THE ONLY SOLUTION.

The startling discovery made by City Engineer E. B. Jones that the southern retaining wall of the Third street bridge is by no means in a safe condition, and the subsequent announcement that the sum of money required to repair the same will be, approximately, $3,000, has caused considerable interest among the ratepayers of Chatham.

The popular feeling now seems to be that if the city has to pay out such a large sum for repairs to an old structure, it is surely an opportune time for the Council to consider more seriously, the proposition from the railway company, to build a new bridge.

No matter of public interest has caused such wide-spread discussion and comment during the last few months as the Third street bridge question. The City Council and the railway company have considered it separately and jointly, in a vain endeavor to arrive at some ultimate conclusion whereby both sides would be satisfied. Meetings have been held and propositions have been made, but the matter still hangs on in a tiring and annoying manner. In the meantime the company have not received much encouragement to extend their line, as the citizens desire them to, and the Council has not won a very enviable reputation in the outside world, as a result of the way they have treated the capitalists whom they induced to invest money in a scheme which is a beneficial one in forwarding the interests of this city and county.

When the company made a proposition, whereby they and the city would each bear half the expense of erecting a new bridge, it was hoped by many of the ratepayers that the city would go hand in hand with the railway men in supplanting the present structure with a new and more suitable bridge. The Council, however, rejected the company's proposal, with the excuse that they thought that a by-law granting the sum of $20,000 for this purpose would not be approved of by the electors. The company then had no other alternative but to prepare plans for the strengthening of the old structure.

In view of the recent discovery that the present bridge is in such a condition as to render it unsafe for heavy traffic, it is not surprising to find that the trend of public opinion is in favor of the city meeting the company half way—in other words the majority of the ratepayers are ready to support the acceptance of the $20,000 proposition which was thrown out by the Council when the matter was last discussed by them.

It is admitted that providing the city did pay half the cost of the construction of a new bridge, they would practically recover the amount in the use of the old structure. The city engineer has pointed out that the Indian Creek, Adelaide street and Princess street bridges are in a tumble-down condition, and require immediate attention from the Council. He has shown that to repair or replace these bridges the city will be called upon to expend a sum which exceeds the $20,000 they are asked to contribute towards the building of a new bridge at Third street. If the company's offer is accepted, the city will be able to make these repairs to the three bridges above mentioned, through use of the present structure at Third street, with a small additional cost.

In other words, the acceptance of the railway's proposition would enable the city to repair and rebuild the bridges at Adelaide street, Indian Creek and Princess street, and they will have a new bridge at Third street. If they do not accept, they will have to repair the three above mentioned bridges at a cost of about $20,000—the amount the company asks them to contribute—and they will have the present old structure at Third street, which they will have to replace in a few years anyway.

Where, then, is there any reasonable argument against the building of the new bridge? The railway company are as anxious as the city

THAT OVER WORKED, PLAYED OUT FEELING AMONG WOMEN

There are thousands of females all over our land who are broken down in health and dragging out a miserable existence, overburdened with diseases peculiar to their sex, apparently growing old while yet young. Often they have pale or sallow complexion, hollow, sunken eyes, with a lifeless look; the face has a pinched and haggard appearance; they are weak, weary and trembling, often extremely nervous, starting at every little noise. Many are low-spirited, and some are fretful. Some are apparently bloodless, with cold hands and feet, while others are flushed by an unequal circulation of the blood, dizziness, and sometimes dimness of vision, loss of memory, and often loss of appetite and sleep, and are wearied with terrible dreams. Palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, smothering and stifling spells, shortness of breath and the sensation of pins and needles are all indications of a weakened condition of the heart or nervous system, and should any of them be present we would strongly advise the use of

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

They bring health to the broken down, energy to the weakened constitution, tone up the tired, overstrained nerves, and strengthen the weak heart. Mrs. Edward Jackson, Hall's Bridge, Ont., writes: "For a year I was greatly troubled with nervousness and loss of appetite, and could neither sleep nor eat. After taking a few boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I was completely cured and can recommend them to all sufferers."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25, all dealers or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

to settle the matter in a fair and square manner, and all their proposals up to the present have been of a most reasonable nature. Although it is the duty of the Council to safeguard the interests of the public by curtailing municipal expenditure as far as possible, it is now "up to them" to realize that in this case they are only asked to obtain a reasonable sum, for a necessary and beneficial use, and they should lose no time in properly testing public opinion by submitting a by-law for the required amount.

The Best Guaranty of Merit Is Open Publicity.

Every bottle of Dr. Pierce's world-famed medicine leaving the great laboratory at Buffalo, N. Y., has printed upon its wrapper the ingredients entering into its composition. This fact alone places Dr. Pierce's Family Medicine in a class all by themselves. They cannot be classed with patent or secret medicines because they are neither. This is why so many unprejudiced physicians prescribe them and recommend them to their patients. They know what they are composed of, and that the ingredients are those endorsed by the most eminent medical authorities.

The further fact that neither Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the great stomach, liver invigorator, heart regulator and blood purifier, nor his "Favorite Prescription" for weak, over-worked, broken-down, nervous women, contains any alcohol, also entitles them to a place all by themselves.

Many years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered that chemically pure glycerine, of proper strength, is a better solvent and preservative of the medicinal principles residing in our indigenous or native medicinal plants than is alcohol; and, furthermore, that it possesses valuable medicinal properties of its own, being demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic, and a most efficient antiferment.

Neither of the above medicines contains alcohol, or any harmful, intoxicating drug, as will be seen from glance at the formula printed on each bottle wrapper. They are safe to use and potent to cure.

Not only do physicians prescribe the above, non-secret medicines largely, but the most intelligent people employ them—people who would not think of using the ordinary patent, or secret medicines.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them, and nothing is "just as good." Easy to take as candy.

Swallowed Her Dead Husband.

The only case on record of a disconsolate widow swallowing the remains of her dead husband is that of Artemesia drinking a glass of wine in which the ashes of Mausolus had been stirred for that purpose. The parties to this remarkable transaction were brother and sister and also husband and wife. Mausolus was king of Caria and reigned about 300 years before Christ. After his death his remains were burned and the ashes disposed of as related.

THROW MEDICINES TO THE DOGS

At best they are unpleasant, often useless. You have some disease of the nose, throat or lungs. Doctors would call it bronchitis, asthma or catarrh. The common root of these diseases is germ or microbe irritation. Catarrh means it is too inflamed. Disease germs, it does more, it heats, diseased and inflamed tissue. The disease is not only cured, but its return is forever prevented by using Catarrhoxone, which is splendid also for cold, coughs or irritable throat. Remember, you inhale Catarrhoxone—Nature's own cure—use no other but Catarrhoxone—it's the best catarrh cure made.

A BUNCH OF KEYS.

In spite of the conclusion arrived at some time ago by the management who for so many seasons have exploited with so small pecuniary gain Hoyt's "A Bunch of Keys" to at least temporarily rest this wonderfully successful musical farce owing to the long continued service, and for the purpose of launching another offering of equal merit so urgent have been the requests for its retention that as a sort of farewell our fun and music patrons are to be treated to another visit of this greatest of Hoyt's triumphs at the Grand on Thursday next, on which occasion the purpose will be to show to what an extent an old and tried amusement friend can be rejuvenated through the process of a new interpretation and in brand new attire. To this end nothing has been neglected from a scenic point of view and extra care has been exercised in the selection of such a cast as would insure the best possible meaning of the author's humorous motives.

DISTRICT

So as to more fully understand the parody on hotel life the scene showing the interior of the fanciful hostelry has been given a few additional touches of unique exaggeration, requiring a very decided enlargement on the former stage setting, nevertheless nothing was needed to accentuate the fun derived from the famous trick of the staircase, which remains as potent a laugh as ever.

It was in the organizing of the present company, however, that the greater reward has been achieved, as the general verdict plainly indicates that never before was "A Bunch of Keys" so pleasantly equipped with versatile talent, drawn from the front ranks of celebrated vaudeville artists.

Lillian Lawson, who has been identified with a number of other upper-class musical comedies is the latest to win a cordial place in the role of Teddy, and in view of her complete fitness for the exacting character she has secured a firm hold in the affections of a fun-loving public and by her superior vocal accomplishments has done something more than to command attention—as a comedy actress of infinite ability.

MEXICANA.

"Mexicana," a torridly tuneful and tropically topical comic opera, said to be as lively as the country from which it is named is "warm," will be the attraction at the Grand Friday night.

An uncommonly strong company of favorites, including Louis Harrison, Christie MacDonald, Joseph Herbert, Carlo Roma, Edward Marshall, and Edmund Stanley, has its exploitation in hand. The story and lyrics are by Miss Clara Driscoll, a famous young Texas author who "knows" Mexico, and Robert B. Smith, who was co-author of "Panama" with Sam S. Shubert. The music was written by Raymond Hubbell, composer of "The Runaways." As its title implies, the scenes of "Mexicana" are laid in the picturesque land beyond the Rio Grande where the passions run hot and romance is in the very air. Typically Spanish music characterizes the score and genuine American humor pervades the book, the comedy element in the history being strong and bright. Mr. Harrison and Mr. Herbert both are given ample opportunity for the fun they know so well how to make. Miss MacDonald has a fascinating role, appearing part of the time as a key woman and a hundred sorceress and Vaquero girls are in the company, making the ensembles gorgeous, vari-colored and imposing.

Its equal as a curative agent does not exist. So perfect is the medicinal action as to challenge the admiration of the medical profession. Such is Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets.
