BILL NYE AS A CRITIC.
HE DISCOURSES TOUCHINGLY UPON ACTOR O'CONNOR'S HAMLET.

A Few Remarks on the Hamlet Which the Actor "Bill Nye" the Play-Boy, gave at the Theatre.
The past week has witnessed the closing of the great Shakespearean memorial and emotional as Mr. James O'Connor at the Theatre. During his extraordinary engagement, he has given us Hamlet, Othello and Macbeth, and has been a most successful actor in all of them. It is a pleasure to see him in anything where he kills himself.

After seeing his Hamlet I am of the opinion that he did wisely in choosing New York for his debut. He has been chosen by the people of that city, and he has been chosen by the people of this city. He has been chosen by the people of that city, and he has been chosen by the people of this city. He has been chosen by the people of that city, and he has been chosen by the people of this city.

ODDS AND ENDS.
THEIR WITS ABOUT THEM.

Some Famous Repartees Which Are Old, But Good.
A few days ago the Constitution addressed the following inquiry to a number of prominent gentlemen throughout the state: "What is the best piece of wit you remember to have heard or read of in legal or political circles?"

The Hon. John T. Glen writes: "I have nothing better than what Randolph said when he met a very disagreeable enemy on the sidewalk. The fellow, blustering and boasting, said to him, 'What do you want?' 'I want to see you,' said Randolph, 'and I want to see you in a hurry.'"

The Hon. A. B. Brown writes: "An excellent piece of repartee is recorded to Mr. Harris of Atlanta—whose initials I do not now recall, but who is named by the irreverent as 'Fatty' Harris. He was on the witness stand in Fulton superior court, and was being examined by the then attorney-general of Georgia. The witness did not reply to a question as directly as the attorney-general wished. The latter repeated his question, and added with emphasis: 'Now, Mr. Harris, you certainly understand that Judge Stone of Fulton is a very intelligent man.' 'Thank you, Mr. Attorney-General,' replied Mr. Harris with a bow, 'I would return the compliment with great pleasure if I were not at present under oath.'"

It is not necessary to quote the Georgia House of Representatives. Judge Underwood, the elder, was a greater wit than Sheridan, but unfortunately had no power to write his biography or a Constitution report to publish what he said. He was a poor fellow, and a poor lawyer, but a good judge. He was a poor fellow, and a poor lawyer, but a good judge. He was a poor fellow, and a poor lawyer, but a good judge.

The Hon. J. B. Jackson writes: "The best piece of repartee I remember to have heard or read of in legal or political circles is that of a certain gentleman named John B. Harris, at one time generally known as 'Fatty' Harris. He was on the witness stand in Fulton superior court, and was being examined by the then attorney-general of Georgia. The witness did not reply to a question as directly as the attorney-general wished.
