They smiled and said, 'Thank you,' and almost appeared as though they felt sorry for my ridiculous attempt. Later on, when all except the little conceited traveler had retired, he came up to me and said: 'May I offer you a little friendly advice, sir? You are a young hand at the traveling game, I plainly see, and perhaps wished to make yourself agreeable this evening. Never, however, try to imitate a great actor whom you have never seen. To imitate Coquelin one must have seen him act. You did your best, I dare say; but, oh, dear!'"

Discovered.

The passengers scarcely gave them a passing glance as they entered the car. He took a seat by the window just like a long time married man, while she sat on the side. It was the part of a shrewd plan. After two stations had been passed he began to read a newspaper and let her ask questions twice before he answered. This was a strain, but they were trying to establish a record.

Suddenly he jerked forth his handkerchief to mop his brow, and with it came many, many grains of rice. Some fell in the aisle, and some fell on the passengers about them. In an instant the couple became the targets of half a hundred searching eyes. She blushed prettily; he looked like a sheep.

The careless slip of the handkerchief did the business, and, as further simulation became useless, they held each other's hands during the remainder of the journey.

Fresh and Salt Seas.

Those who know both the Mediterranean and Baltic seas cannot fail to be struck with the vast difference in the proportion of salt. The Baltic is almost fresh, particularly when, after the melting of the snows, the great rivers of Prussia and the neighboring states discharge an abnormal volume of fresh water. The most salty water in the world's seas, however, must in all probability be that of the great lake discovered by the famous explorer Sven Hedin in Tibet, which he likened to the Dead sea of Palestine. The entire bed of this lake appears to be one rugged crust of salt, and the salt is in such strong solution that the boats and waders and clothes of Hedin and his party were soon incruusted with salt. Fish life in such water is, of course, impossible.

All but Four.

"I haven't seen any evidence of this prosperity they talk about so much," said the Alphabet.

The Numerals, which had often been arrayed as proof, were amazed at this. "Well, anyway," returned the Alphabet, "I know of 22 letters that are always out of 'work.'"

An Oversight.

"Mamma, I don't think the people who make dolls are very pious people," said a little girl to her mother one day.

"Because you can never make them kneel. I have always to lay my doll down on her stomach to say her prayers."

Are you raising your boy as a pet? If you are, you are ruining him. Too much kindness will surely spoil children as unreasonable grumbling—Atchison Globe.
