

PASTOR ATTEMPTS BIGAMY IMPOSTER DECEIVES PEOPLE

Rev. Mr. Savery of St. Martins About to Wed a Young Girl
When the Officiating Clergymen, Being Suspicious, Telephoned for Girl's Father and Refused to Make Them Man and Wife Until He Arrived.

St. John, Oct. 1.—The congregation of Calvin Presbyterian church, of this city, will probably be surprised to learn that H. S. Savery, whose smooth periods they listened to last evening, had on the previous day participated in an attempted elopement with a pretty daughter of a well known resident of the county. The affair had a rather sensational termination, caused by the intervention of the father of the young lady, who when he heard of the proposed marriage, hurried to Hampton, where the fleeing couple had gone, in time to prevent his daughter from perhaps ruining her life, as the gentleman in question admits that he has a wife already, at least he says that he has not heard of her death and she was with him a short time ago.

To begin at the beginning, about four months ago, there arrived at St. Martins, in this county, a smooth shaven and well groomed, clerical looking stranger, who claimed that he had been pastor of a large Congregational church near Boston, but his health having given out, he was seeking recuperation at the seashore. At that time, the Presbyterian church of St. Martins was without a pastor and he was asked to fill the pulpit, which he did very acceptably, being a fluent and interesting speaker. Since that time he has been in charge of the church, and it there was any dissatisfaction with the pastor, it was rather on account of his too great zeal in terian church, and did not appear to take a very serious view of his escapade.

When pressed for a direct answer as to whether he had a wife living, he said: "I do not know. I have not lived with her for some time." Mr. Savery said that she seemed to prefer not to remain with him, and he acquiesced in the arrangement. He said she was suffering from consumption, and the end could not be far off. When he last heard concerning her he was informed that she could not live very long, but he had received no word of her death. "I realize I was taking a long chance in getting married again," he said.

He said the young lady had rather forced the issue, however. He first met her at a recent church convention in St. Martins and had seen her a few times since. He admitted frankly he made an appointment to meet her here, with the object of getting married, but said the date arranged for was today.

The monumental nerve of the man is shown in his assumption of the pulpit of Calvin church last night, after having been foiled in his desperate intention. He admits that he is not an ordained clergyman. He said, however, that he intended to return to St. Martins to face the music.

C.P.R. LEADS IN A NEW POLICY

New Plan of Freight Insurance, introduced Which Covers
All Damage by Fires.

Montreal, Sept. 29.—The Canadian Pacific Railway Company is the pioneer in a new policy by which shippers may recover compensation for insurance for loss sustained for goods that are damaged or destroyed by fire while in transit over the system in cases where there is no negligence on behalf of the company.

It is specified in the conditions governing all shipping bills—whether issued by the C.P.R. or any other company—that there are certain kinds of delays and occurrences which they decline to accept responsibility for. In the shipping bill it is definitely stated that the company is not liable for damages occasioned by delays caused by storms, accidents, overpressure of freight, or unavoidable causes, by the weather, fire, wet, frost, heat, frost or delay of perishable articles of from civil commotion.

But the law of Canada and of every civilized country holds that a company which is a common carrier cannot contract itself out of liability for negligence. Hence, it is liable for all damage, whether by fire or any other cause, resulting from train wrecks through collision, as such train wrecks are caused by nearly all causes, resulting from some kind of negligence of some kind or other on the part of somebody or other.

But there are many cases, such, for example, as where a train runs into a bush fire, or where an accident is due to some natural cause over which the company has no control, that occurs the shipper whose goods are destroyed has no remedy. This is felt to be a very great hardship, and the Canadian Pacific has undertaken insurance against this kind of loss.

This principle of insurance, which came into vogue a few years ago, is quite an innovation. The company takes the lead of the whole world in the adoption of a broad-minded and enlightened policy, which is largely of insurance for its own losses, and it wants to extend the privilege to its customers.

The four well under way. The schools, it will be remembered, are to be located at Hamilton, Stratford, Peterborough and North Bay.

The legislature at its last session made a preliminary vote of $100,000 for these schools, but as they are to cost $50,000 each an additional grant of $100,000 will be asked at the next session for their completion. This will be exclusive of the amount which the house will be asked to vote next season for other normal schools, it is said, to have at least three more next year, in addition to those now contemplated.

NORMAL SCHOOLS FOR ONTARIO

Toronto, Sept. 28.—It is understood that the plans of the four new normal schools contemplated under this year's educational expansion programme are ready for submission to the Cabinet for approval. As soon as this is obtained tenders will be called for and work on the schools will be commenced. Before Christmas it is hoped to have work on the whole four well under way. The schools, it will be remembered, are to be located at Hamilton, Stratford, Peterborough and North Bay.

WORKING WOMEN

Their Hard Struggle Made Easier—Interesting Statements by a Young Lady in Quebec and One in Beaufort, Que

All women work; some in their homes, some in shops and some in the whirl of society. And in shops, mills and offices of all kinds there are on the average some three hundred thousand women.

All are subject to the same physical laws, all suffer alike from the same physical disorders, and the nature of their duties in many cases tends directly into the horrors of all kinds of female complaints, tumors, ulceration, falling and displacements or perhaps irregularity or suppression causing headache, nervousness, irritability and general distress.

They especially require an invigorating, sustaining medicine which will strengthen their weak organism, and enable them to bear easily the fatigues of the day, to sleep well at night, and to be refreshed and cheerful.

How distressing to see a woman struggling to earn a livelihood or perform her household duties when her back and head are aching, she is so tired she can hardly drag herself up, and every movement causes pain, the origin of which is due to some derangement of the female organism.

Miss A. Robitaille, of 28 rue St. Francois, Quebec, once told women how to avoid such suffering, she writes: "I am Mrs. Clark, and I have been together with my husband and child, brought on a very serious trouble, and until finally I was made to give up work. I then thought of a friend who had told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, when her husband was and still is suffering from a similar trouble. I bought a bottle and I feel that I am a new woman now."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail

Miss Clara Beaubien of Beaufort, Quebec, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—

"For several years I have suffered with female trouble which has been a serious drain on my vitality, sapping my strength and causing severe headaches, bearing-down pains and a general worn-out feeling. I really had no desire to live. I tried many medicines but did not get permanent relief until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. In two months I was very much better and stronger, and in four months I was well and no more distressed. I feel that I am a new woman now."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the only medicine for all these troubles. It restores the proper functions of the reproductive system, and dispels all the evils of the female organism with all its horrors will again crush you.

Relieves dizziness, fainting, bearing-down pains, and all the evils of the female organism with all its horrors will again crush you.

Relieves dizziness, fainting, bearing-down pains, and all the evils of the female organism with all its horrors will again crush you.

BOOK NOTICE.

Harkness, Kirkland, and William's Cicero, Nine Orations. Edited by Albert Harkness, Ph.D., LL.D., Professor Emeritus, Brown University. Assisted by J. C. Kirkland, Jr., Professor in the Faculty of Exeter Academy, and G. A. Williams, Ph.D., Professor in Kalamazoo College. Half leather, 344 pages, with maps and illustrations. Price, $1.25. American Book Company, New York, Cincinnati and Chicago.

This edition of Cicero presents a wider range of reading than is offered by the minimum requirements of the College Entrance Examination Board and of the New York State Education Department. The book includes: the four orations against Catiline, Archaius, the Manilian Law, Marcellus, Ligarius, and the fourth Philippic. The introduction gives an outline of the life of Cicero, of the history of Roman oratory, and of the public life of the Romans, with an account of the magistrates, senate, popular assemblies, and courts of justice. The notes are intended to aid and guide the student in acquiring the meaning of all really difficult passages, and to furnish him with such collateral information upon Roman manners and customs, and history and life, as will enable him to understand, appreciate, and enjoy the orations. At intervals questions are inserted which will suggest to the student where to find additional grammatical and historical information. In the vocabulary are given all the meanings of words necessary in translating the orations, together with much other etymological information. The volume is supplied with the needed maps and plans, and with many useful illustrations.

For the convenience of schools desiring less matter, six-oration edition is also published, at the price of $1, which omits the orations of Marcellus and Ligarius and the fourth Philippic.

Better Than the Review of Reviews.

It has long been the custom both in the United States and England to disparage the attempts of Canadians to produce popular magazines. That the tide has turned is evidenced by the remarks of the editor of one of the leading periodicals, the Irish Monthly, who asserts that there is in Canada a magazine—the Busy Man's Magazine—which outdistances anything in the same field yet attempted in England. In the course of a long eulogy of this magazine he said: "I propose to realize the ideal that Mr. W. T. Stead proposed to himself better than Mr. Stead himself has done in his Review of Reviews. He, too, proposed to reproduce for busy people the cream of the world's magazines; but he is too original a man, he has too much of his own, to be merely a reproducer. Every page is sure to be studied with Steadisms. His magazine is not the less interesting for that, but it is the less able to give with adequate fullness the best articles of the periodicals of the previous month. The Busy Man's Magazine keeps more steadily—that is the best adverb, and the possible suspicion of a pun must not make us fling it aside—keeps more steadily to its purpose of reproducing for busy men and women the best articles from the current magazines of the world. The form, too, of the magazine is much more pleasant, of a convenient size and shape, and the type large and readable."
